Secretary Morgenthau.

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Early rationing of all commodities, an extreme course not yet resorted to by any other nation at war, is essential to control inflation in this country, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. declared today in presenting a new 7 billion 610 million dollar tax program to congress.

"The sooner we come to complete rationing, the sooner we'll be able to control inflation," said Morgenthau when questioned about the anti-inflationary aspects of the proposed tax bill.

Members of the house ways and means committee before whom Morgenthau appeared remarked that, at last reports, even Germany was not rationing some products, such as potatoes.

23½ Billions Tax Total.

The new taxes proposed by the treasury, if approved by congress, will be added to almost 16 billions now being siphoned out of the taxpayers' pockets to make an estimated total tax yield during 1943 of 23 billions 487 millions, the committee was told. This would be an average of approximately $178 for every man, woman, and child in the United States.

With the administration pledged to spend more than 59 billions in the coming fiscal year, it will be necessary, Morgenthau admitted under questioning, to borrow 36 billions, an average of 100 millions of dollars a day, to supplement the 23 billion tax revenue.

Estimates Yield of Proposals.

In estimating the yield of the proposed new taxes the treasury credited higher personal income tax rates with 3 billion 200 million dollars and higher corporation taxes with 3 billion 60 million dollars. From new estate and gift taxes the treasury expects to get 330 million dollars and from the new excise schedule 1 billion 240 millions. The removal of special privileges is expected to yield 680 millions of which 200 millions is expected to come from the removal of tax exemptions from state securities, 300 millions from mandatory joint returns by husband and wife, and 80 millions from reductions of depletion allowances for oil wells and mines. These estimates total 8 billion 610 million dollars, but from this the treasury deducted a billion dollars to provide for interrelated effects.

Income tax payers in the lower and middle brackets were again assessed tremendous boosts in surtaxes. In many cases, taxes for this group were more than doubled.

Would Collect from Pay Checks.

Only a few months ago income taxes were greatly increased. The impact of these new taxes will be felt March 15. Morgenthau proposed changes to yield about 60 per cent more revenue than will be yielded under the present law.

Moreover, the treasury secretary asked for authority to begin collecting these new taxes out of pay envelopes next July 1. He said it might be essential to speed up tax collections in this manner to check inflationary price rises.

The citizen who pays his income tax in quarterly instalments may therefore find himself in the coming months in the position of paying taxes on his 1941 and 1942 income at the same time. Not more than 10 per cent of wages could be taken out of the weekly or monthly pay check under Morgenthau's plan.

Personal Exemptions Unchanged.

The amount collected from pay rolls would be credited to the taxpayer when his 1942 tax comes due on March 15, 1943. If more has been col-

'WILD' NEW DEAL SCHEMES RIPPED IN HOUSE DEBATE

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Administration spending policies and the "wild Utopian schemes to remake America" which marked the New Deal's ascension to power are responsible for the nation's lack of preparedness, members of the house charged today as they began consideration of the new $695,050,859 agricultural appropriation bill.

Disclosure that a $2,646,000 New Deal resettlement project is shortly to be liquidated for $175,000, one-fifteenth of its original cost, evoked a storm of criticism on the floor. Republican members were scathing in their denunciation of Rexford Guy Tugwell, former braintruster and resettlement administrator, now beset with serious difficulties as governor of Puerto Rico.

Tenants to Buy on Credit.

The project, located just outside of Reedsville, W. Va., was one of several similar "Utopias" built during Tugwell's régime with the resettlement administration. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, also figured prominently in its inception.

Known as Arthurdale, the property consists of 158 homes, each surrounded by a five acre garden tract. C. G. Baldwin, farm security administrator, recently told the house appropriations committee, it was revealed, that the project, now bankrupt, is to be sold under the auctioneer's hammer on credit to the present tenants.

Baldwin told the committee that the project was built under the "misapprehension" that a model community in the open country would attract model industries.

"Investment Gone Sour."

"This is simply another New Deal investment gone sour," asserted Rep. William Ditter [R., Pa.]. "We all remember the wild utopian schemes to remake America that the administration leaders had; they included everything from soup to nuts. We had managed money, planned economy—now we have sour investments."

"If I may be permitted," interposed Rep. John Taber [R., N. Y.] amid a roar of laughter, "when we talk about the Resettlement administration and the Farm Security administration, we should talk more about nuts and less about soup."

"There is a lot of talk about the complacency of the people these days," Ditter continued. "But it is our job to rid the government of these parasites with their fancy ideas and build a preparedness program that will carry us thru this hour of peril. I'm for liquidating the whole shebang."

Dream Haunts Treasury.

Rep. Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.], who assailed the Farm Security administration for fostering a scheme to collectivize the farming industry according to the best philosophy of soviet Russia and proposed numerous economies in farm spending in wartime, asserted that the trouble with Tugwell was "he never had to meet a pay roll."

Dirksen, besides urging total abolition of the FSA during the war emergency, said big savings are possible thru deductions in the appropriation for such offices as the agricultural bureau of information, which has a pay roll of 196 persons and an appropriation of $1,500,000 for printing and binding expenses alone. While certain publications of the bureau are probably very interesting, he said it is doubtful in the present times whether there is a need for such pamphlets as "Useful and Ornamental Gourds," or "Housekeeping Made Easier," or "Slip Covers for Furniture," or "The House Centipede."

Can't Spend and Have It.

"We are unprepared for war now because the administration has been shoveling money into a bottomless hopper for eight years," said Rep. Charles A. Plumley [R., Vt.]. "We can't spend money like a drunken sailor and have it when we need it the most—something we are beginning to find out."

The bill contains a provision that no farm stocks held by the Commodity Credit corporation may be sold at less than parity prices, which is in defiance of President Roosevelt's decree against such restrictions. Little was said on this matter today, but a lively battle is in prospect when the chamber begins reading the measure for amendments tomorrow.

Swamp Town, Now Chicago, Is 105 Today

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Chicago, which became a city in 1837—the year the wildcat banks brought panic and ruin upon the nation—will mark its 105th birthday today.

It was on March 4 of that year that the state legislature enacted into law a city charter that had been approved Jan. 27 in a massmeeting in the Saloon building on the southeast corner of Lake and Clark streets.

It was this meeting that gave rise to the assertion—which has appeared in print a number of times—that Chicago was founded in a barroom. The fallacy was exploded several years ago by Frederick Rex, head of the Municipal Reference library, who determined that the term "saloon" was a frontier corruption of the French word "salon," a grand assembly hall, which aptly described the Saloon building.

Boldly Increased Town's Area.

The charter approved that day was drawn by William B. Ogden, who was to become Chicago's first mayor, and Peter Bolles, as members of the board of town trustees, and Ebenezer Peck, John Dean Caton, and T. W. Smith, representing the three historic divisions of the town—the north, west, and south sides. In the charter they boldly increased the community's area from ⅝ of a square mile to 10.365 square miles. [Metropolitan Chicago now covers 201.9 square miles.]

The town was still exhausted from its struggle with the swampy terrain and the visitations of wild life. Only the year before, by prodigious effort, did the community get rid of a large frog pond at Lake and La Salle streets, whose inhabitants had annoyed the citizenry mightily by their croaking.

It had been less than three years since a scantily clad resident had rushed into the snow and, after kicking several wolves aside, killed the last bear to invade what is now the loop district. For some time thereafter, however, deer would be seen wandering timidly about the loop district, seeming to know their enemies the wolves were persona non grata.

Drainage Worst Problem.

The worst problem was drainage to make the streets passable.

It was about that time that Amos Bailey, town surveyer, had an idea so brilliant it dazzled the trustees. He would lower streets so that lots would drain into them. The water in the streets then would drain into the river.

They tried it, only to find that for many weeks each year it was nearly impossible to tell the streets from the river. The streets were then restored to their former height.

Now for a look at Chicago as a city:

Its population was 4,170, of whom 709 men were voters. There were 492 buildings which, with their real estate, had a taxable value of $238,842. Taxes of $3,905 were levied in 1837. The city's imports for the year were valued at $373,677. Its exports of furs and grain were worth $11,665.

It was in that year, too, that State street began its development with the appearance of the jewelry house of Charles D. Peacock which is still there. From the 50s thru the 70s, however, came the greatest development with the arrival of Potter Palmer, Marshall Field, Levi Z. Leiter, Leon Mandel and his brothers, Charles W. Pardridge, Charles Netcher, John G. Shedd, Abram M. Rothschild, and many others.

City's Historic Eras.

From that period on came the milestones that every school child knows: the hysteria of Civil war days, the great fire of 1871, a decade of reconstruction, the elegant '80s, the gay '90s, the World war period, the lush 1920s with the prohibition and gangster era, the depression and finally the present.

There will be no special observance of the birthday except at the Chicago Historical society at Clark street and North avenue in Lincoln park. Several displays of the city's history from earliest times will be shown thru relics, dioramas, photographs and prints. The rarest item on display will be a copy of the Ogden-Bolles charter.

MAP IN COLOR

In all editions tomorrow the Tribune will print a large scale, newly revised color map of the Netherlands East Indies island of Java, which has been invaded by the Japanese. The map will be divided into two sections because of the long, narrow shape of the island.

British Bomb War Plant on Edge of Paris

LONDON, March 4 [Wednesday] (AP).—The royal air force raided the Renault works at Billancourt, southwest of Paris, last night, it was announced authoritatively today. The Renault works is a large establishment on the bend of the Seine on the outskirts of Paris.

The announcement said:

"Renault is a household word in France and the Renault works have become the outstanding symbol of collaboration with Germany. The company is known to have been engaged in the making and repairing of transport vehicles, tanks, and air engines for Germany."

Bombings Threatened Earlier.

Two months ago a British air officer broadcast a warning to French workers in occupied territory that Britain intended to bomb industrial areas known to be working under pressure for the Germans.

The ministry of economic warfare recently reported that big plants in the Paris industrial belt were working 24 hours a day to supply the German army.

Airdromes Also Bombed.

VICHY, France, March 3 (AP).—British planes bombed airdromes and factories in suburban Paris for two hours tonight and there were "victims among the civilian population," a communique said.

Authorities would not permit the naming of the suburbs bombed or the extent of the damage.

This was the first announced bombing of Paris since the prearmistice German raids on June 3, 1940, which caused more than 1,000 casualties, including 254 dead.

[It is known, however, that British raiders have bombed military air fields in the Paris region since the Germans took the city. Before the French surrender the capital was declared an open city and escaped virtually undamaged after the June 3 "token bombing." Altho German commandeered plants in the Paris area have been the source of vast supplies for the German war machine, the British are believed to have refrained from attacking the city because of possible repercussions among the French people.]

Nazi Plane Crashes in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Ireland, March 3 (AP).—A German plane crashed today near Schull killing all of its crew.

Two Ships Bombed, Say Nazis.

BERLIN, March 3 (AP).—The German high command communique today reported Nazi bombers severely damaged two British merchant ships in waters east of Dundee, Scotland, yesterday.

18 BIG BOMBERS ATTACK FLEET; ALL BUT 2 LOST

Six Downed by One Yank Flyer.

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—A thrilling account of an attack by 18 Japanese heavy bombers on a United States aircraft carrier and other warships in which 16 of the enemy planes were shot down was told by the navy tonight.

A lieutenant junior grade, Edward H. O'Hare of St. Louis, 28, shot down six of the planes. The other 10 were accounted for by other fighting planes from the carrier, two of which were lost, and by anti-aircraft fire from the warships.

The carrier and the other ships—cruisers and destroyers—suffered not a scratch.

The action occurred "in the course of recent naval operations west of the Gilbert Islands," a navy communique related. The carrier and the cruisers and destroyers of the Pacific fleet were operating as a task force. The Jap planes attacked twice, half an hour apart.

Carrier Escapes by Dodging.

The battle's location lies along the main supply route from the United States to New Zealand and Australia.

The fleet units which raided the Marshall and Gilbert Islands presumably operated out of Pearl Harbor, 2,000 miles to the northeast. The fact that the action reported tonight took place west of the Gilberts—on the Australian instead of the Hawaiian side—appeared to indicate that the ships were on a different mission.

The Gilbert Islands, seized by the Japanese, are midway between Pearl Harbor and Australia and southeast of the Japanese-mandated Caroline Islands.

Adroit dodging by the aircraft carrier helped to baffle the attacking Japanese bombers, which operated in two waves of nine each.

"Only three enemy planes of the first formation reached their bomb release point over the aircraft carrier, which avoided all bomb hits by split second maneuvering," the navy related.

Record for the War.

"The leading bomber of this group attempted a crash landing on the carrier and was shot down by close range anti-aircraft fire when barely 100 yards from its objective."

In the second attack, the navy continued, only five enemy bombers reached the bomb release point.

Lieut. O'Hare's feat apparently is a record for this war.

The closest approach to O'Hare's record was made during the first World war when David S. Ingalls shot down five enemy planes in one day.

FLYER WHO SHOT SIX JAPS DOWN IS SON OF SLAIN E. J. O'HARE

Lieut. Edward H. O'Hare, credited by the navy department last night with having shot down six Japanese bombers in one afternoon, is known to many Chicagoans. He is the son of Edward J. O'Hare, president of the Sportsman's Park race track, who was assassinated in gangland fashion in Chicago Nov. 8, 1939.

One of the proudest persons over his exploit was his aunt, Mrs. Catherine Burris, 138 South 18th avenue, Maywood, who first learned of his heroic feat thru THE TRIBUNE. "I'm not surprised," she said, "knowing how determined a young man he is."

Proudest of all, of course, was his mother, Mrs. Selma O'Hare, living in St. Louis, Mo. "I'm the proudest mother in all the land," she said. "He always was crazy about planes." Lieut. O'Hare's wife, the former Rita Wooster of Muscatine, Ia., was visiting in Keokuk, Ia., and could not be reached.

O'Hare was graduated in 1937 from the naval academy in Annapolis. After a tour of sea duty, he trained for aviation in Pensacola, Fla., and San Diego, Cal. He was commissioned lieutenant junior grade two months ago.

Lieut. O'Hare married Miss Wooster last September. He has two sisters, Mrs. Paul Palmer and Mrs. Philip E. Tovrea Jr., both of Phoenix, Ariz.

DIGEST OF NEWS FROM WORLD'S BATTLE FRONTS

Latest war developments:

The United States war department disclosed that newly landed Japanese troops in the Philippines occupied Zamboango, an important port on the island of Mindanao. The army also announced that Japanese warships shelled several coastal towns on Cebu and Negros Islands, north of Mindanao. The Japs already hold Davao, principal port of Mindanao and former American naval base.

Navy Bags 16 Jap Planes.

The navy revealed that 16 Japanese bombers were shot down by warships and naval aircraft west of the Gilbert Islands. A communique said the planes were destroyed when 18 enemy aircraft attacked a Pacific task force consisting of an aircraft carrier, cruisers, and destroyers. One naval flyer was credited with shooting down six planes—apparently a record for this war. Two American fighter planes were acknowledged lost. American warships were not damaged in the attack, the communique said.

From Puerto Rico came word that an enemy vessel, presumably a submarine, had shelled the cliffs of Mona Island, a pinpoint of volcanic rock 50 miles southwest of Puerto Rico.

Drive Back Java Invaders.

The Dutch command announced that allied defenders of Java were beating back Japanese invaders in a counteroffensive. It said the enemy was forced to withdraw seven miles in one undisclosed sector. The Dutch also declared the Japanese had failed to extend their three initial beachheads in three days of fighting.

Sir Archibald Wavell, who has been relieved of the allied command in the southwest Pacific, visited British defenders of Burma, according to dispatches from London. Wavell went on to India, where he will serve as commander in chief. The British said the defense of Burma still held firmly along the Sittang river line.

Red Chutists Attack Town.

A dispatch from Moscow said Red army parachutists had attacked a German occupied town far behind the Nazi lines. The Russians claimed the chutists "shot up" the town, scattered the German garrison and then wrecked telegraph and telephone lines and railroad rolling stock.

In London it was disclosed that British bombers had attacked the Renault works on the outskirts of Paris. An announcement said the factory had been turning out war materials for the German army. A communique issued by the Vichy government said British planes also had attacked airdromes in suburban Paris.

SURVIVORS TELL HOW SUB SANK U. S. DESTROYER

11 Saved Spin New Hero Yarns.

Lieut. Comm. Black.

Washington, D. C., March 3 [Special].—Survivors of the United States destroyer Jacob Jones—there are only 11 out of the 125 to 145 officers and men comprising its crew—today unfolded a graphic story of heroism as the warship went down before dawn Saturday after being struck by two torpedoes within a minute.

These 11 men, 9 of them workers in the engine room and 2 of them apprentice seamen, were landed at Cape May, N. J., the navy disclosed, while 11 others who had reached life rafts died before they could be rescued. Apparently none on the bridge or asleep in the forward compartments survived. Lieut. Comm. Hugh David Black of Oradel, N. J., the ship's captain, is among those believed lost.

Rescued After Four Hours.

For the 11 known survivors rescue came about four hours after the Jakie, as the World war destroyer was affectionately known to her crew, slipped beneath the choppy waves off Cape May to become the first United States warship ever torpedoed and sunk in home waters. The first torpedo had blown up her bow, the second her stern and submarine depth charges.

But let Paul Tidwell, 22 years old, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., the only one of the crew known to have seen the enemy submarine, tell it. He was on duty in the aft engine room at the time of the first explosion.

Sub 100 Yards Away.

"It was about five minutes until 5 in the morning when the first torpedo hit. I had just gone up to the galley to get some sugar for some coffee we had made when there was a terrible explosion forward and the ship seemed to bog down.

"Pots and pans in the galley rained down over our heads. Then another explosion. I ran up to see what to do and found some boys cutting rafts away. I jumped in the water and climbed on one raft.

"I saw the sub outlined in the darkness about a hundred yards off portside. There was fuel oil in the water all around but it did not catch on fire.

"We were a very orderly bunch. We had good sailors on the Jakie."

Names of Those Rescued.

Those rescued in addition to Tidwell were Thomas Ryan Moody, 22, Franklin, Ky.; Louis Hollenbeck, 26, Albion, N. Y.; George Pantall, 22, Struthers, O.; Albert Oberg, 23, Proctor, Vt.; John Struthers, Trenton, N. J.; Richard Dors, 25, Brockton, Mass.; John Merget, 26, Norfolk, Va.; Rudolph Jacobsen, 40, Eastport, Md.; Woodrow Albert Roussel, Boston, Mass., and Adolph Ring Storm, believed to be from Bridgeport, Conn.

Tidwell said three men seemed to be too many on his raft as it could not be maneuvered. The sea was choppy and waves kept driving the raft into wreckage.

Tidwell said he suggested one of the men get off the raft and Dors did so.

"The front end of what was left of the ship was under water by that time and Dors climbed back up on the middle section of the destroyer to see if he could help some other fellows off the boat."

Climbed Back Aboard.

Here Dors, who had been in the forward engine room when the first explosion put out the lights, took up the story.

"I went to pick up my life jacket and water hit me with force," said Dors. "I don't know where it came from. The boilers were okay. I went topside, cut a raft loose and drifted around to the bow of the ship.

"Then I climbed back aboard the destroyer to see if I could cut another raft loose. I couldn't get one off and when my feet got wet I jumped in the water again and swam for a while.

"When I reached another raft with some other fellows on it I grabbed a hold, then looked around, saw the last of the Jakie go down. I was still

ARMY TO PURGE WEST COAST OF ENEMY ALIENS

Sets Up Restricted Area Covering Four States.

San Francisco, Cal., March 3 (AP).—Evacuation of enemy aliens and American-born Japanese from all the coastal area and much of the fertile inland valleys of the Pacific coast was promised today in a sweeping army order setting up new prohibited and restricted areas.

Lieut. Gen. Dewitt.

Lieut. Gen. J. L. Dewitt, commanding general of the western defense command, marked off half of the states of Washington, Oregon, California, and Arizona as military area No. 1, from which enemy aliens will be excluded by future order. He hinted this exodus would start soon.

Japanese, including those of American birth, will be moved first. Later Germans and Italians will be ordered out in a continuing evacuation affecting perhaps 200,000 people.

Area Subject to Attack.

The forbidden area "is particularly subject to attack, to attempted invasion," the general said, and "is subject to espionage and acts of sabotage."

Gen. Dewitt's public proclamation No. 1 established a prohibited zone [A-1] and a restricted zone [B] within military area No. 1, and declared all of the rest of the four states constituted military area No. 2. Ninety-seven small forbidden zones were created within zone B and military area No. 2.

Zone A-1, from which all enemy aliens and Japanese-Americans are to be evacuated, incorporates a strip running down the coastline from the Canadian to the Mexican border and along southern Arizona. This zone, from 30 to 125 miles deep, includes all of the major military encampments, naval establishments, aircraft factories, shipyards, and other defense cities. In it, too, are all of the coast's biggest cities—Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Portland, San Diego, Oakland, and Tacoma.

Few to Stay in Zone B.

Back of this forbidden area lies zone B, together comprising a border from 95 to 250 miles deep along the western and southern edge of the country. All aliens will be excluded from this area except certain exemptions of individuals or classes, to be established in subsequent proclamations.

Within the combined zones lie virtually all of the far west's virgin timber and the richest agricultural land. Much of these farmlands, particularly the truck gardens in metropolitan areas and shipping centers, are farmed by Japanese families.

Who will replace them was left unanswered by Gen. Dewitt.

CHICAGOAN LOST ON DESTROYER IN NAVY 20 YEARS

Valparaiso, Ind., March 3 [Special].—Chief Gunner's Mate Charles Proffitt, former Chicagoan reported missing in action in the sinking of the United States destroyer Jacob Jones last Saturday, had been in the navy for 20 years and was due for retirement next October.

Charles Proffitt.

In the years since he enlisted at the Great Lakes Naval Training station when he was only 17, Proffitt had been in service in many parts of the world and had spent 10 years in Asiatic duty. He had been an expert gunner on numerous warships. His half brothers, Waldo Proffitt and Arney Armstrong, are now in service in the navy and army, respectively.

Messages from the navy department reporting him missing in action were received by Proffitt's young wife, Marian, who lives here with their 10 month old son, Frederick, and by his sister, Mrs. Pierre Thomas of Northbrook, Chicago suburb. His mother, Mrs. Minnie Armstrong, lives at 4622 North Ravenswood avenue, Chicago, and his father, John Proffitt, a steel mill employé at Gary, lives at Long Lake, near here. Proffitt at one time lived at 532 Webster avenue, Chicago.

FALL FATAL TO AGED WOMAN.

Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, 80 years old, 1717 Catalpa avenue, a widow, died last night in St. Mary's hospital of injuries suffered Feb. 23 in an accidental fall in her home.

Destroyer Sunk Off New Jersey

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

The U. S. destroyer Jacob Jones which was sunk by an enemy submarine off Cape May, N. J., on Feb. 28 the navy announced yesterday. Only 11 of her crew were known to have survived.

holding on to the raft when a big explosion shot up from out of the water.

Lost Some in Explosion.

"The explosion knocked some of the fellows off of their rafts and almost blew me out of the water."

"About four hours later, we were picked up," Dors said.

Fourteen men attempted to escape on one raft and only three survived. Eight men were rescued from two other rafts.

Moody, another of those saved, was in the aft engine room. He said he reached for his coat and life jacket and rushed topside. He tried to launch a lifeboat but found part of the launching equipment had been blown away.

Then he went back into the boat to get some coffee.

"I wasn't going to go out in that cold water without getting something warm in my stomach," said Moody.

"It sure hit the spot," he related, adding that three others drank coffee with him.

Moody said he went to a locker from which the door had been blown, found some heavy underwear, and put on three suits of it.

"That's a nice thing about the navy. You get plenty of heavy underwear," Moody said.

Pantall, one of Moody's coffee drinking, underwear donning companions, said: "Moody dished 'em out and we put 'em on."

Named for Hero of 1812.

All the survivors agreed that less than a minute separated the two torpedo explosions and that the middle part of the ship sank from 30 minutes to an hour later. The third blast came quickly after it had vanished beneath the water.

The Jacob Jones, named for a hero of the War of 1812 and the campaign against the Barbary pirates, was traveling in dangerous waters even tho close to shore at the time of the attack.

Only a day before the tanker R. P. Resor was torpedoed and sunk in flames off New Jersey. Along the whole length of the United States coast, 26 merchant ships and tankers have been officially announced as sunk since Germany's U-boat operations started around Jan. 12.

Tells of Rescue by Destroyer.

New York, March 3 [Special].—Capt. Joas Moura, master of the 5,000 ton Brazilian passenger-cargo vessel Buarque, torpedoed off Cape Hatteras Feb. 15, revealed tonight that he and 15 others had been rescued by the destroyer Jacob Jones after two days in a lifeboat. Capt. Moura asked Lieut. Comm. H. D. Black for a souvenir from his rescuers and received a postcard picture of the Jacob Jones signed on the back by Commander Black and the other officers.

Scene of sinking of American destroyer by enemy submarine.

BRITISH ACCUSED OF SINKING VICHY SHIP OFF TUNISIA

VICHY, France, March. 3 (AP).—An official announcement today said the 5,417 ton French merchant ship P. L. M. 20 was torpedoed and sunk off the coast of Tunisia last Sunday by a submarine, "presumably British." The announcement said nine persons lost their lives, while 32 were rescued.

The ship was said to have been en route from Sfax to Tunis with a cargo of phosphates to be used as fertilizer. The trip down the coast was made in ballast, the government declared.

[The latter statement apparently was made to forestall charges that the ship might have been carrying supplies south for Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's African army. Sfax lies approximately half way between Tunis and the Tunisia-Italian Libya border.]

SAN FRANCISCO GETS PREPARED TO FLEE BOMBS

Mass Evacuation Plans Being Made.

San Francisco, Cal., March 3 [Special].—San Franciscans expect to be bombed and big business and industry, at least, do not intend to be caught in a holocaust like that which followed the earthquake fire in 1906.

A removal of vital records and documents is under way from this city to safe points inland.

Under study also are plans for the evacuation of the civilian population of the area in event of imminent danger. According to John D. Galloway, director of evacuation, plans have been completed for the removal of all the 1,250,000 residents of the San Francisco peninsula and east bay areas.

Rounds Up Old Ferry Boats.

Galloway and his committee have been corralling all the old ferry boats, as well as speedboats and pleasure yachts and anything else that will carry passengers. The plan is to take great numbers of evacuees up the Sacramento river to the inland towns and Sacramento itself.

San Mateo county, immediately adjoining San Francisco, yesterday appointed its own evacuation director, Lawrence Barrett, state commissioner of highways.

All banks and financial institutions, not only in San Francisco but in Los Angeles as well, have met and agreed on a plan of procedure which doubles the work of keeping their records, but which in the event of a bombing would prevent the chaos and disorganization that followed the earthquake and fire of 1906, when all records were lost.

Papers Are Photostated.

Every institution is photostating all trust papers, all assets and accounts and complete journal entries, so that any account could be reconstructed.

One of the largest law firms in San Francisco is having phostatic copies made of all valuable papers.

And, of course, it is a standing joke in San Francisco that every Asiatic in the state, required to show proof of his birth in this country, claims to have been born in San Francisco before 1906—the year all the city's records were destroyed.

Report Nazis Execute 2 Spies, 1 of Them a Woman

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 3 (AP).—Two spies, one a woman, were executed in Germany today, dispatches from Berlin said. Their names were given as Johanna Kursatz, 32 years old, and Josef Kroll, 35. No details of their cases were given.

14 CANADIANS BELIEVED LOST ON FREIGHTER

TORONTO, Ont., March 3 (AP).—A 3,000 ton freighter owned by the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation company and manned by Canadians was sunk last week in the south Atlantic, the company announced today. All but 6 of the crew, believed to number more than 20, are missing.

Capt. Bruce Angus, the company's shore captain, said a United States ship had picked up four of the six known survivors.

From Kitchener, Ont., Mrs. F. G. Meunier, sister-in-law of the vessel's captain, John Allan of St. Catharines, Ont., reported she had received word the ship was torpedoed while en route to Port-au-Spain, Trinidad.

13 Survivors Landed.

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, March 3 (AP).—Thirteen survivors who were landed here today reported that 20 lives were lost when a freighter was torpedoed in the western Atantic in January.

Seven other survivors of the ship were put ashore for hospital treatment at St. John's, N. F. All 20 were rescued by a British ship after they had drifted eight hours in lifeboats.

'SECRETS' BILL GETS SETBACK IN COMMITTEE

Biddle's Claim Refuted by Reading 1938 Law.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—The Roosevelt administration's "government secrets" bill, designed to censor at the source any information which a department or agency head might wish to keep "secret" or "confidential," received a severe blow at a senate judiciary subcommittee hearing today.

Sen. Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], chairman of the subcommittee, read into the record a 1938 statute specifically protecting the type of "military secrets" cited by Attorney General Francis Biddle in support of the pending censorship bill. Testifying before the subcommittee last week, Biddle mentioned the military secrets cases as examples of leaks which, he said, the government is powerless to prevent.

Danaher Digs Up Law.

Sen. John A. Danaher [R., Conn.], a member of the judiciary committee but not of the subcommittee which is considering the censorship bill, discovered the 1938 statute and called it to Sen. Austin's attention. Sen. Danaher remarked that the attorney general must have been ignorant of the law, or else he attempted to deceive the senate subcommittee.

The 1938 statute provides that whenever the President shall define "certain vital military and naval installations or equipment as requiring protection against the general dissemination of information relative thereto, it shall be unlawful to make any photograph, sketch, picture, drawing, map or graphical representation" of such installations or equipment without authorization. The maximum penalty for violations is a year in prison and a fine of $1,000.

Items Covered by Edict.

The President's executive order defining the information which cannot be disseminated without authorization includes:

"All official military or naval books, pamphlets, documents, reports, maps, charts, plans, designs, models, drawings, photographs, contracts, or specifications which are now marked under the authority or at the direction of the secretary of war or the secretary of the navy as 'secret,' 'confidential,' or 'restricted,' and all such articles or equipment which may hereafter be so marked with the approval or at the direction of the President."

Attorney General Biddle conceded that the pending bill applies to government information of any character, whether related to the national defense, and argued that the scope of the bill should not be limited to military and naval information. However, he cited only "military secrets" cases in support of his demand for new legislation.

Only One Conviction.

Biddle said the government obtained only one conviction in all the cases he cited and that was under the espionage act of 1917.

Senator Austin stated after today's hearing that the Biddle bill will be rejected in its present form. However, he said the subcommittee will draft a substitute after considering new proposals to be submitted by the justice department and other sources. Many members of the senate insist that the bill should be defeated outright, and not compromised, since Biddle concedes that the existing censorship has prevented the unauthorized publication of any important military or naval information.

At today's hearing, Austin read into the record a letter from Frank B. Jewett, president of the National Academy of Sciences and a member of the National Defense Research committee; both government agencies.

Jewett, who in private life is president of the Bell Telephone laboratories, contended there should be less instead of more secrecy respecting government information.

KILLED BY I. C. TRAIN.

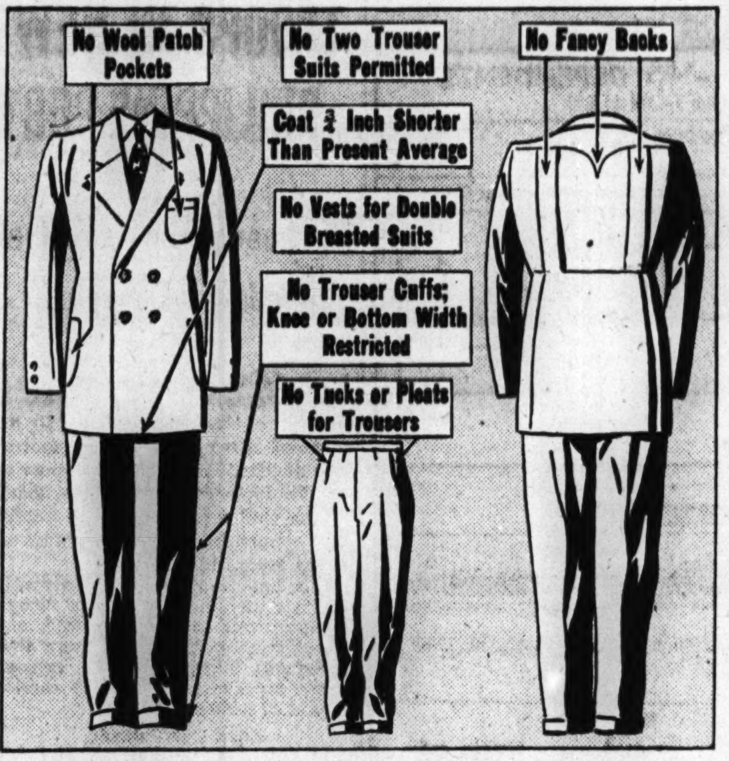
New Design for Men's Living



No Wool Patch Pockets
No Two Trouser Suits Permitted
No Fancy Backs
Coat ¾ Inch Shorter Than Present Average
No Vests for Double Breasted Suits
No Trouser Cuffs; Knee or Bottom Width Restricted
No Tucks or Pleats for Trousers

The effect of new federal ruling on men's suits for the duration of the war. The idea is to save woolen materials.

2-TROUSER SUITS, CUFFS AND PLEATS BANNED BY WPB

Custom, Ready Made Garments Hit.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Manufacture of two-trouser suits is prohibited in an order issued by the War Production Board today fixing wartime styles for men's and boys' suits and overcoats made of new, used or processed wool.

Custom-Made Affected.

The effective date of the order, as far as manufacturers of ready-made clothes are concerned, is March 30. For tailor-made clothing, the date is May 30. The two month interval is for stores to clear their shelves so that the new style will be adopted approximately simultaneously by the custom-made and ready-made trade.

Also eliminated by the edict are the full dress coat, the cutaway coat, and the double breasted tuxedo. The single breasted tuxedo coat must conform to style simplifications imposed upon all suits as a measure to conserve wool.

WPB Style Edict.

Rules applying to suits include the following:

1. No vest for double breasted suit.
2. Coat lengths are to be three-fourths of an inch shorter than the present average.
3. No wool patch pockets.
4. Fancy back coats are out, as are tucks or pleats for trousers.
5. Trouser cuffs are eliminated and knee and bottom widths are restricted.

The section of the order regarding trouser cuffs applies to retailers as well as manufacturers. Stores are directed to collect for reprocessing the cloth cut from the bottom of pants legs.

Topcoats and overcoats are restricted as to length and width. Prohibited are sleeve cuffs, belts, pleats, patch pockets, and fancy backs.

Mexican Major Ends Life After Losing Wedding Ring

MEXICO CITY, March 3 (AP).—Maj. Miguel Siliceo Esponda, chief of communications for the army general staff, was found dead in his automobile today with a bullet wound in the head and police said it was suicide. Persons who had been riding with him told them the major was depressed over loss of his wedding ring. His children added that he had often told them that if he ever lost it everything would be ended for him.

SECRETARY KNOX, SIR, RUNS THE NAVY, NOT DIPLOMATIC CORPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Last week, T. V. Soong, head of the Bank of China and brother-in-law of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, called on Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox to discuss the gloomy situation in the western Pacific.

In an effort to cheer up the Chinese statesman, Knox patted him on the back and said, "That's all right, T. V., we'll lick those yellow devils yet."

As a faint look of surprise flowed over the bland features of his caller, Knox flushed a fiery red.

FRAME QUESTION FOR CANADA VOTE ON ARMY SERVICE

OTTAWA, Ont., March 3 [Special].—The house of commons today approved the form of the question to be asked in the forthcoming plebiscite on military service. The question will be: "Are you in favor of releasing the government from any obligations arising out of any past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service?"

Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King rejected an amendment which would have added the words "in any theater of war." Altho it was argued that this would indicate to the people that they were, in principle, voting on conscription for service overseas, King said it was for the government to make this decision if and when they obtained permission from the people.

The prime minister reiterated that, insofar as the electors are concerned, conscription is not the issue. The only issue in the plebiscite, he said, is whether the people are willing to give complete freedom to the government from all past pledges. He admitted the question of conscription may come up "after the plebiscite has been passed," in which case it would be debated in parliament.

South African Coast Defenses Strengthened

CAPETOWN, South Africa, March 3 (AP).—Premier Jan Christiaan Smuts told the house today that the Japanese danger had been foreseen and "steps are being taken further to strengthen coast defenses." He said it was unnecessary to return South African troops from Libya, however. The government, which already has rationed gasoline and restricted tire sales, forbade sale of new automobiles except under special permit.

BRAZIL PLEDGES IRON AND RUBBER TO U. S. FOR LOAN

Pact Involves More Than 100 Million Credits.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dr. de Souza Costa.

Washington, D. C., March 3.—The United States and Brazil today signed a series of agreements to extend vast financial assistance to the South American republic to speed its rearmament program and for development of its rubber and iron ore resources.

The expectation is that between 60,000 and 70,000 tons of Amazon rubber will be produced annually, as a result. There is virtually no production from that area at present.

The United States pledged the Brazilians 100 million dollars in additional credits thru the Export-Import bank, as well as substantial aid thru lend-lease. The Brazilian government previously had been granted credits of 50 millions for a new steel mill and for currency stabilization. It also is understood that 98 millions in war materials have been allotted Brazil under the lend-lease program, altho actual deliveries have been small.

Echo of Rio Conference.

The agreements were reached after weeks of negotiations conducted here by Dr. Arthur de Souza Costa, Brazilian finance minister. They were a direct result of the conference of American foreign ministers held in Rio de Janeiro in January and implemented the economic resolutions adopted at that conference looking to the organization of the hemisphere for production and defense.

In the form of diplomatic notes and business contracts, the various agreements were signed by Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state; Ambassador Carlos Martins of Brazil, Dr. Souza Costa, officials of the Export-Import bank, and in one case by Viscount Halifax, the British ambassador, because British railroad and other business interests are involved.

Summary of Pacts.

The agreements:

1. Provides a program for mobilization of the productive resources of Brazil.

2. Provides for development of the Itabara mining properties and the Victoria-Minas railroad, with accompanying arrangements for procurement by the United States and Great Britain of the high grade iron ores to be produced.

3. Provides for expanded assistance to Brazil under provisions of the lend-lease act.

4. Provides for the establishment of a $5,000,000 fund by the Rubber Reserve company, subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, to be used in collaboration with the Brazilian government in developing the raw rubber production of the Amazon valley and adjacent regions. The Rubber Reserve company agreed to purchase Brazilian raw rubber for a period of five years. After the rubber project has been established, the industry will be further developed.

BERVE SUPPORTS BROOKS IN G. O. P. RACE FOR SENATE

Renomination at April Primaries Favored.

Springfield, Ill., March 3 (AP).—Ben L. Berve, chairman of the Republican state committee, today said he will support Sen. Wayland Brooks for renomination in the April primary.

Berve said he will back Brooks "as an individual" but does not expect to be directly connected with the senator's campaign organization. Brooks is opposed for the senatorial nomination by Treasurer Warren Wright.

Here to confer with Gov. Dwight Green, Berve said there had been "pressure" for endorsement of a G. O. P. state primary ticket by the party state central committee. He added that Gov. Green opposed calling of the committee and said no committee session is being planned "at this time."

May Shift Convention.

The official call for the Republican convention to meet in Springfield on May 1 has been issued, Berve announced, but explained that the convention may be recessed to a later date and shifted to Peoria because the state armory building here is being utilized for military purposes. The convention will adopt a party platform for the fall election, and nominate three candidates for the University of Illinois board of trustees.

Denies Friction with Green.

Berve came here from Hot Springs, Ark., where he was vacationing last week when his resignation as fiscal supervisor in the state welfare department was announced by Gov. Green.

Without saying there was any direct connection between his resignation and his plan to support Brooks' campaign, Berve commented:

"The appointment to that position was only temporary in the first place. Gov. Green and I understand each other. There is no friction between us."

lected than he owes, the government will refund the balance.

The new program involves no lowering of the personal exemptions of $750 for single persons, $1,500 for married persons, and $400 for each dependent. However, elimination of the "earned income credit" [10 per cent of net income up to $14,000] was advocated.

Morgenthau offered some examples of the effect of the proposed increases on typical incomes. A single person, with no dependents, he said, with a net income of $3,000, pays $221 tax under the present law; he would pay $470 under the suggested schedule. A married person with two dependents, and with a net income of $3,000, pays $58 under the present law; he would pay $118 under the suggested schedule.

A single person with no dependents and with a net income of $10,000 pays $1,493 under the present law; the suggested schedule would call for payment of $2,720. A married person with two dependents and with net income of $10,000 pays $1,117 under the present law and would pay $2,143 under the proposed schedule.

Excise Taxes Increased.

New and increased special excise taxes on beer and liquor, gasoline, cigarets, soft drinks, candy, chewing gum and other so-called luxury items were also proposed by the treasury.

The federal tax on gasoline would be doubled from 1½ cents a gallon to 3 cents a gallon under the program. The tax per barrel on beer would be increased from $6 to $8. Distilled spirits would be assessed $6 a gallon as compared with $4 a gallon, automatically raising the price to the consumer 50 cents a quart.

Raising the tax on cigarets from $3.25 per 1,000 to $4 would raise an estimated new $188,600,000 in revenue, treasury experts said. The new tax on candy would be 15 per cent of the manufacturers' sale price.

"These excise taxes have been chosen so as to fall on goods which are widely used and are of a luxury or semi-luxury character," said Morgenthau.

Estate and Gift Levies.

Increases in estate and gift taxes were also suggested to the committee.

The committee questioned Morgenthau repeatedly about the merits of a general sales tax. He argued strongly against it, asserting it bore disproportionately on the low income groups whose incomes are almost wholly spent on consumer goods. The sales tax encroaches harmfully upon the standard of living, he declared.

"From letters that come to me, I find an increasing popularity in the nation for the sales tax," objected Rep. Frank Crowther, [R., N. Y.]. "Most people certainly prefer it to a pay roll tax."

Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] observed that a hasty survey of the new tax program would indicate "an early scramble to join the ranks of the underprivileged." He asked if the President approved the program and was told that he did. Reminding that Mr. Roosevelt last year "ran out on you," Morgenthau said it was the President's privilege to change his mind.

"Argue Over Sales Tax."

"Everybody but the administration seems to be in favor of the sales tax," remarked Knutson. "Could it be that it is worried about 30 or 40 million votes involved?"

"The sales tax hits hardest at the lowest incomes," replied Morgenthau firmly. "As it is, the moderate and low income groups are now paying more than their share."

A flat 5 per cent manufacturers' sales tax, the committee was told, would bring in only 3½ billions additional revenue. If food, clothing, medicine, and similar articles were exempted, the new revenue would fall below a billion, it was stated by treasury experts.

Morgenthau recommended the repeal of the present tax exemption applicable to outstanding issues of state and local securities. Unfortunately, he added, tax exemption clauses in outstanding issues of federal securities constitute promises which must not be violated. Congress last year removed the exemption on interest from future issues of federal securities.

He also advocated the mandatory filing of joint tax returns by married couples.

"We are at war," he concluded. "An adequate tax program is vital to the successful prosecution of the war. The new taxes will be severe and their impact will be felt in every American home. War is never cheap; but, as I have said before, it is a million times cheaper to win than to lose."

Urges Government Economy.

Morgenthau repeated his recommendation of several months ago that at least 1 billion dollars in nondefense expenditure be saved. Some economies have been made, he said, but a large field for economy remains not only in Washington but in the operations of state and local governments.

Randolph Paul, tax adviser to the secretary, followed Morgenthau on the stand. He went into detail concerning the program. Because the manufacture of certain articles has drastically been curtailed, he recommended the removal of excise taxes upon them. These included rubber articles, electric signs, optical equipment, and commercial washing machines.

COURT TO ASSIST SERVICE MEN IN DEBT PROBLEMS

Action to protect men in the armed forces and their dependents against mistreatment or eviction when they have defaulted in payments of rent or other debts, was taken yesterday by Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of the Municipal court.

Attorney Francis X. Poynton was appointed friend of the court to act in all cases for service men who have no counsel. The court invited men in the service and those about to enter to feel free to discuss their problems with the lawyer at no cost.

Judge Scheffler also wrote a letter to all other judges, asking them to search their files to see whether affidavits setting forth the military status of defendants has been determined. He explained that men in the armed forces are entitled to protection under the soldiers' and sailors' civil relief act of 1940.

SKETCHES OF THE AREAS ATTACKED IN PHILIPPINES

ZAMBOANGA, on the Island of Mindanao, where the Japs landed yesterday, is one of the most important ports in the Philippines. It is noted for its excellent climate and is much cooler than Manila. The Spanish settled there nearly 400 years ago. Zamboanga is the seat of a Philippine department government and has a population of more than 31,000.

* *

NEGROS ISLAND in the Philippines, shelled by the Japs has an area of 4,881 square miles, and a rugged terrain. It has a number of peaks over 6,000 feet and one of them, Mount Canlaon, towers up to 8,192 feet. It is one of the islands on which the Negritos live. This tribal group has the physical traits of the Negro race, except size; the average height of the Negrito men is only 4 feet 10 inches.

Income Tax Collections 22 Millions Over 1941

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, announced yesterday that income collections for the first two months of the year exceeded the amount collected in the same period last year by 22 million dollars. Collections so far amount to $52,466,159 from 211,200 returns. Last year the two month period yielded $30,405,885 from 86,500 returns. The new lower personal exemptions account for most of the increase, Harrison said.

LEND-LEASE AID TOTAL PASSES 47 BILLION DOLLARS

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—Aid authorized for the United nations under the lend-lease program will reach a total of $47,410,650,000 when President Roosevelt signs a fifth supplemental war appropriation bill approved yesterday by congress, the office of lend-lease administration reported today.

The bill carries direct lend-lease appropriations of $5,425,000,000. In addition the President may transfer to foreign countries up to $11,250,000,000 worth of war supplies produced with the war department funds in the measure.

The 47 billion dollars authorized for lend-lease aid since the lend-lease act was passed slightly less than a year ago amounts to "more than one-third of all the money so far appropriated by congress to pay for the United States' war program," the lend-lease office said.

The figure includes $18,410,000,000 in direct lend-lease appropriations. The remaining 29 billions represent the total money value of ships, planes, tanks, and guns which may be transferred to other countries fighting the axis.

COLORED ROBBER SHOT AFTER HE SLAYS 2 OTHERS

A Negro who just had killed a man and a woman in separate robberies was shot and seriously wounded last night in the Foote restaurant at 3511 South State street by Policeman Howard Anderson. At the Bridewell hospital the man was identified as Thomas Woods, 32 years old, 3133 Indiana avenue.

Woods' first victim was Booker T. Washington, colored, 5238 South Parkway, a taxi driver. Washington was shot and killed in the 3700 block of Indiana avenue when he resisted robbery. Woods then went into the Foote restaurant and demanded money from the manager, Milton Hill. Hill leaped over a counter and Woods' bullet struck Mrs. Ozie Hill, 21, killing her.

Hill was grappling with Woods when Anderson, summoned from a nearby drug store, entered the fight. He took the robber's pistol and when Woods attacked Anderson shot him in his chest. Anderson is attached to the Stanton avenue station.

TWO YEARS FOR $10 POSTAL THEFT.

Percy Lowe, 22 years old, colored, 23 East 23d street, yesterday was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe for stealing $10 from the cash drawer in a postoffice substation at 2211 South State street.

ARGENTINE FOE OF AXIS LEADS IN CHAMBER VOTE

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 3 (AP).—Deputy Raul Damonte Taborda, head of the so-called Argentine congressional "Dies committee" and outspoken opponent of Acting President Castillo's foreign policy of maintaining diplomatic relations with the axis powers, appeared certain of reëlection to the chamber tonight.

In the early count of last Sunday's balloting for chamber seats, Damonte Taborda topped the list of his fellow radical party candidates. They, with the Socialists, were running well ahead of Castillo's Conservative party candidates.

The election board count of the first 75 of 235 ballot boxes in the pivotal federal district of Buenos Aires showed the Socialists leading with 5,391 votes to 4,958 for Damonte Taborda's Radicals and 3,162 for the Conservatives. If this trend continues the Socialists would win the 12 majority seats for the district and the Radicals the other six, reversing their present representation in congress.

Fear Munitions Strike by 40,000 Workers in Ulster

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, March 3 (AP).—The possibility of a strike by 40,000 munitions workers in Northern Ireland was raised in the Ulster house of commons today when Laborite Jack Beattie complained against the fining of 430 who already had struck. The labor minister said he could not modify the court decision, and that in "this time of grave national peril" the government and people would greatly deprecate any sympathy strike by the other munitions workers.

JAPANESE LAND TROOPS IN NEW PHILIPPINE PORT

Zamboanga on Island of Mindanao Occupied.

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—A renewal of Japanese attacks in an apparent attempt to extend control over southern and central islands of the Philippines was reported today by the war department, with particular emphasis on the landing of enemy troops at Zamboanga.

This important port on the southwest tip of Mindanao was in flames, a department communique said, and troops were being landed from four transports escorted by a cruiser. These transports may have carried a total of 4,000 soldiers.

Shell Two Islands.

At the same time, Japanese warships were reported to be shelling several coastal towns on Cebu and Negros Islands, north of Mindanao. Apparently no effort was made to put troops ashore at these points, but the army said a cruiser and destroyers participated in the attacks on Cebu City and Argao on Cebu; Misos, Tolong, Dumaguete, and Marica Bong on Negros, and Bugo on Mindanao.

The Japanese already held Davao, principal port of Mindanao and former United States naval base.

The move against Zamboanga, informed persons said, may have been undertaken to forestall any attempt by the United States to use it for supplying arms to the Moro tribesmen of Mindanao who have been organizing for resistance to the Japanese.

Aimed at Shipping.

A city of 50,000 population, Zamboanga has excellent port facilities and before the war was an important export shipping center for copra and abaca.

The shelling of the smaller ports may have been part of a Japanese attempt to destroy interisland shipping and communications, officials said.

ADMITS THEFTS TO PROTECT HIS BROTHER; FREED

Richard Seifert, 26 years old, 2141 Potomac avenue, last night walked out of the detective bureau a free man. Arrested several days ago by Detectives Patrick McShane, Edward Egan, and James Lynch as a suspected robber, Seifert confessed. "I'm your man," he said. "I did nine jobs." But he wouldn't name his accomplice. Finally the police seized his brother, Nicholas, 23, of 1961 Evergreen avenue. Only then did Richard name him as the "other man."

Last night the two brothers faced each other at the detective bureau. Richard repeated his confession. Then Nicholas spoke up. Richard, he insisted, had nothing to do with the holdups because he, Nicholas, had worked alone. Four robbery witnesses soon identified Nicholas. Richard then acknowledged his innocence. All he had tried to do, he said, was to save his brother. Police locked up Nicholas, freed Richard.

WAVELL VISITS BURMA TROOPS; DEFENSE HOLDS

British Patrols Clean Up Enemy Units.

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—The British defense of Burma still held firmly along the Sittang river line today, with motor patrols cleaning up small Japanese infiltration units which managed to reach the river's west bank.

In reporting this situation, a communique from the menaced metropolis of Rangoon told of successful RAF attacks on Japanese troop and transport concentrations. It said that increasing numbers of Indians were returning to Rangoon and reopening their shops. The city had been virtually deserted except for the military.

Wavell Visits Burma Troops.

Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, newly relieved of the united nations command in Java to return to his old post as commander in chief for India, with Burma as an added responsibility, visited the forces in Burma and then went on to India.

Wavell has not yet taken over formal command, it was announced from New Delhi, but he is expected to do so quickly.

Believe Japs Lost 100 Planes.

Loss of 100 Japanese planes in the past week was said here to have taken much of the force out of Japanese air raids on British positions in Burma.

Besides the American volunteer group and the RAF, the Indian air force has participated in repeated blows against the Japanese, and one of Wavell's first statements was in commendation of this Indian support. He said it made "all the difference."

Army Will Give Diplomas to Mechanics Tomorrow

Diplomas will be presented tomorrow to the first wartime class of soldiers who have completed the 6th corps area's eight week course for basically trained mechanics. Representatives of large local transportation companies have been invited to attend the exercises in Hotel Sherman. The presentation will be made by Col. E. C. Gere, the corps quartermaster.

WASHINGTON HAS 10 HR. BLACKOUT AMID GRUMBLING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—With considerable grumbling from the public, the nation's capital tonight went thru its first all night blackout. From 8 o'clock tonight until 6 o'clock in the morning all lights in homes, apartment buildings, business establishments, and offices were supposed to be doused or concealed from view outdoors.

First indications were that the test blackout was fairly successful altho the street lights burned brightly and some federal offices engaged in war activities were exempted from the lighting ban. Traffic operated as usual and with lights.

There was a last minute raid on stores for blackout materials such as black paper or cloth, curtains, candles, or flashlights. Many used makeshift screens out of newspapers, tablecloths, or blankets. There was plenty of complaints that insufficient warning of the blackout had been given and it was unnecessarily long.

Congressmen, including Rep. Jennings Randolph [D., W. Va.], chairman of the house District of Columbia committee, complained that John Russell Young, civilian defense coordinator and president of the district commissioners, exceeded himself in ordering a partial 10 hour blackout instead of a shorter but more thoro one. But the order carried and citizens were reminded that they faced a fine of up to $300, imprisonment up to 90 days, or both, for willful violation of the blackout order.

Milk Mixture for Stomach Ulcer Pains

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcer pains caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pains of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in a half glass of milk. Costs but little. Try a bottle, it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Walgreen, Stineway, and drug stores everywhere.

ALLIES DRIVING JAPANESE BACK IN JAVA—DUTCH

Disclose 7 Mile Advance in One Sector.

BANDOENG, Java, March 4 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Dutch and their allies have driven infiltrating Japanese invaders back seven miles in an important sector, it was disclosed today. The defenders were reported to be beating forward in a supreme counteroffensive aimed at casting the enemy into the sea.

The push, location of which was undisclosed, followed a three day stand during which American, Dutch, and British troops had yielded no ground since the Japanese invasion began.

Allied bombers and warships likewise were in heavy action against the enemy's ships and sea lanes.

"Situation Well in Hand."

An upward turn in the fortunes of allied forces afield already had been indicated by an announcement of the Dutch command that not one of the enemy's three initial beachheads had been extended, and by the declaration toward midnight of an authorized spokesman:

"It can be stated without reservation that the situation remains well in hand on all fronts."

[This optimism was not shared in London, however. There, Dr. W. G. Peekema of the Netherlands colonial ministry announced that the Indies government had been moved from Batavia to Bandoeng. He voiced the opinion that Java could not hold out much longer unless reënforcements, particularly aircraft, arrived. Allied military informants in London also expressed the belief that a Dutch withdrawal under overwhelming enemy force might soon be necessary—probably to the Bandoeng plateau.]

Bomb Army Headquarters.

Great and violent air action was proceeding. American, British, and Dutch bombers were hitting at the Japanese invasion forces in Java waters and at nearby air bases.

The Japanese concentrated their force upon Bandoeng military headquarters in a raid of one and a half hours by bombers and fighter craft. Sixty enemy planes were observed at one time.

Anti-aircraft batteries and outnumbered allied fighter pilots were unable to break up the enemy formations. One enemy plane was shot down by Dutch fighters.

During the raid some gasoline and oxygen tanks were destroyed in the Bandoeng area. The casualties were few.

Attack Japanese Planes.

Striking at Japanese air bases of unstated location — presumably on Sumatra—allied air forces machine gunned and put out of action 10 Japanese navy fighters which were about to take off. The pilots were said to have been killed.

Two more Japanese transports of 10,000 and 8,000 tons respectively, were squarely hit and a Japanese tanker was sunk by a submarine to bring known enemy losses to 30 warships and other vessels sunk or damaged.

As this allied action against the enemy's sea trains went on, it was reported that only five ships remained afloat of an original enemy force of 12 which had carried the invaders ashore at Rembang in northeast Java.

Reveal Jap Positions.

The known Japanese landing forces [said in London to number 85,000 to 100,000] were last reported in this position:

One column, trying to advance from beachheads on Indramayu bay, west Java, stalled 30 miles from Bandoeng.

The second column, about 85 miles west of the Surabaya naval base in East Java after an advance from Rembang.

The third column, in the Bantam district of westernmost Java, 60 miles from Batavia, apparently having failed to make much progress inland.

Claim 2 U. S. Cruisers Sunk.

TOKIO, March 3 [from Japanese broadcast]—(AP).—The United States cruiser Houston was listed today among 23 united nations' warships claimed sunk by the Japanese in week-end naval clashes off Java. Japanese headquarters said another American cruiser of the 9,050 ton Houston class, reported sunk earlier in the Java sea, has now been identified as the Augusta. Dispatches from Java said a column advancing from a beachhead had occupied a rail junction betwen Batavia and Bandoeng, but did not identify the place.

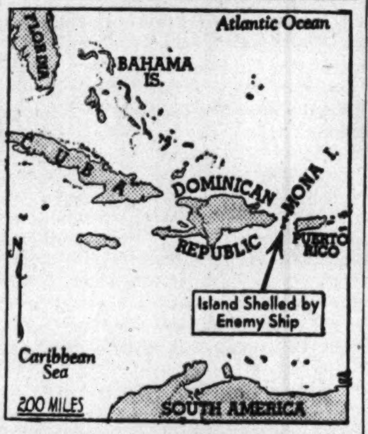
Island Shelled



Location of island shelled by enemy ship Monday night.

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, March 3 (AP).—An enemy vessel, presumably a submarine, made the war's first attack on United States soil in the Atlantic last night, harmlessly shelling the cliffs of Mona Island, a pinpoint of volcanic rock in the Mona passage 50 miles southwest of Puerto Rico.

The office of Gov. Rexford Guy Tugwell announced today that word of the attack came in a radio message from Remberto Cassaba, assistant director of a National Youth administration camp on the island.

Cassaba informed Sam P. Gilstrap, National Youth administrator for Puerto Rico, that 30 shells landed far up on the cliffs and caused no damage or casualties.

Mona, a mere four and one-half miles long by 3 and one-half miles wide, is rated of no military importance. It is primarily a tourist fishing resort.

CHICAGOAN HELD AS SLAYER OF WIFE IN FLORIDA

An inquest will be held tomorrow in Miami, Fla. in the case of Mrs. Margaret Goldsmith, 36 years old, who was shot and fatally wounded there Sunday. State's Attorney George Worley in Miami said that her estranged husband, Zachariah Goldsmith, 54, a Chicago advertising salesman, had confessed the slaying.

According to Worley, Goldsmith said he bought a revolver in Chicago after receiving a letter from his wife in Miami in which she told him she was in love with another man. He then went to Miami and killed her when she refused to return to Chicago with him, Worley quoted Goldsmith as having said. In the Goldsmith apartment at 211 East Delaware place, investigators last night found a cartridge box with several shells missing.

Worley said a murder charge would be placed against Goldsmith.

$400 BATHING SUITS STOLEN.

Theft of three cases of women's bathing suits, valued at $400, was reported yesterday by Louis J. Closman, 7518 Colfax avenue, a salesman, who told police they were taken from his car in front of 4034 North avenue.

WE UNDERRATED JAPS' STRENGTH, AUSTRALIAN SAYS

Credits Success in Malaya to Simplicity, of Methods.

SYDNEY, Australia, March 3 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Henry Gordon Bennett, the Australian commander who escaped from the Japanese after the surrender at Singapore and made his way back to Australia, said today in an interview, "We underestimated the strength of the Japanese army." This strength, he added, "lies not so much in its soldiers as in the simplicity of its methods."

Discussing the lost Malayan campaign, Gen. Bennett said the difficulty for the British and Australian forces was "the complicated system we have evolved in our army which makes rapid coördination difficult."

Independent of Supplies.

"Each Japanese soldier," he said, "carried in an airtight tin raw rice making him independent of the army food supply services. They used mortars which were easily transportable in the jungle. Practically the only artillery they used was that captured from our forces."

The general said another striking feature of Japanese tactics was the speed with which they called up air support.

"In fact," he said, "the Japanese based their whole campaign on methods used by the Germans in Holland, Belgium, and Norway, altho the fifth column in Malaya has been greatly exaggerated."

Japs Raid Australian Towns.

MELBOURNE, Australia, March 3 (AP). — Japanese planes attacked airdromes and grounded planes at Wyndham and Broome in continental Western Australia today, causing some damage and emphasizing the invasion threat against which this commonwealth is hastening its defenses.

Another flight of 15 bombers and at least three fighter planes raided Port Moresby, on the island of New Guinea, for the third daylight assault in a week. Only minor damage was reported, however.

Wyndham, 300 miles southwest of Darwin, the only mainland port previously raided, was subjected only to machine gun and cannon fire. Bombs were dropped at Broome, 700 miles southwest of Darwin. It was believed probable that the raiders of both places came from Timor, Japanese occupied island some 500 miles to the north.

HAWAII PLANS FOR ELECTIONS DESPITE DIFFICULTIES OF WAR

HONOLULU, T. H., March 3 (AP).—Despite blackouts, martial law and gasoline rationing, the Hawaiian Islands plan to hold primary and general elections next fall, Charles M. Hite, territorial secretary, said today. Officials to be elected include a delegate to the United States congress and territorial, city and county officers.

If blackouts continue to November—and nothing now indicates they won't—many usual scrappy election topics will be missing, such as the operation of the now closed Japanese language schools and whether citizens of Japanese extraction should seek office.

One territorial representative in the latter category, Thomas Sakakihara, is in custody. He was arrested by military authorities on suspicion of sympathizing with the enemy.

Sir Arthur Longmore, RAF Inspector General, Retires

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—The air ministry today announced the retirement of Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Longmore, inspector general of the royal air force. The 57 year old officer's aviation career began in 1911, when he was one of the first four British naval officers to learn to fly. Prime Minister Churchill once recalled in the house of commons that Longmore piloted him on flights before the World war.

FOOD PROFITEERS IN BRITAIN FACE STIFF PENALTIES

Flogging and Long Prison Terms Promised.

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—The British government served a stern last warning today on food racketeers who fatten their purses on the nation's wartime hunger.

Announcing the determination of the new cabinet to stamp out profiteering and gluttony alike, Maj. Gwilym Lloyd George, parliamentary secretary to the food ministry, told the house of commons that stiff new penalties soon would be imposed on black market operators.

Members immediately renewed their demands for punishment ranging from flogging to life imprisonment for "this most sinister form of sabotage."

10 Year Terms Considered.

The government itself was understood to be considering prison terms ranging from 10 years up for bigtime black market operators.

New regulations are expected also to put the screws on sources of supply for luxury clubs and hotels in the west end, where commons members charged well-to-do patrons could get eggs for breakfast and, in one restaurant, a week's ration of ham, at one sitting.

One member of parliament proposed a maximum meat price of 75 cents to take the profit out of racketeering. Another suggested firing all waiters and making customers serve themselves.

Maj. Lloyd George told the house that rationing would have to be extended and food portions cut in view of loss of shipping and new demands on it. He said, however, that essential food stocks in December were 30 per cent higher than those of a year before, and promised that the nation would not go hungry in 1942.

Fifth of Meat from U. S.

Extending "our sincere thanks and admiration for the way in which the government and people of the United States have helped us with food," Lloyd George disclosed that one-fifth of Britain's meat ration was U. S. tinned meat and that lend-lease food from May 1, 1941, to Jan. 1, 1942, was approximately equal to one month's imports from all sources.

Simultaneously, Hugh Dalton, new president of the board of trade, told American correspondents Britain must wear less, eat less, and drink less, and that "we shall gradually have to squeeze out all industry that does not contribute directly or indirectly to the war effort." This he called a "state of fortress economics."

VIERECK LAWYER CHARGES COURT BIASED; IS BARRED

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—Defense Attorney Emil Morosini was barred today from further participation in the trial of George Sylvester Viereck, German born publicist, after he accused Federal Justice F. Dickinson Letts, the trial judge, of being biased in favor of the government and prejudiced against the defendant. Morosini, protesting repeated ruling out of testimony he sought to introduce, rested the defense case before his exclusion and the trial was recessed until tomorrow.

Viereck, who is charged with failure to file essential information when he registered as a German agent with the state department, will continue to be represented by Daniel F. Cohalan Jr., Morosini's New York law partner, and Col. O. R. McGuire, a Washington attorney.

The exclusion of Morosini followed a conference of attorneys before the bench. Later Justice Letts disclosed he had told the conference he believed Morosini made the charge in the jury's presence for the purpose of prejudicing the jurors and trying to make them feel that Viereck was not getting a fair trial.

23 MORE INDICTED IN NATION-WIDE FORD PARTS PLOT

Detroit, Mich., March 3 (AP).—A few hours after federal agents disclosed the indictment of 23 additional defendants in the Ford parts theft conspiracy, 16 of those arrested were arraigned before Judge Ernest A. O'Brien in federal court here.

Three, including owners of two Detroit auto parts companies and a Ford Motor company service man, pleaded guilty. Thirteen stood mute and pleas of innocent were entered for them.

Announcing the new indictments, which brought the total of defendants to 64, John S. Bugas, agent in charge of the Detroit office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said the theft ring was so well organized that Detroit "fences" would procure samples of the parts and then order deliveries to cover their requirements.

Bugas reported recovery of parts at New York valued at more than $640,000. Other recoveries, he said included: Dallas, $70,000; Chicago, $70,000; Cleveland, $16,000; Atlanta, $12,000; Philadelphia, $7,500; Detroit, more than $100,000.

CITY'S NEGROES ASK HENDERSON TO LIMIT RENTS

Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, sent a telegram yesterday to Leon Henderson, price administrator, protesting at what he termed flagrant injustices in rent increases for colored families in the south side and west side neighborhoods in Chicago. He urged Henderson to class these as defense areas and thereby set maximum rent limits.

The telegram was sent on behalf of Ald. Benjamin Grant [3d] and other Negro leaders.

Brown said that the city council's investigation of the rent situation appears sincere and sympathetic, but affords no immediate relief for the colored neighborhoods.

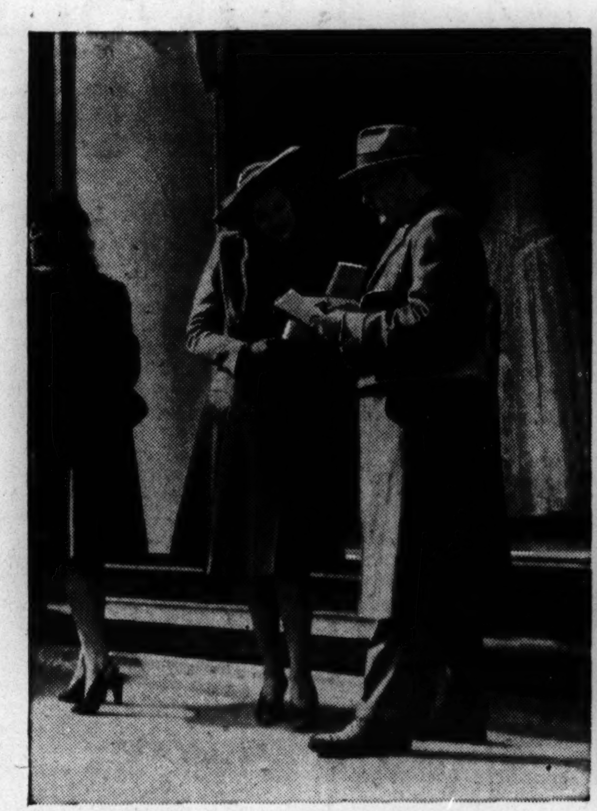
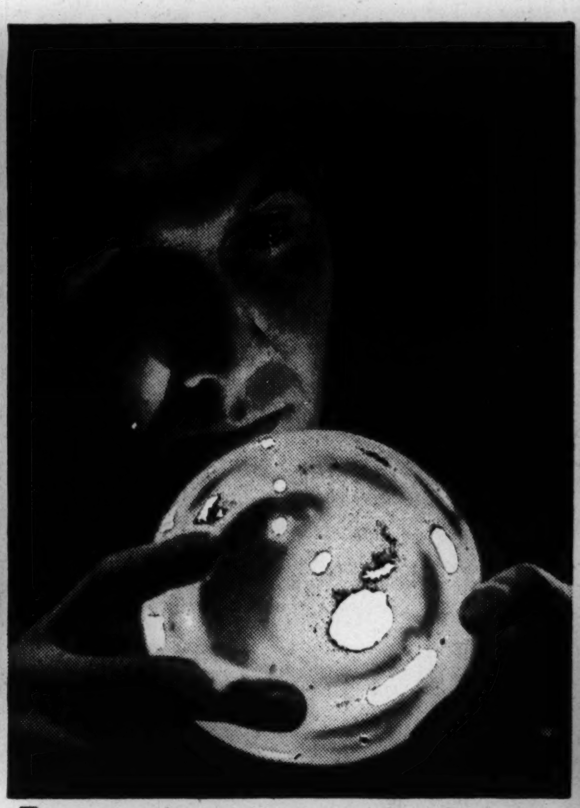
1 MEN LOVE MYSTERIOUS WOMEN. Some men go even further and insist that an understandable woman is a dull woman. Most men will fight to keep that mystery unsolved. Now there's no harm done by that and nobody gets hurt by all this mystery, unless such mystery confronts an advertising man. Then he's in trouble.

2 WATCH AN ADVERTISING MAN IN HIS OFFICE . . . He's got a tough job. He can easily be expert on men. But when it comes to what women like and dislike, he runs smack up against mystery. What tastes do women share with men? Where do they disagree? In what magazines do you advertise to catch their eye?

3 TO FIND WHAT WOMEN READ, 4,603 department store customers as they came out the door were quizzed by reporters. (Stores: J. L. Hudson Co., Detroit; H. & R. Lazarus Co., Columbus; L. S. Donaldson Co., Minneapolis; Sibley, Lindsay & Curr Co., Rochester. Survey by L. M. Clark, Inc.) Women were asked this question:





4 "IN WHICH WEEKLY MAGAZINE are you most likely to read advertising?" . . . You can see how valuable the answers women made to this question can be to an advertising man who must spend money wisely. (In this case The Saturday Evening Post was named by women customers 45% oftener than the next magazine.)

5 YOU DON'T HAVE TO LOOK IN A CRYSTAL BALL if you're a store owner and want to know what magazine outpulls the rest. Grocers, druggists, stores with women customers, know people pay attention when they read it in the Post . . . for when they display merchandise "As seen in the Post," sales go up.

SOVIET CHUTISTS POUNCE ON NAZI OCCUPIED TOWN

Reds Shoot Up Garrison; Wreck Wires, Rails.

MOSCOW, March 3 (AP).—Red army parachutists in a new and spectacular foray far behind German lines pounced on an occupied town, killed scores of Nazis and seized vast quantities of booty, a warfront dispatch reported tonight.

After shooting up this town and scattering the German garrison which had been there for three months, the parachutists then wrecked telephone and telegraph lines and railroad rolling stock. All this, the dispatch added cryptically, was incidental to the parachutists' "main task," which it did not disclose.

Injecting a new note into its communique, the soviet information bureau said that during today's fighting soviet troops went methodically about the task of "encircling and annihilating nests of resistance on several sectors of the front" and continued their advances.

Kill 3,400 Nazis in Two Days.

In the past two days 3,400 Nazis have been killed on the Leningrad and Kalinin fronts, the announcement said. Red airmen were credited with destroying 60 enemy planes yesterday, 8 of them in dogfights, compared with 11 soviet losses.

The Russians announced the capture of nine fortified towns and villages in a Ukrainian zone and 12 more at other parts of the southern front and in the Staraya Russa region in the north. German dead totaled 700 in one fiercely contested Ukraine strongpoint.

[Verification of the Moscow announcement came in part from the Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter, who reported that 11 places had fallen to the Russians in the vicinity of the Dnieper river. This account said also that the Russians had captured a town south of Staraya Russa in a general tightening of the ring about that beleaguered Nazi held communications center south of Leningrad.]

Claim Attacks Repulsed.

BERLIN, March 3 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—German troops have repulsed strong, tank-supported soviet assaults on the Crimean peninsula and in the Donetz basin and turned back numerous attacks across other sectors, the high command said today. The high command acknowledged, however, that the fighting in the southern zones was bitter.

"Big fires were caused at Kerch [soviet-held city near the eastern tip of the Crimean panhandle] and a neighboring port by our air attacks," the Germans said.

BRITISH DOWN 2 AXIS PLANES IN ATTACK ON SUEZ

CAIRO, Egypt, March 3 (AP).—British headquarters today reported considerable axis air operations over British advance positions in Libya, but said there was only patrol activity on the land front. British fighters, it was reported, shot down two German bombers when enemy planes bombed the Suez canal area during a lunar eclipse early today. No damage resulted from the raid.

From the British advance position in the Libyan desert came a story of how 24 picked men recently penetrated the axis lines and destroyed 91 planes on desert air fields. The raiding party was taken in trucks to the region of the air fields and then made their sorties during the night, slipping into axis airdromes and putting time bombs in the planes. The raid was said to have extended from Dec. 25 to Jan. 10.

[The Italian high command yesterday acknowledged a merchant ship was sunk Monday night in a British raid on Palermo, Sicily. In the Libyan campaign "there was normal reconnaissance activity of advanced patrols on both sides" and "enemy motorized columns were severely machine gunned and bombed," the Italians said. Berlin reported German planes attacked British transport concentrations in Libya and reported fires were started in a raid on the harbor of Valletta, Malta.]

BABY SCALDED, DIES.

Harriet Witz, 19 months old, of 1363 South California avenue, died yesterday of burns suffered when she fell into a tub of scalding water.

Pacific Casualty

Lieut. Joseph F. Kane Jr. and his wife.

Lieut. Joseph F. Kane Jr. of the army's aviation ordnance department, has been killed in the fighting in the Pacific, according to a message from the war department to his relatives.

Kane was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Kane of 5435 Ellis avenue. His wife lives at 305 East Springfield avenue, Champaign, and is superintendent of nurses at the Burnham hospital in that city.

Four years ago Lieut. Kane, who was then a law clerk for Judge Cornelius J. Harrington of the Circuit court, enlisted in the army and was sent to Rantoul for aviation training. He was later commissioned. He was a graduate of Mount Carmel High school. Two sisters, Mrs. John Long of 1817 West 77th street, and Mrs. Daniel Egan of 520 Addison street, survive.

GAMELIN STANDS MUTE AT FRENCH WAR GUILT TRIAL

Refuses to Defend Self or Army.

RIOM, France, March 3 (AP).—The former generalissimo of the French and British armies in France, Maurice Gustave Gamelin, stood mute as he was accused in the "war guilt" trial here today. He stood stiffly at attention, refusing to answer questions and maintaining his announced intention of refusing to defend either himself or his army.

While Pierre Caous, the presiding judge, read the charges against him, which required half an hour, Gamelin only mumbled, "I have nothing to say," time after time.

Calls Gamelin "a Free Man."

Judge Caous went so far as to ask Gamelin, "Don't you think that the army which you led to battle looks to you to defend it?"

"How can I speak in defense of the army in the position I now find myself?" the general retorted.

"Your position is that of a free man who, I believe, has the duty to defend himself and his army," Caous replied.

The only other witness at the trial today was former Premier Edouard Daladier, who charged that altho nationalization of French arms factories tripled production during eight months of the war, industrial leaders had sabotaged the manufacturing plan until "it was too late."

Blames Schneider-Creuzot.

Daladier assailed the Schneider-Creuzot steel trust in his testimony, alleging its officers turned down his personal request to form a joint government-private industry combine to manufacture armaments in North Africa.

Another French manufacturer, Edgar Brandt, also declined, Daladier said, and the scheme fell thru until just before the outbreak of war.

The former premier charged Brandt with direct sabotage by stealing factory blue prints which delayed production of mortars until the plans were recovered.

NATIVES SHOULD HELP TO DEFEND INDIA, LORDS TOLD

Army of 3,000,000 Held Possible.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 3.—The house of lords was told by Lord Strabolgi today that, while India is best defended in Burma, the government should undertake a powerful program of propaganda to impress upon the natives what a Japanese conquest would mean, and solicit their aid in defending their country.

Lord Strabolgi.

Strabolgi told how the Japs have tied up high court judges in the streets of Manila and publicly flogged them because they would not support the invaders.

"If India is invaded, will it be another Malaya, with the vast bulk of the population as spectators?" he asked.

Saying that India must be given real freedom if it is to enter a life and death struggle, a prominent Indian told the Tribune correspondent today that leading Indians, including Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, leader of the Indian congress, are unwilling to accept responsibility for India's defense, but must be given that power.

Pandit Nehru, he continued, could immediately convert a congress volunteer army, which numbers more than 3,000,000 highly disciplined young men, hitherto unarmed, into a real people's army which could act as a spearhead of India's defense forces. The immediate problem, of course, would be to equip this army.

Three Provinces Accept.

Given allied assistance, he stated—the United States is already sending a supply of machinery—this problem is not considered insurmountable as India is already beginning to make light arms in quantities, and with technical advisers and machine tools from the allied countries, this manufacture can be accelerated.

Any tangible offer from Britain, he said, would end Hindu-Moslem differences. He stated that already three of four provinces containing large Moslem elements—Bengal, Sind, and Northwest Frontier—have accepted the congress plan, leaving Punjab as the only province still divided over the question of a coalition government composed of Hindus and Moslems.

Await Churchill Statement.

Nehru's capacity to carry the country against independence of the Japanese brand, as already proclaimed by Subhas Chandra Bose, left wing political leader, depends, he said, on what Britain promises. Bose fled his country in 1941, and last week issued from enemy territory a manifesto for Indian independence and solidarity with Japan.

Lord Devonshire, parliamentary undersecretary for the India office, told the house of lords it was not desirable to say anything about the military aspect of the problem nor to anticipate the statement which Prime Minister Winston Churchill is expected to make in a few days, in reply to the letter addressed to him by a group of Indians, known as "moderates."

Anticipation, however, is that Churchill is offering to set up an interim national government genuinely representative of parties and communities which, without changing the constitution, would lead to dominion status.

★ THE RULES ★

WHO CAN ENTER? This offer is open free to everybody—men, women, boys and girls—excepting employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. It does not matter where you live. You don't have to pay a penny—NOW OR LATER.

WHAT TO DO? Each week day a Puzzle Picture representing the names of two things usually spoken of together will be published in the Daily Tribune until 42 have appeared. One of the things will be named. You are invited to "NAME THE OTHER ONE." Write or print the missing name on the line provided. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the most nearly correct complete sets of Puzzles in accordance with the rules. First prize is $1,000.00. Facsimiles are acceptable. Hold all answers until you have the complete set of 42. Do not send them in separately.

WHERE TO SEND? Mail your entry by First Class Mail to "Names," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry send a letter, giving your name and address, and telling in 50 words or less how you expect to use the First Prize money of $1,000.00 if you win it. Letters will be considered only in the event of ties in solving the Puzzles. Entries must be in the office of the Chicago Tribune by midnight, one week after Puzzle No. 42 has appeared.

BASIS OF AWARDS: Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree to accept the judges' decisions as final. Each entry must be the original thought and effort of the person who submits the entry. If, in the sole opinion of the judges, any entry is found to be based upon answers purchased from anyone, whomsoever, or upon deceit or intent to deceive, such entry will be disqualified. Neither handwriting nor elaborateness will count. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid.

'WORK OR FIGHT' LAW URGED BY BAR DELEGATES

Would Draft Arms Plant Strikers and Laggards.

The house of delegates of the American Bar association called upon congress to pass "work or fight" legislation which would make workers who participate in strikes or slowdown movements in arms factories subject to immediate military service.

Two hundred delegates closed their annual midwinter meeting in the Edgewater Beach hotel after adopting the legislative recommendation of the association's committee on labor, employment, and social security.

Would End Deferments.

The proposed law would draft not only striking workers who are subject to military service, but every one who has received deferment because of employment in essential wartime industries and "thereafter strikes or absents himself from work or takes part in a slowdown or sitdown because of any labor dispute."

Workers not subject to the selective service act who strike or slow down production would be termed undesirable persons and barred by law from working in any plant filling government orders.

Advocates 48 Hour Week.

The attorneys also advocated enactment of the Reed bill to increase the work week to 48 hours, with time and a half for overtime. They supported legislation to prevent further general substantial wage increases, especially in the higher bracket groups, unless the need is determined by an independent fact finding government agency.

Attorney George M. Morris of Washington, D. C., a native Chicagoan, was nominated for the presidency of the association. The election will take place at the annual convention Aug. 24 in Detroit, Mich. Morris is a former chairman of the house of delegates and has been chairman of the section on taxation since it was created in 1939.

DEFENSE STRIKE ENDED; PLEDGE NO MORE DELAYS

A strike that shut off production of $80,000 worth of defense equipment in the plant of the Weil-McLain company in Michigan City, Ind., was settled yesterday afternoon and it was indicated a full force of workers would be on their jobs tomorrow.

Steve A. Miller, a representative of the International Moulders' and Founders' union [AFL], which sponsored the strike, said "the objective of the men has been obtained" and no further delays would occur.

Officials of the company, which employs about 250 men in the making of heating and plumbing equipment, confirmed the fact that the strike was ended. They said their contract with the union ran to July 1 and that no material change had been made in company-union relationships.

Union Agent Identified in Damaging of Truck

Joseph Bernstein, 36 years old, business agent for the Miscellaneous Warehouseman's union, local 781, AFL, was identified yesterday as the man who poured sugar into the gas tank of a truck owned by the Universal Merchandising company, 1000 North Ogden avenue, during a strike Feb. 13. Bernstein will be arraigned in Felony court tomorrow on a charge of tampering with a motor vehicle. He was freed on $1,000 bond after questioning by Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail.

GUN DEATH HELD ACCIDENTAL.

A verdict of accident was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death of John W. Shuler, 14 years old, 4100 Carroll avenue, who was shot Sunday when a .22 caliber rifle held by his cousin, Herbert Spencer, 15, of 3026 Madison street, was discharged.

Friend of the Yanks

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer draft and military service questions, both in the daily columns and personally if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

DISCHARGED MEN UNDER THE DRAFT.

This department has had many letters from men discharged from the armed forces recently for various reasons, honorable and dishonorable. These men are puzzled about their status under selective service.

The first rule concerning such men has to do with draft registration. If a discharged man, because he still was a member of the armed forces on the dates proclaimed for such registration, has never registered, he must do so at once at his local draft board. If he registered before he joined the armed forces he must report his discharge to his draft board.

Rules governing men who registered before their military service, and those who register subsequent to their discharge, are the same in most instances.

May Be Reclassified.

If such men have been honorably discharged for other than physical reasons, they will be reclassified. They may be called for military service if not eligible for deferment for dependency, occupation, or some other reason.

If such men have been dishonorably discharged or discharged without honor, they will be placed in class 4-F if their boards consider them morally unfit for service. However, if the boards find their current civil record is good—and if the secretary of war approves this finding of the board—such men will be reclassified the same as honorably discharged men.

In the matter of physical disability discharges the rules differ, depending upon whether the discharged man was a draft registrant when he entered military service, or whether he registers after his discharge.

Rules for Registered Men.

First, the rules for men who joined the armed forces after registering for the draft: If such men were discharged for physical disability before Dec. 8, 1941, they are placed in 1-B [physically fit for limited service] or 4-F [physically unfit for service]. If the disability for which they were discharged is corrected later, they may be recalled providing they are not eligible for some other deferment.

If such men were discharged for physical disability after Dec. 8, 1941, they are continued in 1-C [member of the armed forces], and the facts of their discharges are noted on their selective service records.

Men who register for the draft subsequent to their discharge for physical disability will be placed in 1-B or 4-F. If the disability for which they were discharged is corrected, they may be taken for military service providing they do not become eligible for some other deferment.

[Tomorrow: Ex-Convicts and the Draft.]

QUESTIONS.

E. H. writes: "What is the difference between a howitzer and a gun?"

ANSWER: A howitzer is a short barreled artillery weapon which lobs shells high into the air. Useful in shelling enemy fortifications hidden behind hills or other high, sheltering obstacles. A gun is a longer barreled weapon which fires shells that have a more flat trajectory.

W. S. M. asks: "What is the combat unit normally commanded by, a major general?"

ANSWER: A major general usually commands a division.

TRUE BILL VOTED AGAINST GOONS IN HOLIDAY ASSAULT

Beaten Meat Dealer Goes Before Jury.

The grand jury was reported yesterday to have voted true bills charging two union business agents, who slugged Oakley Lester, a meat truck driver from Elgin, Ill., on Feb. 23, with assault to commit mayhem. Lester's jaw and nose were broken and he was in a hospital for a week.

Those named in the true bill are Walter O'Brien, 44 years old, and Michael Healy, 42, of local 710 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. They were arrested several days ago and were released on bonds. The true bill was reported to have fixed their bonds at $5,000. If convited they could receive a maximum sentence of 1 to 14 years in prison.

Victim Tells His Story.

Lester, still showing the effects of the terrific beating by the goons, was taken before the grand jury yesterday morning to tell his story. It was understood he told the same story he had told the police after the assault.

He said then that he had gone to the wholesale meat market of M. Rothschild & Sons at 224 North Peoria street to get a load of meat, and that he met the two business agents there.

"They told me I couldn't get any meat because the union was requiring its men to observe the day—Monday—as a holiday in honor of Washington's birthday," Lester said. "When I told them the President had asked that production be kept up without regard to the holiday and that I was going to take out the meat, they jumped me."

Blackjack Believed Used.

When he resisted, Lester asserted, he was forced to the sidewalk and struck repeatedly. Physicians said his injuries had apparently been inflicted with a blackjack or brass knuckles.

Alexander Napoli, assistant state's attorney, said he had five witnesses who would testify to the identity of O'Brien and Healy. Lester's nose was still discolored yesterday and his teeth were braced with wire.

Launch First Navy Ship in Illinois So Far in War

The YMS-84, a 136 foot minesweeper, first naval vessel built in Illinois so far during the war, slid into the Chicago river yesterday from a Chicago shipyard, after a short christening ceremony, which was broadcast by W-G-N. The craft is to be used in coastal waters.

BAR ALL PICKETS WHERE VIOLENCE IS RECURRENT

California Court Acts in Strike Case.

San Francisco, Cal., March 3 (AP).—An injunction against all picketing in labor disputes where violence has been recurrent was upheld today by the California State Supreme court in a four to three decision.

A minority opinion held the court's action would tend to result in a ban on all picketing in California.

The opinion came in an action of the Elm Oil company of Long Beach against the Oil Workers International union, CIO. The high court upheld part of a Los Angeles Superior court injunction, including an order against all picketing by the oil workers against the company.

Infringement Denied.

"Where past picketing has become so irrevocably blended with acts of violence, physical intimidation, or other unlawful conduct as to give rise to a justifiable belief that future picketing is likely to result in a continuance of the illegal act, the majority held, "an injunction restraining a labor organization from any and all picketing, lies within the equitable power of the court and does not constitute an infringement of the right of free speech."

Constitutional Fears.

"The inevitable effect of the major opinion," commented Justice Jesse W. Carter in the dissent, "will be the abrogation of the constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech, press, and assembly and for all practical purposes will operate as a denial of the right of organized labor to exercise those rights by engaging in peaceful picketing."

COURT TO WATCH CHECK PASSER.

Raymond Watson, 19 years old, 3355 North Pulaski road, was placed under the supervision of the court for a year yesterday when he appeared before Judge Leon Edelman in Boys court on a charge of passing a worthless check.

Zion to Pick Candidates for City Judge April 7

Candidates for city judge of Zion to fill the four year vacancy caused by the recent death of Theodore Forby will be nominated April 7. John R. Bills, a Waukegan lawyer, and L. Eric Carey, Zion corporation counsel, are the only candidates. Under the law the two candidates receiving the highest primary vote, run for election May 26.

COURT UPHOLDS WOMAN IN SUIT AGAINST TIME

Jefferson City, Mo., March 3 [Special].—The Missouri Supreme court has upheld a judgment of $1,500 against Time, Inc., publisher of the so-called news magazine Time, for its unauthorized publication three years ago of a picture and story about the illness of Mrs. Dorothy Barber of Kansas City, Mo.

At the time the objectionable story was circulated, Mrs. Barber was in a hospital receiving treatment for an ailment which the magazine said turned her into an "insatiable eater" who nevertheless lost weight. A lower court granted her $1,500 actual damages and a like amount of punitive damages, but the Supreme court overruled the latter award.

In explaining a person's right to obtain medical treatment without publicity, the high court said: "It was shown that the plaintiff not only did not consent to the publication of any article or picture in connection with her illness but protested against any publicity to reporters who interviewed her, and that her picture was taken by one while the other was trying to persuade her to consent to such publicity."

16 WAYS WE CAN HELP YOUR CAR "See you through"

STANDARD SERVICE

	RECOMMENDED FREQUENCY
1. Repack Front Wheel Bearings. Prevent bearing wear—a cause of wheel misalignment and wobbling—(an important factor in tire wear).	5000 miles
2. Clean Spark Plugs—Regap if necessary. Dirty and worn plugs waste gas.	5000 miles
3. Switch Wheels and Tires. Extremely important in gaining maximum mileage for all tires. Your Standard Oil dealer knows the proper rearrangement for longest service.	5000 miles
4. Examine Tires for bruises, cuts, nails, glass, etc. Prevent little hurts from growing big.	1000 miles
5. Inflate Tires to proper pressure. Prevent excessive wear due to underinflation and overinflation.	Once a week
6. Check Oil Filter. Very important to keep abrasive grit and dirt out of motor.	8000 miles
7. Drain and Flush Radiator—check cooling system—fan belt. Guard against dangerous overheating.	Each season
8. Clean Air Cleaner. Dirty air cleaner acts like choke, causes excessive use of gas. Also allows grit to get into motor.	3000 miles (more frequently in dusty driving)
9. Fill Battery to proper level. This care, plus recharging when needed, and cleaning and greasing terminals, prolongs battery life.	7-14 days
10. Check Oil Level. Prolongs engine life by maintaining proper oil level.	Each gasoline fill
11. Drain and Refill Crankcase. Draining out dirty oil and refilling with clean fresh oil will prolong engine life.	1000 miles
12. Complete Chassis Lubrication. Prolongs car life by saving wear. Reduces need for parts replacements.	1000 miles
13. Change Transmission and Differential Lubricant. Check level every 1000 miles for protection against gear and bearing wear.	Spring and Fall
14. Wax and Polish Car to make finish last indefinitely.	3 months
15. Safety-checking and cleaning of lights, lenses, windshield, and windows.	Each station visit
16. Check Anti-freeze to insure proper amount and protection, to avoid boiling or leaking away.	Frequently

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SERVICE CENTER CONTROL MAY GO TO PARK BOARD

Move Proposed Because Cash Is Exhausted.

Operation of the Service Men's Center at 174 West Washington street, where thousands of soldiers, sailors, and marines have been entertained under the direction of Mayor Kelly and a women's committee since last August, is expected to be taken over by the Chicago park district, it was learned last night.

Thus far the center has been run on $3,500 which was left over from a service men's fund of the last war, plus $15,000 supplied by the United Service Organizations and some private funds. Now, however, there is no more money and the plan to have the park district take over the operation and financial responsibility was therefore evolved.

Await Kelly's Return.

The park district has been interested in the center since last November and several days ago R. J. Dunham, president of the district, inspected the Washington street building.

Dunham said last evening that transfer of the center to the park board is being considered, but that he could make no statement until Mayor Kelly returns from Florida.

Mrs. Kelly, who has been deeply interested in the center's activities, said last night that the mayor is expected to arrive home this morning.

Since the club for the service men was opened last August Mayor Kelly has taken a keen interest in it, has told of its work in newsreels, and kept a close eye on the entertainment of the service men.

Desires Civic Enterprise.

It is understood the mayor wants to keep the center a Chicago civic enterprise and that the park district will provide funds and some of the recreation employés will supplant others for whom there would not be any salaries.

Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence, chairman of the women's committee, said the women will decide how to meet the change as soon as it is put into effect.

It was said the only change will be one of administration; the center would remain where it is and continue to run as it has, if the park board takes over.

PAY ROLL FUNDS TO BUY MILLION IN BONDS DAILY

The thousands of workers in Chicago and Cook county who have authorized pay roll deductions for the purchase of defense bonds and stamps will contribute at least a million dollars a day toward the war effort in 1942. This was told to 100 members of the city and county defense savings staff at a meeting in the Union League club yesterday.

E. R. Seese, chairman of the pay roll savings division of the staff, said 2,000 of the largest concerns in the city and county already have installed pay roll saving plans.

"These are the largest companies," he said. "The total of 1,500,000 employés in the city and county may be said to be 85 per cent pledged. I predict that $1,000,000 a day will be raised here thru these plans in 1942."

Oscar G. Mayer, chairman of the Chicago and Cook county staff, who was in charge of the meeting, said there were 200 firms in which 90 per cent of the workers were coöperating in the plan.

FORMER INMATE OF BOYS' SCHOOL SENT TO PRISON

Melvin Bartholic, 25 years old, 1936 Grove avenue, North Chicago, twice an inmate of Illinois Training School for Boys, near St. Charles, was sentenced to five years in Joliet prison yesterday by Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan. Bartholic pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted robbery. Last November he attempted to rob John Marchiandi, 55, in his North Chicago store. Marchiandi took Bartholic's revolver from him and shot him in his armpit.

The Kane county grand jury in Geneva yesterday returned an indictment charging Noah Betts, colored, 17, an inmate of the training school, with assault with intent to kill.

Betts, whose home was in Chicago, attacked Alfred Vance, a guard in one of the school cottages, with a mop handle on Feb. 23. Vance's wrist was broken in a battle with Betts, who was committed after he was found guilty of armed robbery.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION.

Have you any old fashioned remedies in which you believe?

WHERE ASKED.

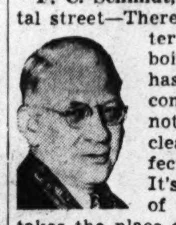
201 North Wells building.

THE ANSWERS.

Gerald L. Wilson, manager finance company, 3741 Eddy street—My mother had a pet cure for warts. I had faith in it but no warts. All you had to do was draw a little blood from the wart with a needle. Place the needle in an old stocking and toss it over your left shoulder in the light of the moon. In a few days the wart would disappear.

William E. Renz, manager tabulating department, 348 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park—A remedy that dates way back and is still good is the one of binding a sore throat with a bright red piece of flannel after plenty of goose grease has been rubbed in. I think the red flannel accomplishes most by suggesting warmth. I know it works.

Dorothy Buchhloz, stenographer, 6700 Minnehaha avenue, Lincolnwood—Once we were camping in a cottage near an old Polish lady. When I came down with a very sore throat she advocated hot water and honey. I recuperated so quickly it's been the old faithful ever since.



F. C. Schmidt, engineer, 5035 Crystal street—There's a very strong, bitter solution made by boiling wormwood that has a lot of uses. I was convinced there was nothing like it after it cleared up a serious infection my brother had. It's good for any kind of wound. It almost takes the place of iodine.

Sally Movery, stenographer, 8018 Kilpatrick avenue, Skokie—When I was a child I used to have many earaches. I learned to have much respect for the remedy my mother used. She'd put a clove of garlic in my ear and overnight the pain would disappear—and so would my friends if I should forget about it.

Mrs. Mildred Johnson, stenographer, 1412 North Laramie avenue—My cure for warts is so old-fashioned it probably dates back to the days of the Indians and their nature cures. But it works. Two or three applications of "milk" from a milkweed will make a wart disappear in no time at all. I treated two of mine that way.

FINAL ARGUMENT ON FARE BOOST DELAYED WEEK

Final arguments before the Illinois Commerce commission on the Chicago Surface Lines' petition for an emergency increase in street car fares from 7 to 8 cents were set yesterday for March 10. The argument was scheduled for yesterday but was postponed by Edward T. O'Connor, chief examiner for the commission, to permit the conclusion of cross-examination of surface lines' witnesses.

E. J. McIlraith, staff engineer for the surface lines, testified that construction of the city's subway in State and Dearborn streets in the last two years had seriously upset and delayed street car traffic in the loop. He will supply data showing the delays.

McIlraith also said that also some street cars are as old as 30 years, they are kept in as good running condition as they were when originally purchased. He added that the company is anxious to replace its old cars with modern equipment as soon as circumstances will permit.

British May Cut Courses to Teach U. S. History

LONDON, March 3.—To enable American history to be taught in British schools other subjects may be taken out of the courses, according to a memorandum issued by the board of education today. The board suggested that comparisons between the British and American forms of government, as well as industry and education, might be developed.

CONDEMN CHOICE OF MISS IGOE AS HEAD OF SCHOOL

Delegates of 31 Groups Adopt Resolution.

A resolution condemning the removal of Mrs. Olive P. Bruner as head of the Spalding School for Crippled Children and the appointment of Miss Celestine Igoe as her successor was approved last night by representatives of 31 civic, social, medical, and religious organizations.

More than 600 persons crowded into two auditoriums at the Chicago Woman's club, 72 East 11th street, and branded the appointment of Miss Igoe as a "violation of the merit principle of employés of the board of education." About 35 persons remained in their seats when a rising vote of approval was asked.

Statement Is Read.

Mrs. John Leonard Hancock, chairman of the education division of the Chicago Woman's club, who presided, read a statement submitted by Assistant Superintendent Frank I. Beals defending Miss Igoe's appointment. Mrs. Hancock, however, acknowledged that the minds of those who opposed the appointment "were made up before we called tonight's meeting."

The resolution approved by the delegates charged that the appointment was illegal since it was not submitted in writing to members of the board of education 48 hours before it was approved Jan. 20; that Miss Igoe had little experience in the care of crippled children, and that Mrs. Bruner had a consistently "superior" rating by the board's own account until the present semester.

Charges Against Mrs. Bruner.

Maj. Beal's statement defended the board's action on the ground that Mrs. Bruner "failed in the most significent aspect of her duties as a school executive—the supervision of the personnel under her direction."

He said Mrs. Bruner failed to assign teachers to supervise the movements of crippled children; that she taxed them by calling too frequent assemblies, and permitted teachers to disregard orders of the board of education.

THEATER KILLER'S HEARING DELAYED FOR MENTAL QUIZ

Arraignment of Clarence MacDonald for the movie murder of Dorothy Broz, Morton High school girl, yesterday was continued until March 18 by Chief Justice Robert J. Dunne in Criminal court.

The continuance was requested by Attorney Donald D. Rogers, representing MacDonald, so that alienists might examine the slayer. Judge Dunne, over Rogers' protest, ordered the examination made by Dr. William H. Haines, head of the county behavior clinic.

In the crowded courtroom with MacDonald were his mother, Mrs. Christine Wagner, Emil Broz, uncle of the slain girl, and many high school students.

David R. Steffey III., convicted rapist, will be sent to prison this morning to start serving a life sentence. Steffey had been granted a stay of sentence until March 13, but the state requested that it be suspended because Steffey, it was said, was "mentally disturbed and might have suicidal tendencies."

U.S. Grants $37,000 to Zion School for 4 Room Addition

Supt. R. H. Lundahl of the Elmwood elementary school in Zion was informed yesterday that a $37,000 grant has been made under the federal war public works program for a four room addition to the school. The school district which will contribute $10,000 more, had asked for a $90,000 federal grant for an eight room addition. The new rooms are expected to be ready in September. The school has 635 pupils.

When Uncle Sam calls for Service—

• Everybody's first job now is to help win this war. To telephone people, this means installing the lines and maintaining the facilities so vital to the production of our war supplies and the movement of our armed forces. Here are typical telephone jobs handled recently in Illinois Bell territory to give the kind of service Uncle Sam expects—

ENLARGED SYSTEMS in plants producing war supplies.

EXTRA LINES to army camps, naval and air-force stations.

NEW EQUIPMENT in new plants set up for war work.

ALTERNATE WIRE ROUTES between vital points.

SPECIAL INSTALLATIONS for points under guard.

SPECIAL TELEPHONES for militia on guard duty.

TELETYPEWRITER FACILITIES for armed forces and war plants.

EXTRA LINES from munition plants to out-of-town exchanges.

NEW LONG DISTANCE LINES connecting vital centers.

DIESEL-ENGINE GENERATORS for service in emergencies.

TECHNICAL AID in civilian defense.

ADDITIONS in central offices to handle war-time traffic.

• Your friends in the telephone company are busy keeping pace with ever-increasing requirements and it is their aim to give you fast and efficient service on every call.

• Our first job today is Service to Uncle Sam.

FALSE TEETH

(OR) HOW GERTRUDE GOT HER MAN

Although Miss Gertrude Gaines had planned
To wed within the year,
Her gay romance was nearly wrecked.
The reason? Lend an ear:

1. Her false teeth, scrub them as she might,
Got dingy, dull and dirty.
Twixt "Denture Breath" and ruined smile,
They made her "old" at thirty.

2. "Get POLIDENT!" her dentist said.
"Its no-brush, no-scrub action
Makes plates and bridges 'look like new'
Gives instant satisfaction."

3. So straightway Gert got POLIDENT.
Her wedding? Very nice!
THE MORAL: All who wear false teeth
Should take the same advice!

Cleans, Purifies Without Brushing

Do this every day: Add a little POLIDENT Powder to half a glass of water. Stir. Put in plate or bridge 10 to 15 minutes. Rinse, and it's ready to use.

CLEAN PLATES, BRIDGES WITH POLIDENT

SCENE OF KILLING VISITED BY JURY IN PAYNE TRIAL

See Window Thru Which Shot Was Fired.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., March 3.—The jury of 11 married men and one married woman trying Mrs. Caroline Payne on a charge of the murder of Charles O. Mattingly today, drove to the Gus Nickas home, thru the kitchen window of which Mattingly was shot to death last July 5.

The jurors stared at the window, almost 6 feet above the ground, to decide for themselves whether rangy Mrs. Payne might have been the unseen person who fired five bullets into Mattingly's back as he sat in a chair chatting with the Nickases and his bride.

Some of the jurors ventured into the kitchen. There they took turns sitting with their back to the window while the woman juror, Mrs. Pearl Acuff of Beanblossom township, stepped up to the window and pointed as if she had a gun.

Visited Payne Residence.

The jurors visited the scene of the shooting after calling at Mrs. Payne's residence. They went there to learn if Mrs. Payne could have seen her love rival giggling in passing the home in a car with Mattingly a few hours before the shooting. Q. Austin East and J. Frank Regester, defense attorneys, asserted that Mrs. Payne fell over in a faint after seeing the giggling from her second story window and knew no more until she was in jail that night, accused of shooting Mattingly.

The giggling is ascribed to Mrs. Lurayne Mattingly, Mattingly's secretary, who married him in 1940 after he had broken his 17 year romance with Mrs. Payne. Mrs. Mattingly, 33 years old, is now the mother of his posthumous daughter, Charlayne, 2 months old.

The jurors' trip was suggested by Sylvan Tackitt, prosecuting attorney, and Robert F. McCrea, his deputy. It followed the appearance of a surprise defense witness, Bennie Fox, who identified himself as an acrobat.

Calls Her "Crazy Woman."

Fox made a long speech from the witness stand in which he said that he abhors publicity. But he was rhumbaing in the clouds at Crawfordsville, Ind., when he read in the paper about Mrs. Payne, "that crazy woman," he told his wife.

Fox followed two physicians who testified that Mrs. Payne was mentally deranged at the time of the shooting. One, Dr. J. W. Wiltshire of Bloomington, gave that as his opinion in response to a 49 minute hypothetical question by Regester.

The other physician was Dr. Clarence H. Marchant, an army medical corps captain, now stationed at Fort Knox, Ky. Dr. Marchant, a former Bloomington physician who treated Mrs. Payne for injuries suffered in an automobile accident before the shooting, added testimony for the defense insanity plea that he had urged Mrs. Payne to go to a mental hospital before the shooting.

Seeks Citizenship

EVELYN ANKERS.

Hollywood, Cal., March 3 [Special]. —Evelyn Ankers, termed by Princess Juliana of the Netherlands "Britain's loveliest girl," filed for American citizenship today. Born in Chile of English parents, she became a naturalized British citizen when she later went to England with her parents. She came to this country two years ago with her mother.

RADIO JOBS OPEN TO WOMEN BEING LISTED IN SURVEY

Job possibilities for women and girls in the radio field are being surveyed by the Illinois Women's Executive committee, a civic organization functioning under the Illinois Office of Public Instruction.

Results of the survey will be made available in time for a free job clinic to be held March 26. Prime objective of the survey is to find out what jobs in the radio industry can be taken by women and it will reveal the qualifications for these jobs. Copies will be sent to every public school in the state.

Mrs. Anne V. Zinser is the general chairman. Miss Judith Waller, director of public service for NBC, heads the radio survey committee. Women from many fields of radio, including broadcasting, manufacture, radio in education, and radio acting are assisting Miss Waller in the survey.

REVIVED BY FIREMEN.

Firemen of Rescue Squad No. 9 revived August Meyer, 72 years old, 5238 Aberdeen street, after he suffered a heart attack in his home yesterday.

SOLDIER VOTES.

The right of the soldier in wartime to retain his voice in the conduct of government was recognized in this state in the Civil war. In that conflict Illinois, along with most of the other northern states, appointed commissioners who went to the camps of the Union army to receive the ballots of the troops. This same principle was followed generally in an act passed in 1917 which provided that troops raised in this state could cast their ballots in polling places to be supervised by the commanding officers of the Illinois troops. That statute is still on the books, but is of dubious value because of the changed nature of the army.

No longer, as in the Civil war and to a certain extent in the World war, is there any semblance of organization of the army by state units. Even the former National Guard units from Illinois have been brought to war strength by conscripts who may or may not have been from this state, and the usual induction process today—whether of a volunteer or conscript—is bereft of any tie to state organizations. Thus the special wartime statutes as they lie on the books today are to a large extent ineffectual in assuring the soldier his ballot.

Unfortunately, the call for the special wartime session of the legislature did not include provision for adapting the law to changed conditions, a deficiency that surely should be removed if there is another special session. The soldier today must vote as an individual.

The way is clear, however, for the vast majority of Illinois men in the army, navy, and marine corps to do so if they wish. What might have been a barrier to their exercising their franchise has been removed by a case won recently in the Chicago courts by Attorney Urban A. Lavery, who sued on behalf of a citizen and obtained a mandamus on the board of election commissioners to apply a 1919 statute which excepted men recently returned from service from the usual necessity of registering as voters. While the mandamus technically binds only the Chicago board, it is expected that election officials thruout the state will find it advisable to follow the rule of law laid down. The Rockford election commissioners, in fact, have already announced that they will do so.

The state constitution, of course, provides that absence on either military or civil business of the United States does not deprive a citizen of his status as a resident of the state. Attorney Lavery's legal victory will prevent voters who are in service from having their names stricken off the voting lists by the operation of the permanent registration system and permit them to vote by the use of affidavits provided by law.

Registration is, of course, only the preliminary to voting, but Illinois also has an absentee voters' law. Any man in service or, for that matter, any one who expects to be absent from his usual residence on election day may within 30 days before the election or primary apply for a ballot, by mail if he chooses. He must vote the ballot and return it in time for it to be counted with the regular ballots in the election. This leaves the matter of voting to the initiative of the service man himself.

If it were possible to do so, election board and other officials should be required to prepare a register of all men on their voting lists who have gone into service and to furnish them with absentee ballots without previous application. This, however, may not be feasible, and it is too late to require it by statute. However, the moral duty does devolve on election officials to use every means of publicity to inform service men that they still retain their franchise in this state and may exercise it if they wish to do so. Certainly no man has a higher right to vote than the one who is engaged in defending his country.

THEY GET THEIRS.

Official announcement of Chicago's 1941 tax rate of $9.89, the highest in history, is followed by an estimate of the Civic federation that the 1942 rate, to produce the money being spent right now by local governments, will be even higher. It is possible, says the federation, that the rate will go to $10.05. Adjusted to the assessment ratios of other cities, this would probably give Chicago the highest tax rate in the country.

This steady climb of the tax rate in recent years suggests that the pegged levy, whatever its merits originally, has outlived its usefulness.

Until the depression Chicago local governments operated on tax rates limited by state statute and, in the case of the county government, by the state constitution as well. Under a limited tax rate the levying government is permitted to charge each property owner, for its services, a fixed per cent of the value of his property. In a growing city such as Chicago was for decades, increases in property values provided automatically the necessary increases in the cost of governmental service.

When property values decline, as they do during a depression, revenues decline proportionally and governments have either to trim their sails or court bankruptcy. The trouble in Chicago was that they didn't trim sail fast enough and when they did the assessed valuations, held at an artificial level too long, declined even faster than it was possible to cut expenses. Real estate valuations were cut almost in half within two years.

The pegged levy was the remedy for that. Instead of being given a fixed percentage of the value of property on which to operate, all local governments except the county were eventually given a fixed sum of money. They were freed from the necessity of trimming sail if property values fell off. In 1941, for example, court decisions knocked more than $60,000,000 in personal property assessments off the books. Had the local governments been operating under tax levy limitations, they would have had to cut their expenditures by nearly $6,000,000. But because they had pegged levies, they went along as they had been and loaded the extra $6,000,000 on the shoulders of the remaining taxpayers of the city. Hence the record tax rate.

The pegged levy has been represented as stabilizing the budget of local governments. It would be more accurate to say that it has stabilized the income of the politicians and enabled them to ignore the economic distress of the citizens.

If governmental income were dependent, as it once was, on property values, politicians would have a selfish interest in increasing those values. They might then collect the delinquent taxes that are destroying real estate values. They might help restore the blighted areas. They might give the city a modern transportation system and thus help stop the exodus to the suburbs. Now, thanks to the pegged levy, all this is a matter of indifference to them. They get theirs even if the city goes to pot.

NAVY PUBLICITY.

Adm. King, commander of the fleet, states that the public will be furnished all information concerning the navy which does not give aid and comfort to the enemy. Side by side with his statement is a photograph of the launching of a new submarine, giving the name, the shipyard, and similar information. No week passes but there are other photographs and accounts of launchings.

The people are happy that there are so many launchings, and happy that they hear at least that much about their navy. They may be curious, however, why the navy is willing to tell so much about its ships before they are sent into action, and so little about them later. There has never been any circumstantial account of the action at Pearl Harbor or off the north Java coast, altho the details are certainly known to the Japanese. The account of the raid on the Caroline and Marshall islands was eventually released, but not until two weeks after the event.

A naval action, once fought, can no longer be a military secret to the enemy, who is the only one who can profit if the facts are withheld from the American public. The secrecy of our naval authorities encourages him to put out claims by radio which may minimize his damage and exaggerate ours. The American people have been receiving much of their war news from enemy broadcasts.

The publicity policy of the American navy seems at radical variance with that of the Japanese and the Germans. The Japanese have maintained such strict secrecy for so many years about their naval building that it is doubtful whether our own navy department knows just how many warships of each category the Japanese have, or whether it is true that they have several monster battleships more powerful than any of ours. We may also be curious about German naval building, but the Germans don't enlighten us. Yet these are the very facts which our navy department gives away.

It would seem that our navy department policy is to release publicity that will comfort the American public, even tho it gives information to the enemy, and to withhold information which, tho known to the enemy, might disturb the American public.

SITTING DUCKS.

Maj. Gen. William [Billy] Mitchell was one American officer who knew what this war was going to be like. The article in last Sunday's Graphic section, containing excerpts culled from his writing by Mr. Wayne Thomis, showed how clear-sighted the general was. If his superiors had spent half as much time in listening to his facts and deductions as was spent in disciplining him, there would have been no Pearl Harbor defeat.

Gen. Mitchell's book, "Skyways," was published in 1930. In it he wrote:

"A fleet in harbor is very vulnerable to air attack, even more so than when at sea, because it is concentrated in a small area. It offers a better target and the water is shallower. Bombs exploding against a bottom in shallow water have more effect than in deep water because the bottom acts like a breech of a cannon and projects most of their force upward."

Presumably our generals, admirals, and secretaries all know that now and they could have known it a dozen years ago. Gen. Mitchell did all he could to make them understand. The simile of the breech of a cannon was chosen, we have no doubt, because the naval hierachy does know guns if it doesn't know airplanes. Gen. Mitchell tried his best to tell his story in terms the navy leaders would grasp, but the admirals and the naval burocracy were determined to disbelieve.

How tightly their minds were closed is suggested by the fact that until recent years the plan was to send the fleet to sea under secret orders the moment war appeared imminent. That maneuver was intended to make it harder for the enemy to find the fleet with his planes or ships, and also to enable our ships to be spaced more widely than in harbor. Perhaps Gen. Mitchell's point about the vulnerability of ships in shallow water may have contributed to the decision. At any rate, this prudent plan was dropped. A large part of the fleet was sent from the west coast to Hawaii to reassure our allies and terrify the Japanese. To make matters worse, the ships were concentrated in a narrow and shallow anchorage.

What happened was just what Gen. Mitchell said would happen.

Editorial of the Day

WHAT A GERMAN SAID ABOUT OUR TANKS.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

A few months before war broke out in Europe, a dapper, quick witted, diplomatic German colonel spent a few days a Fort Knox, Ky., the tank training center of the United States army. Officers who recall the visit of this Nazi tank expert say that his sharp eyes took in everything at maneuvers, the repair shops and on the road—with the exception of a few things which he was told were "confidential." At the conclusion of his visit, the colonel said, "I know well, and have ridden in, all foreign tanks. Your cavalry combat car has more speed, more power, is easier riding than any European light tank. I consider it the equal of the best in Europe." He said nothing about the armor and the gun power of the American tanks.

A short time later, on his return to Germany, he was made a general and put in charge of all tank, truck, and auto production. As the Poles, British, French, and others had the misfortune to learn, Von Schnell's production lines turned out tanks that were superior to their own.

When the United States began shipping tanks to Hitler's foes, many of them went to Libya, where they were badly needed. At first, the British were reported to be pleased with their speed, maneuverability and freedom from mechanical troubles, altho they said nothing about gun power and armor. Then a few stories trickled thru about hits causing rivet heads to fly off inside the tanks with murderous effects on the crew. And now it is just being learned that weak gun power and armor in the standard M-3 light tank may have played a part in the failure of the second British campaign in Libya.

It is understood now that the deficiencies in gun power and armor have been remedied. They should have been remedied long ago.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

A MAKER OF THE SKYLINE.

["Sixty Years a Builder: The Autobiography of Henry Ericsson," published by A. Kroch and Son, Chicago, 1942.]

Here is a "source book," fresh from the printer. In the language of librarians and researchers, a "source book" is a record of first hand evidence that will be used, or deserves to be used, by historians and other scholars. It is a pleasure, indeed, to meet a "source book" at its source.

* * *

"Sixty Years a Builder" is a copious survey of Chicago's architectural history during its most creative period, from the fire of 1871 until 1930. The point of view, however, is practical; this is the narrative of a building contractor who lived intimately with the lumber, bricks, stone, cast iron, steel, and concrete of which Chicago has been made.

* * *

Mr. Ericsson's autobiography is also a document of sociological value. It is the tale of an immigrant, a young Swedish bricklayer, who came here to earn a meager living at rough labor and who rose to an important rôle in the great saga of the city's creation. The story is typical of the American era when individualism was in flower.

* * *

In his earlier chapters Mr. Ericsson depicts his Swedish background and tells how, when the fever to build began to run in his blood, he set out for Chicago as a builder's paradise. Aboard ship he lopped off his first name, which was Axel, and decided to use only his second because it was more American. This book, primarily a chronicle of Chicago's growth, is also an excellent case history of recent immigration in an important racial branch of the American population.

* * *

The work is rich in anecdotes of, and sidelights on, architects, contractors, capitalists, merchants, politicians, and plain folks. Its author has been a maker of Chicago's skyline, and from 1911 until 1915 he was city building commissioner. Now, at the age of 81, he makes a happy debut as author.

WAKE ISLAND.

A tiny dot upon the wide expanse
Of watery waste, you barely raise your head
The China Clippers found you as they sped
From West to East their airy trail along.
From Golden Gate their throbbing motors beat
To Land of Rising Sun—Kipling was wrong
To say that East and West should never meet.
Now East and West have met indeed at Wake;
The warriors from the Land of Rising Sun
Have come in overwhelming throngs to take
Our lonely outpost. But ere their task was done
The waiting world had heard from those far scenes
A thrilling tale—not to, but of, Marines.

The Duke Visits Gasoline Alley.

Hon. Linemaster: Every Sunday morning tha "Jallopy Guild" holds their weekly pow-wow in our alley. To hear them tell it Henry Ford wood be sitting on easy street today if he wood of built his motor their way. Most of these jerks are either scraping spark plugs or washing tha Lizzie, and if theres anything hay-wire with your engine, nine birds will tell you why she aint hitting on all four.

Last Sunday nobody is talking about nuthin except tires. Slats Dorgan, who thinks he knows more about inner tubes than a rubber tree, tells tha gang he's gonna give his casings a light coat of cement. Dummy O'Toole, the bird that was so smart in school that every year they wood let him skip a grade like f'rinstance from 7th to 5th and from 5th to 3d, etc., tells me I'm nutz if I don't change an put my rear left tire on the front right wheel and then take tha front left an put it on the rear right, and then switch the other 2.

Me, not feeling so good on a/c sumthin I et or mebbe drank tha night before, told him to kick that jig-saw around until it got lost. I shows him with a pencil that you cood get tha same result by switching tha front seat with the back one as that wood also create loadus-distribeye-status probiscus, and he says he'll try it but only for one month. Sticky Finnegan then joins tha gang with a treat—his ole lady sent him out with a plate of her home-made doughnuts. After busting 2 teeth on one of em I gets a hot idea—I asks Sticky if his frau coodn set her wash tub on tha stove an make just one great big fried cake, an he says he reckoned she cood. With 4 of these I'd have no more tire worries [pat. applied for].

Scum Rafferty's biggest worry is what are they gonna do with all the air they yoosta put in tires. His cure for tha situation is to tie a roller skate on each wheel. Spose if I was in tha mood I cood invent the perfect substitute, but then I'd hafta pay thousands of bucks income tax an right now I'm scratching to get 58 bucks together. I gotta hunch that as soon as they publish my new song I'll have so much dough that I can put tha can up on stilts and taxi from here on in.

THE STATIONARY SHOE-BILL.

[A Brookfield Ballad.]

Tho we're all queer, we must concede
The shoe-billed stork is strange indeed;
We come to laugh but stay to stare
Because his ways are weird and rare.
He stands stock-still till we conclude
The reason for his lassitude
Is that he's stuffed and on display,
But then a fish swims past his way
And in slow motion, quite genteel,
He stoops to serve himself a meal.
It may not bring you all you wish,
But patience helps in catching fish!

Why We Say "Smart Aleck."

I have been accustomed to seeing the expression, "smart aleck," spelled that way. In the Nashville, Tenn., American, of June 2, 1882, I find that it is spelled "smart ellick." Can you run down its origin? Western Springs.

[It comes from the given name, Alexander, common among early Americans of Scotch and Scotch-Irish background: Ellick is phonetic spelling for a dialect pronunciation of Aleck.]

FATTY TUMORS BENEATH THE SKIN.

THE other day I happened to see in the clinic a woman patient who complained of a large mass at the base of the neck on the right side. She had observed the lesion for many months and naturally was fearful of cancer. She had passed thru the change of life without too much discomfort and now, at the age of 52, was confronted with what she thought was an incurable disease.

Relating her history, she explained that she experienced pains in the neck and shoulder region long before she was able to recognize swelling. Two or three weeks thereafter a tiny lump appeared. This continued to grow until it was as large as an orange. She had been told that it was probably attached to the bone because it seemed firm. Furthermore, extensive surgery—with possible removal of the shoulder blade—would probably be required.

Fortunately, an accurate diagnosis was not difficult. The patient was suffering from a fatty tumor, or lipoma. There was scarcely any interference with function and there was no distress after the first few weeks. Careful investigation showed no other lesions of like character altho it is not uncommon to find a dozen or more scattered in other regions of the body. When they are small they attract little attention, inasmuch as they cause no inconvenience. Occasionally these enlargements are congenital — the victim recalling that father or mother was so afflicted.

It was with great satisfaction that the patient in question was assured that the protuberances came from the structures lying immediately beneath the skin. In this case, a slight deformity was present and hence surgery was advised. This was accomplished and there is no reason to anticipate subsequent complications.

What are these growths? They are composed of fat and no one seems to know why they form. Certain authorities believe that they are related to glandular disturbances. Both the thyroid and the pituitary have been blamed, altho the administration of thyroid extract is without avail.

At any rate, the whole question resolves itself around a type of obesity which is quite in contrast with an abnormal gain in weight. Apparently, local irritation results in a deposit of fat in a special area. If a bruise is responsible, the fact has not been proved. Sometimes women victims associate the lesions with the menopause.

Occasionally, because of the symptoms, the disorder may be mistaken for rheumatism or neuritis. A careful examination, however, may disclose minute, hard nodules beneath the skin. Now and then, pressure upon other parts may cause pain. In consequence, neuralgialike twinges may come and go. If the "bunches" occur in great numbers, there is little to be done unless particularly sizable growths become unsightly. In the multiple variety, the condition usually comes to a standstill.

Fractional doses of X-rays have been recommended in some instances. Should removal be demanded, there is little occasion for concern. It is desirable, however, to preserve an excellent cosmetic result and considerable skill, therefore, is called for.

On the whole, we can look upon these affairs as harmless. Certainly no alarm need be felt, altho it is always wise to determine the nature of every lump.

THE NEW DEAL SCORCHED EARTH.

Chicago, March 1.—Is it the military authorities or the socialistic conspirators of the New Deal who are responsible for the scorched earth policy now demolishing industry and commerce by commandeering all raw materials far in excess of production or military absoption possibilities? To illustrate, the war department shut off canvas for civilian use and ordered bids on 200 million yards. I don't know how long it will take our mills to produce this astronomical yardage running into thousands of miles. Now if the military were asked to break it down into the number of items for which it is intended, or asked how many such items it would produce, I venture that no military man could answer or even approach the total figure. The same situation prevails with most raw and prefabricated materials. H. F. KORS,
Ex-Marine.

ARE THE TIRES TO ROT?

Shreveport, La., Feb. 27.—Rubber for military and civilian uses is the most important domestic question before the people. Some of the men in congress and in Washington officialdom have been playing dirty politics with the synthetic rubber program despite our military needs and especially in the face of a growing public demand for civilian rubber.

Our taxpayers and workers need rubber; they cannot work effectively in our motorized economy unless they have rubber for their cars. They must keep on rolling on rubber in order to pay the high taxes necessary and provide the large production demanded for our war effort.

At the rate our stock of tires in warehouses is being used, the stock will last 10 years; but long before that most of it will rot in warehouses. Some method of rationing them monthly to civilians of all classes should be found within six months. MARVIN T. BLAKE.

SUGGESTION FOR "INDISPENSABLES."

Cicero, Ill., Feb. 28.—It is unfortunate that a myth of "indispensability" keeps many of our congressmen and senators from joining the armed forces. The misfortune to the nation is cataclysmic when one considers that many of these gentlemen talk and have been talking a spectacular fight for several years.

I suggest that every candidate for congress in this fall's elections pledge to the people that if defeated at the polls he will enlist for combat duty as a buck private, asking specifically for duty in the actual theater of war in the Pacific.
B. R. MATHEWS.

WAITING FOR HERBERT.

Evanston, Ill., March 1.—One of your correspondents recently asked why Sen. Claude Pepper was not in this war. I will go him one better. Where is that great promoter of wars, Herbert Agar of Louisville? I would think by this time he would be half way to the Philippines.
IRVING KELLY.

PRO-BABUSHKA.

Whiting, Ind., Feb. 29.—Young girls' heads wear the warm scarfs for protection against the wind and rain, instead of donning those dinky hats that are on the market today.

Nothing has come over the girls at all, except that they are getting to be a little bit more sensible about clothes.

I wear a babushka and I haven't had a head cold or an earache since I started wearing one. VERNA STANITCKE.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—One of the charms connected with the wearing of a babushka is that it covers up the mass of tangled, matted, uncurried horsetail hair that so many of the girls are wearing.
OLD BACHELOR.

Fox River Grove, Ill., Feb. 28.—I cannot see anything wrong with babushkas. They are just as attractive as the dresses which we wear today, and where did we get the styles? Our big puff sleeves and fullness in skirts also came from the peasants. A BABUSHKA WEARER.

HAILS ICKES' TALENTS.

Libertyville, Ill., Feb. 27.—We just read your article about Secretary Ickes. We'd like to make Ickes an honorary member of the Lake County Catch Basin Cleaners' association. Of course, he's a Democrat, but I reckon we could strain a point to get him in. Any man who can write like he does about cesspools is a natural for us. With a standard honey dipper and rubber boots, he could show us how to make a bad one smell like a rosebud in 10 minutes.

He's been too modest all these years, but the love for the dark water can't be kept hidden. Scavengers are born—not made; they have a language all their own, and he's a master of it. Yours for bigger and better cesspools.
G. GRIMES,
Assistant Scavenger.

ROOSEVELT FOR DICTATOR.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—Do the people who wish to ban the 40 hour week realize that this has put more people to work and will continue to do so? Estimates quoted in recent newspaper articles are that there will still be 2 million men unemployed at the end of 1942 so there is no immediate prospect of a labor shortage. What kind of men do we have in congress?

The President has proved himself to be the laborers', farmers', and everybody's friend. He has always considered how a law would affect the persons involved. If congress insists on proceeding the way it has been, I would suggest we let President Roosevelt have all the power and eliminate congress altogether.
MRS. WILLIAM NAGEL.

WHY THE TEACHERS ARE USED.

Chicago, Feb. 27.—A teacher in the Voice of the People raises the question "Why did Mr. Henderson pick on the teachers to register the public for sugar ration cards?" I feel sure that when the plans were discussed in Washington it was felt that the school system was the only organization capable of handling this enormous job. I have no doubt also that it was felt that the teachers, because of their previous education and experience, would do the most intelligent job.

The teachers are one of the groups for whom the price control act was created. They have fixed incomes. They are, therefore, interested in any and all plans, including rationing, which will keep the cost of living within reasonable limits. They have, like all persons with fixed incomes, a stake in preventing inflation.
JOHN C. WEIGEL,
Regional Director, Office of Price Administration.

LEADING REPUBLICANS?

Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 27.—I am not a prophet, but my mother's name was Sibyl. I predict that as time goes on Messrs. Knox and Stimson will be held responsible for more and more; that at the proper time the public will be led to believe that these two leading Republicans have been tried and found wanting —they will be forced to resign and held up to the voting public as reasons for keeping the Republican party out of government leadership. C. H. HIBBARD.

INCOME TAX RETURN.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there any statute of limitations covering the following and if so what is the time limit?

1. Federal income tax fraud or evasion?

2. Personal property tax fraud or evasion—Illinois? M. C. B.

1. No. The 1938 law, section 276, says: "In the case of a false or fraudulent return with intent to evade tax or of a failure to file a return the tax may be assessed, or a proceeding in court for the collection of such tax may be begun without assessment, at any time." We assume that you are not asking about criminal prosecution.

2. We find no limitation. The general statute of limitations does not run against the state.

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 33.

1. Which of the following would most likely be stored in a canister?
   Tea   Potatoes   Coal   Wheat.
2. Which one of these is a star?
   Capella   Aurora Borealis   Jupiter   Mars.
3. Which one of the following possesses a stator?
   Radio   Sparkplug   Electric motor   Plow.
4. Which one of these men is associated with an autopsy?
   Mechanic   Playwright   Teamster   Doctor.
5. In the open fields, when exposed to a cold wind, cattle stand with which part of their bodies facing the wind?
6. TAXES INCREASED IN 27 DISTRICTS OF LAKE COUNTY

Report $1,328,340 Gain in 1941 Valuations.

The 1941 tax rates for Lake county were announced yesterday by Walter Smith, head of the tax extension division in the office of Jay B. Morse, Lake county clerk. They show an increase in 27 of the 41 school districts, a decrease in 10, two in which there is no change, and two in which the rate is not yet tabulated.

Smith set the total actual assessed valuation at $82,880,072, as compared with $81,551,732 for all Lake county property for 1940. The rise, of $1,328,340, is accounted for by an increase of $638,754 in real estate assessments, $395,331 in personal property assessments, and $210,915 in railroad valuations. Capital stock valuations dropped $116,660.

Highland Park Rate Highest.

Property owners in Highland Park district 109, West Deerfield township, will pay the highest rate, $7.72 per hundred of assessed valuation. Increases ranged from 3 cents in Lake Forest district 67, West Deerfield township, to 68 cents in Winthrop Harbor district 2, and decreases from 3 cents in Lake Forest district 67, Deerfield township, to 8 cents in Wauconda.

Waukegan, the county seat, has had the highest rate for many years prior to this. The announced decrease of 12 cents for Waukegan township was made possible thru a rise in the total valuation of $677,537, of which $516,122 represents an increase within the Waukegan city limits. As a result of the increased valuation there was a drop in the Waukegan Township High school rate of 14 cents.

AGNES STEWART ESTATE'S VALUE SET AT $737,450

Inheritance tax appraisals were filed yesterday by Attorney General George F. Barrett in the estates of Miss Agnes Nannie Stewart, daughter of William Stewart, pioneer Chicago grocer, and Albert Meyer, retired president of the People's Pure Ice company.

The estate of Miss Stewart, who died last April, was valued at $737,450, with the federal estate tax estimated at $133,533 and the state inheritance tax at $69,066.

The value of the Meyer estate was given as $971,637, of which about $200,000 was left to charity. The federal tax on this was estimated at $173,175 and the state levy at $27,648. Mr. Meyer died last May.

JAMES SHEEAN, RETIRED TRANSIT ATTORNEY, DIES

James M. Sheean, retired Chicago attorney who had been prominent for many years in transportation matters, died yesterday in a hospital at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He was 75 years old and had maintained offices at 231 South La Salle street until March, 1941, when he retired as attorney for the Chicago Railways company, the north side branch of the surface lines. He formerly was general counsel for the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and was one of the framers of the 1907 local transportation ordinance. Burial will be today in Evergreen cemetery in Fort Lauderdale. Mr. Sheean was unmarried.

OBITUARIES

Dr. Wallace F. Grosvenor.

Dr. Wallace F. Grosvenor, a physician in Chicago for 41 years, died last night in his home at 839 Buena avenue after an illness of two months. He was 72 years old. Born in Galesburg, Ill., he was educated at Oberlin college and Rush Medical college. He was attending obstetrician and gynecologist at the Ravenswood hospital. Dr. Grosvenor leaves his widow, the former Julia Haugan of the banking family, and four daughters. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in the Wellington Avenue Congregational church.

Rev. Joseph Ruetershoff.

Services for the Rev. Joseph Ruetershoff, 81 years old, pastor emeritus of St. Philomena's Catholic church, Kedvale avenue and Cortland street, will be held at 10:30 a. m. Friday in the church, with Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch officiating. Father Ruetershoff died Monday in St. Elizabeth's hospital. He retired from the St. Philomena pastorate a year ago after serving from 1927. From 1891 to 1927 he was pastor of St. Henry's church.

Robert F. Ward.

Funeral services for Policeman Robert F. Ward, 42 years old, will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in St. Leo's church. A World war veteran, he died in Hines hospital Monday. For the last 10 years he had been a member of the state's attorney's staff and was assigned to fake accident investigations. His home was at 8114 South Sangamon street. His widow, Letitia, survives.

James T. Davis.

Funeral services for James T. Davis, 73, treasurer and member of the Libertyville Volunteer fire department since 1910, will be held at 3 p. m. today in the Libertyville Methodist church. Mr. Davis died Monday in his home at 227 1st street, Libertyville. His widow and daughter survive.

Very Rev. Sir George A. Smith.

LONDON, March 3 (AP).—The Very Rev. Sir George Adam Smith, 86 years old, chaplain to the king in Scotland since 1933 and well known as a lecturer in the United States, died today at his home at Balerno, Midlothian.

Isaac E. Hirsch.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 3 [Special].—Isaac E. Hirsch, retired editor and publisher of German language newspapers, former banker, and a figure in art circles, died last night. He was 83 years old.

Maj. Gen. J. C. Breckenbridge.

Summit Point, W. Va., March 3 (AP).—Maj. Gen. James Carson Breckinridge, 64 years old, retired, of the United States marine corps, died of a heart attack yesterday at his home here.

Col. Sir Joseph Reed.

LONDON, March 3.—Col. Sir Joseph Reed, former chairman of the Press association and part owner of the Newcastle Chronicle publications, died yesterday. He was 74 years old.

GILBERT PORTER, RETIRED LAWYER, IS DEAD AT AGE 78

Gilbert Edwin Porter, prominent retired lawyer, died early today at the home of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III., 650 Lake road, Lake Forest. He was 78 years old, and lived at 900 North Michigan avenue.

Mr. Porter was senior member of the law firm of Isham, Lincoln, and Beale on his retirement about nine years ago. He still maintained an office with the firm, however. Mr. Porter specialized in corporation and traction law, and for years represented the Insull interests. He was born at Eau Claire, Wis.

His wife, the former Edith Lorimer, died many years ago. Mr. Porter leaves a son, Burford L. Porter of Lake Forest, his daughter-in-law, and five grandchildren. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

Mr. Budlong was born in Chicago 73 years ago. His home was at 1426 Chicago avenue, Evanston. He was known in real estate as well as financial circles. He was a member of the Union League club. He leaves his widow, Irene; three daughters, Mrs. Mary L. Nelson, Mrs. Helen H. Lennon, and Mrs. Irene Haney, and three sons, Joseph L., Thomas H., and Lyman A. Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Friday in the chapel at 5200 North Western avenue.

Lays Boy's Death on Rails to Fear of Snowball Attack

His use of the railroad tracks as a way home to avoid being struck by snowballs thrown by older children was given yesterday as the reason for 9 year old Arkell Conzelman's presence on the Illinois Central right of way near 73d place, when he was struck and killed by a train Monday. The explanation was given by the boy's father, Garold F. Conzelman, to a coroner's jury. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death. A young companion of his son told him of the incident, the elder Conzelman testified. The Conzelman home is at 7219 Woodlawn avenue.

GENE O'CONNOR, SECURITY FRAUD PROSECUTOR, DIES

Long Illness Fatal to Aid of Courtney at 41.

Eugene J. O'Connor, chief investigator for the blue sky division of the state's attorney's office, which inquires into securities frauds, died last night in Mercy hospital after a long illness. He was 41 years old.

Eugene J. O'Connor.

Mr. O'Connor was in a coma for more than a week before his death. He entered the hospital Dec. 8 after returning to Chicago from Hot Springs, Ark., where he had gone for treatment.

Close Friend of Courtney.

He had headed the investigation branch for more than 10 years and was a close friend of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney. He had won commendation for his inquiries into bucket shops and the illegal sale of worthless and unregistered securities.

Familiar Loop Figure.

Born in Lima, O., Mr. O'Connor came to Chicago 18 years ago and was an insurance investigator before joining the prosecutor's staff.

He lived in Hotel Sherman and was a familiar figure in the loop. He was unmarried.

WILL PROBATED FOR DISPOSAL OF MORRIS FORTUNE

The will of Ira Nelson Morris, former minister to Sweden, was admitted to probate yesterday by Judge John F. O'Connell. Mr. Morris, who died Jan. 15 at the age of 66, left an estate valued at more than 2 million dollars.

The bulk of the fortune is left in trust to the widow, Constance Lily Rothschild Morris; a daughter, Constance Irene, and a son, Ira Victor Morris. On their deaths the estate passes to Ivan Morris, son of Ira Victor Morris, and to any grandchildren born subsequently. Should Ivan and other possible heirs die before coming into the estate, it passes, on the deaths of the other legatees, to Michael Reese hospital to found an institute for treatment and investigation of nervous and mental disorders.

The will of George W. Overton, of Geneva, filed yesterday in Kane county Probate court, bequeathed a personal estate of $200,000 to his immediate relatives. Mr. Overton, who was president of the Reuben H. Donnelley corporation, printers, died Feb. 16 in Palm Springs, Cal. He was 54 years old. Under the will, the personal estate is placed in trust and all the income is to go to the widow, Mrs. Florence Overton, for life. On her death a son, George W. Jr., and two daughters, Jean and Catherine, are to inherit the fund.

Letters of administration for the $35,000 estate of Dennis Cooney, 1st ward politician and one time Chicago vice king, were granted yesterday to his widow, Mamie C. Mrs. Cooney, who will receive the estate, told Probate Judge John F. O'Connell that her husband did not leave a will. Cooney died Jan. 19.

$900 ESTATE MISSING; HEIRS' AUNT JAILED IN CONTEMPT CASE

Mrs. Helen M. Whitehurst, 54 years old, of 10432 Artesian avenue, charged with failure to account for $900 of an estate for which she is administrator, was sentenced to six months in jail by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday.

Mrs. Helen Whitehurst.

Mrs. Whitehurst was held in contempt of an order for an accounting given to her in March, 1940. The alleged shortage was in the estate left to her nephews, George and Anthony Kozich. She also is alleged to have failed to account for $3,000 of the estate of Paul R. Hershman, an inventor. He left his property to her, but lawyers said claims against the estate were more than the $3,000, and have not been satisfied.

In 1922 when Roscoe [Fatty] Arbuckle, a moving picture star, was on trial in connection with the death of a party girl, Virginia Rappe, Mrs. Whitehurst was one of the defense witnesses and her testimony was regarded as helping Arbuckle to acquittal.

CHURCH BOUND JOLIET WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO

Mrs. Frances Venegoni, 81 years old, of 3308 South Ottawa street, Joliet, was killed yesterday on her way to early mass in the Sacred Heart Catholic church, Joliet, when struck by an automobile driven by John Novak, 27, of Coal City, who was not held.

John Schillo, 25, of 1000 North Lorel avenue, part owner of a mop and chemical company, died in County hospital of injuries received Sunday when his automobile crashed into a steel abutment at Chicago avenue and Halsted street.

Mrs. Anna Schlesinger, 80, of 3724 Leland avenue, died last night in the Swedish Covenant hospital of injuries suffered Feb. 5 when she was run down by a truck at Lawrence and Lawndale avenues. The driver did not stop and is still being sought by police.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 133 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 105 were killed in Chicago, where 3,397 were injured.

W. S. HINCHMAN'S WIFE DIES AT 33 AFTER OPERATION

Mrs. Virginia Wallace Hinchman, 33 years old, of 844 Prospect avenue, Winnetka, died yesterday in Evanston hospital. She had recently returned home from Arizona, where she went after an operation. Mrs. Hinchman was the wife of W. Sanger Hinchman, vice president of the Globe company, retail coal merchant. She was a director of the Service club and was a past director of the Junior league of Chicago. She was a graduate of North Shore Country Day school and The Principia, Elsah, Ill. Besides her husband two sons survive.

2 Chicagoans Write Tender, Moving Novel

"Instruct My Sorrows," by Clare Jaynes. [Random, $2.50.] Published last Thursday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Two young Chicagoans, Jane Mayer and Clara Spiegel, collaborating under a manipulation of their first names, have made their debut as novelist[s] in a book which bears as much resemblance to the usual first novel as a good Paris gown used to bear to something whipped up by one's own needle.

"Instruct My Sorrows" might be Volume 10 of the collected works of Clare Jaynes, it is written with such veteran ease and elaborates its theme with such honesty and skill. There are no furbelows of melodrama [to go back to the dressmaking idea] to conceal the delicate line of its cut. There are no mannerisms of style to clutter up its basic rightness. "Instruct My Sorrows" is kept always beautifully and artfully uncluttered by its author[s].

◆

The simpler, the subtler, is a good artistic standard, and here is one of those deceptively simple books—"just the story of the first year of widowhood of an attractive young woman, at first tragically lonely, trying not to cling to friends, awakening rudely to her new status as fair game for amorous males, and finally falling in love."

That might outline its plot, but it would give no hint of the poignancy of the first weeks of the heroine's sorrow, her fine-sensed determination not to be like her mother, who had made a career of widowhood [and incidentally that mother is some one you'll not forget!], or to hang over the minds of her adolescent twin sons a black crêpe veil thru which they must grope for the memory of their father.

◆

That hurried outline gives no hint of the fresh honesty of the heroine's attempt to make a life for herself in a world in which she has always been half of a marriage nor, finally, any clew whatever to the tender reality of the love story which is made at times gay, at times as touchingly ironic as that one of Dorothy Parker's about the girl who waited and waited almost heart-breakingly for the telephone call from her lover.

The authors will be guests at an autographing party at Marshall Field's book department next Saturday afternoon.

Craig Rice Turns from Mystery to New Type of Tale

"Telefair," by Craig Rice. [Bobbs-Merrill, $2.50.]

Craig Rice, who has written some of the toughest and most torrid mystery yarns of our day ["Trial by Fury," etc.], has deserted her tremendously popular vein for the veiled shadows of the mists between reality and dream life in "Telefair."

An island in Chesapeake bay, closely guarded by starving hounds who will tear any human to shreds, is dominated by an ancient sadist who has the shell of a gentleman, but is filled with the curdled custard of hatred. On the island are a wraith of a girl, a saddened doctor, a venomous Negress, a powerful Negro, and other black servants as deaf as they are dumb.

Comes to this island one young, healthy, and hearty lad, David Telefair. What happens will have to remain between the covers of the book until you crack it. To this reader Craig Rice has gone all out for something she has no genius for and passed up something she has.

Craig Rice is one of Chicago's best known writers of mysteries. F. B.

Two Pleasant Books Recall Bygone Days

"I, Too, Have Lived in Arcadia," by Mrs. Belloc Lowndes. [Dodd-Mead, $3.]

"The Pool of Memory," by E. Phillips Oppenheim. [Little-Brown, $3.]

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

Here are two books that look backward across the years, tracing leisurely, pleasant lives in eras now gone forever. Did they really happen?

◆

Mrs. Belloc Lowndes, author of many novels, writes a memoir of her family in "I, Too, Have Lived in Arcadia." Told by means of many letters, it is the story of charming and gifted Bessie Parkes, who in her late 30s married Louis, the son of Hilaire Belloc, the painter; of Madame, his mother, and of the delightful, quiet, gentle life they led in the midst of their family near Paris.

The only cloud in their existence was the Franco-Prussian war of 1870. This is described graphically in letters, and the taking of Paris by the Germans and the invasion and destruction of the old château nearby reads very like present history.

Mrs. Lowndes ends her memoir when she and her brother, Hilaire Belloc, the historian, were still small children.

Mr. Oppenheim writes as easily as a man breathes. His biography, "The Pool of Memory," flows along like a brook, rapidly, cheerfully, almost always in pleasant places. His sojourns in this country, in Germany, in the sophisticated resort towns of the Riviera, in England, and in Guernsey are brightly narrated and interlarded with famous names: W. Somerset Maugham, Maurice Baring, the infanta of Spain, the king and queen of Siam, P. G. Wodehouse, Arthur Somers Roche, W. J. Locke, Noel Coward, "Elizabeth" [Mary Countess Russell], and many others.

At any other time this English author's memoirs might seem important, but somehow such sentences as "Monte Carlo tennis suffered a terrible loss with the passing of George Butler" sound more like the captions for a New Yorker cartoon than for a serious biography.

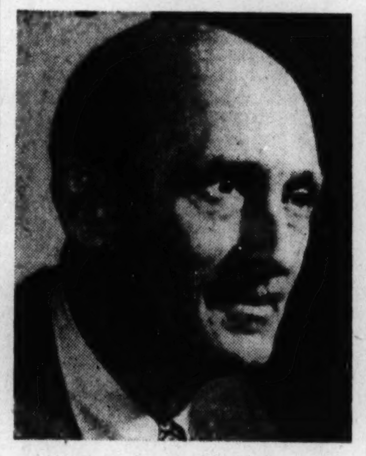
Centennial Edition.

The Johns Hopkins University Press has just announced a centennial edition of "The Works and Letters of Sidney Lanier." It will be in 11 volumes, sell for $25 a set, and be sent to subscribers next December.

Naturalist



William Beebe, noted naturalist, whose latest book, "Book of Bays," is reviewed below.

"Book of Bays," by William Beebe. [Harcourt-Brace, $3.50.] Published last Thursday.

William Beebe is that rarest of writers, a man who probably knows better what he is writing about than any one but who never lets his readers feel that they are untutored.

We're all just fellow travelers with William Beebe. We see the boa constrictor he held for hours in one hand while he wrote his notes with the other, see thru the almost transparent moonfish, follow the rare sea elephant, watch the fish sleep [right], hear shrimp expressing their emotions aloud [right], and feel the murderous sand-flies who "turned themselves into seagoing, machine-gunning planes." But Mr. Beebe seems just as surprised or pleased or shocked at what he finds or gets just as flea-bitten as we are. Never is he teacher pointing out facts. With one of the best prose styles in the American language added to his vast knowledge, readers of William Beebe have really something when they get a book by him.

◆

About that fish sleeping . . . Mr. Beebe graphically tells us: "Altho the sleeping positions of fish were more familiar to me than to the others, yet I had forgotten that slumber could be so sound with these staring-eyed, lidless, aquatic little being. The confusing mottling and spotting of the red-eyed blennies in the daylight had given place to successive broad bands of dark brown and pale colors of several shades. The change in all was toward darkness, unlike many other species whose scaly pajamas tended toward the light colors. . . . Some of these . . . were almost horizontal, leaning far over against a seaweed covered rock, while others were dreaming stiffly erect, braced by all their fins and quite insensitive to touch of hand or net." Which makes the question of fish sleeping pretty vivid.

◆

And about those equally hard to believe shrimp emotions, he says informatively and convincingly: "Lacking vocal ejaculations, the shrimps can still express their emotions aloud, and as their homes are invaded, a veritable crescendo of castanets, of short snaps and clicks, would arise, near and far, as they frantically snapped their chelae in horror or in despair."

Those are only two of the book's myriad eye-opening wonders about simple creatures. You'll discover the most fascinating treasures in its pages. F. B.

Romains Adds New Panel to His Vast Saga

"The New Day," by Jules Romains. [Knopf, $3.] Published last Friday.

To the vast literary panorama of Paris, the "Men of Good Will" series, the first volume of which was published in 1933, Jules Romains has just added another panel. It is the tenth volume in the American edition, the nineteenth and twentieth in the original French.

In 20 books and 20 years the author has brought his chronicle only from 1908 to 1922. When or how the series will end only time can tell. But it has long before now assumed the definite design of two parallel lines perhaps meeting only in infinity, the design of the panoramic chronicle rather than the usual fictional design of the circle in which the end is inherent in the beginning.

◆

"The New Day" is composed of "Promise of Dawn," a wholly inadequate translation of the French "Cette Grande Lueur a l'Est," which has something of excitement and splendor in its words, and "The World Is Your Adventure," the literal translation of the French title. Both of the books deal with Russia and the soviet experiment as it was viewed by French intellectuals of 1922.

The first book is, except for the inevitable and long Gallic excursions into sex, a series of intense conversations among young intellectuals. These intellectuals, disillusioned by the war, are "facing a new kind of insecurity, the insecurity of the laws," and realizing that in the official meetings for the reconstruction of Europe they "never find the slightest sign of any real sense of the future . . . of any wish to appeal to the enthusiasms of the masses or the spirit of mutual trust among nations—in short any kind of generosity or grandeur of spirit." To them Russia seems ideologically that glorious dawn of the French title. They are eager not only to talk about it but to go there and see for themselves, which they do in the second book.

Their journey to Russia is highly disillusioning, but the disillusions of French intellectuals of 1922 do not make timely reading in 1942. "The New Day" seems one of the minor pieces of the Romains masterpiece.

In the first half of "The New Day," the seeds of France's downfall are mere hints of the state of mind and government into which France came, hints to which M. Romains will surely give emphasis in future volumes, for the two leading characters of the saga are a young newspaper man and his friend, who is secretary to a member of the chamber of deputies, both of whose lives are associated with France's political life.

Incidentally, so vast is the cast of characters in the series that it takes 35 pages to list and docket them to date. Which gives you a graphic idea of the scope of M. Romains' epic.

Navy Pier Training School's Library to Get 5,000 Volumes

Navy trucks will pick up 5,000 volumes from the Victory Book campaign headquarters to fill the shelves of the new library opened this week at the Navy Pier Naval Training school.

Thus far 50,000 books have been received at the Chicago public library repository alone toward Chicago's goal of a million books for our boys in service. Evanston has collected more than 12,000 books to date, and, according to A. Kroch and Carl Roden, director and associate director, the book campaign is gathering momentum every day.

One book, a hundred, or even old Aunt Jessie's whole library that you can't find a place for, will be welcomed at any branch of the Chicago public library, the main library, or any bookshop. If you have more than 50 to contribute, telephone Randolph 5520 and a truck will pick them up.

"The Sunset Graze"

By Luke Short

Copyright: 1942: By Frederick Dilley Glidden

SYNOPSIS.

Exhausted, his horse lost, Dave Wallace is picked up in the desert by a stage. On the same stage is Beth Hilliard, coming home after two years' absence. Beth is greeted in Vermillion by Jess Gove, who orders her trunk unloaded. Dave, recognizing the voice of the man unloading Beth's trunk, knocks him down. Later the sheriff, Arnie, a Texan, and the man Dave knocked down call on Dave.

INSTALMENT III.

ORDERED TO LEAVE.

The sheriff came over and sat on the edge of Dave's bed, a lazy seeming man with a quiet arrogance about him that he wore like his clothes. His bull bold eyes were not even curious as he regarded Dave and then the room.

A pale beard-stubble accented the muscular lines of his face, and he was, Dave guessed, a man that had seldom known and never liked defeat.

The puncher Dave had hit stood sullenly between the other two, hands on hips, a smoldering dislike in his face, which was already swelling into lopsidedness from Dave's blow.

Dave placed the towel carefully on the foot of the bed, and, picking up his shirt, said mildly to Arnie: "So you're still curious."

"Not me," the Texan drawled, not even looking at Dave.

"I am," the sheriff put in.

Dave tilted his head toward the puncher he had hit. "What does he say?"

The sheriff asked, "What do you, Ed?"

"I never seen him in my life."

Dave said calmly, "You're a purple liar."

It was as if they knew he would say this, and didn't care. The man he had hit only looked away. The sheriff's expression of solemn gravity didn't change. Arnie, the real leader here, didn't seem to notice, and Dave thought swiftly, "He's done this before."

Arnie lifted a leg across his knee and held the ankle of his boot. With his other hand he prodded his Stetson off his forehead and ran his fingers thru the hair on his temple several times, scratching. He yawned; he was bored.

The sheriff said to Dave, "What's your story then?"

Dave slipped into his shirt, and while buttoning it he considered carefully. He wouldn't be believed in what he said. On the other hand, he was curious and feeling a little reckless.

He said slowly, "Six days ago, I rode in on a horse camp by the last waterhole over in the Mesquite hills—his camp." He nodded to the puncher he had hit. "I was headed across the desert for Vermillion and I asked about the water at the Bunchgrass tanks. He said he'd come across three days ago, and the tanks were full." He paused. "They weren't."

"Not this time of year," the sheriff said.

Dave said drily, "I can tell you that now."

"What happened?"

"I lost a good horse and a pack horse," Dave murmured, watching the puncher. "I got pretty hot, too."

Arnie drawled indifferently, "You got a poor memory for faces. Ed wasn't there."

Dave smiled, still looking at the puncher. "I know. He was with you, wasn't he?"

Then he looked at Arnie, who was watching him carefully. For five full seconds Arnie regarded him, and Dave saw the slow controled anger mount in his eyes. "That's right," Arnie murmured.

"Sure," Dave jeered softly.

There was a moment of uneasy silence, and then the sheriff said in rising protest, "That's not a thing to accuse a man of. I happen to know you're wrong."

"Sure you do."

The sheriff was vaguely aware of the irony in Dave's voice, and his protest continued. "Why would a man send you out on the desert to a dry waterhole? For a raggin'? I don't believe it."

"It wasn't for a raggin'," Dave murmured. His attention was on the puncher now, and he saw the man's face smooth out, saw him brace himself for what was coming. "I just asked him a question."

Dave could feel the tension in the room. Arnie was utterly still on the bed. Only the sheriff seemed puzzled, unaware of what Dave was saying.

"What question?" the sheriff asked.

"How Tip Macy really died."

The sheriff's face showed only bafflement. Dave judged him a man who tried to add onto his years and hide a slow wittedness behind a deliberateness of manner. He was sure of it when the sheriff said protestingly, "Macy died in a blizzard. We had a bad winter here."

Dave said nothing. Slowly, then, it came to the sheriff that something was not right here. His bafflement made him frown; he turned his stubborn face to Arnie. "I don't get it."

Arnie drawled idly, almost contemptuously, "He claims Ed sent him on to the Bunchgrass tanks because he asked about Tip Macy."

"But Tip Macy died in a storm."

Arnie nodded toward Dave and said patiently, "He don't believe it."

"How did he die?" the sheriff asked Dave.

"That's what I'd like to find out."

Both Arnie and the sheriff looked at Dave. Arnie then rose lazily and drawled, "That's what the ruckus was about, Kinsley. He made a mistake. Ed was with me." He paused. "You want us any more?"

"No," Sheriff Kinsley said in a stubborn, grim voice. "No, go on."

Arnie and Ed went out. When they were gone Sheriff Kinsley folded his arms and said flatly, "Tip Macy worked for Chevron, the Dun River Cattle company. That was Arnie Chance, their foreman, and Ed Seegrist, a Chevron hand. Tip Macy was caught in a blizzard up in the high country this winter and buried there, because the snow was so deep we couldn't get to him. His death was reported to me, and I certified it." His voice was growing hard. "Now, either you're crazy or a damned troublemaker. Which are you?"

"You been handed some taffy, sheriff," Dave murmured.

Sheriff Kinsley pushed away from the wall. A slow flush worked up into his broad face, making it stubborn, making the dark eyes hard and angry.

"I'm being handed some right now," Kinsley said.

"No. I want to make a suggestion."

"So do I. I suggest you go back where you came from. Starting tomorrow."

Dave didn't reply.

"There's a stage west out of here tomorrow. You be on it."

Kinsley wheeled, and tramped out of the room, slamming the door behind him. Dave stared at the door a moment, the caution dying from his face, his eyes almost musing. He was thinking that he had found all the proof he needed tonight. It would never hold up in any court, but then it was not meant to. It lay in Ed Seegrist's face, in the elaborate, but watchful indifference that Arnie Chance had shown him.

His memory fled back to that winter afternoon in the barroom of a way station town some 600 miles from here. The steady snow outside had kept the crews from the neighboring ranches at home. He was waiting in the warm and almost deserted saloon while the blacksmith downstreet replaced a broken felloe in the wagon wheel he had left.

There was a drink in front of him, and he was leafing thru the stack of newspapers on the bar, when he saw the item. It was in the weekly newspaper printed on the Ute reservation over on the Dun river range.

It said: "Cattlemen are suffering heavy losses in the constant blizzards that are sweeping this country. A grim note was added to these tales of suffering when it was learned that Tip Macy, well known on the reservation here as an employé of the Dun River Cattle company, was found frozen to death after the blizzard of 19th inst. Macy, a plains country man and unaware of the ferocity of our blizzards, apparently was set afoot by his horse and after several hours of wandering without sufficient clothes succumbed to exposure."

He had read it three times and rejected this information, as men do who instinctively refuse to believe a friend is dead. He had written to Tip Macy that afternoon, with paper and pencil borrowed from the bartender. In the weeks that passed, he received no answer from Tip, nor, what was stranger, Tip's wife. And then, in the slow winter months when a man had the leisure to think, he had arrived at the decision that something was wrong. He founded his belief on two things—Tip Macy was not a plains country man, for Dave had spent two winters with him in that hell of the Montana high country.

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

CHICAGOANS FIND FISHING GOOD IN FLORIDA WATERS

Plenty of Rod and Reel Action for Sportsmen.

BY BOB BECKER.

Salt water game fish in the waters near Miami, Fla., have been making many Chicagoans take considerable exercise with their rods and reels, say reports from the Gulf stream front. Groupers, barracuda, snappers, sailfish, mackerel, amberjack, and many other species have fallen before the sportsmen down in the suntan and palm tree country.

Al [Alsab] Sabath and Al Jr. forgot their troubles over Alsab's recent performance at Hialeah Park by going fishing in the relative seclusion of the Shark river area. There, aboard Capt. Lewis C. Watson's cruiser, Jeanne, the horse's owners and their party connected with 56 channel bass, snapper, and jack crevalle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wecker and Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Coburn of Chicago also fished on Capt. Watson's cruiser. Thirty-six snapper, four jack, and other fish were taken. Down in the keys, out of Snake creek, Capt. Jimmy Moore, on the boat Betty M.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Kelly, Thomas Kelly Jr., and two anglers from Cleveland shared two barracuda, eight kingfish, two muttonfish, two grouper, a dolphin, and a bonito.

Large Sailfish Entries.

Allan Corson Jr. of Miami writes that more than 40 sailfish topping 50 pounds have been entered in the Miami tournament so far this year. This comes close to equaling last year's entries. No former tournament will duplicate this season's mass entries of large sails, with fish of 88, 84, 73 [two of these], and one 70 pounder entered.

Corson adds that the northerners who are planning a trip to southern Florida to try their luck can get an illustrated fishing guide by sending 6 cents for postage. The address: Box 4434, Miami.

The salt water fishermen who troll their lures around West Palm Beach are still talking about the ways the sailfish struck during the recent Derby. This year the anglers set a new record in the number of catches. Art Keil writes that they landed about 200 more sails than in any previous Derby. Herman Vogtman of Kego Harbor, Mich., won one of the trophies. His sailfish was 8 feet 4 inches long and weighed 80 pounds.

Chicagoans Setting Pace.

Chicagoans seem to be setting the pace at Fort Lauderdale. Every week finds two or more visitors from this city applying for membership in that city's sailfish club.

Otto A. Langos of 5233 Warner avenue caught his admission fee, a 30½ pound sailfish, aboard Capt. Jim Coward's Toxaway on light tackle. The sail, tho a small one, gave him plenty of action on his six ounce tip. Langos brought it in in 35 minutes.

Mrs. Elsie Trankina of 705 North Lockwood avenue was aboard the Easy Seas, Capt. H. C. Mattson, when she hooked her first sail. Near the end of the battle she was ready to hand her rod over to some one else, but she caught her second wind when the fish went deep and sulked for a while. Then she brought it to gaff, a 40½ pounder that measured 6 feet 10 inches.

Kingfish Provide Sport.

There was a recent lull in the sailfishing merry-go-round at Fort Lauderdale, for every one went after kingfish—a gamey fighter. The first school was two and one-half miles long and a half mile wide. It was only about a mile off shore. Every charter boat and private boat that invaded this school reported catches of 20 to 65 kingfish, most of which were released when not badly hurt.

Light tackle enthusiasts had the time of their lives, for the kings were so numerous that it was possible to drift and catch big editions of the mackerel family on plugs or feather jigs with bass tackle.

NORTH CAROLINA LAW PUTS AX TO ROADSIDE SIGNS

62,000 Billboards Fall Under New Ban.

Raleigh, N. C., March 3 [Special].—Electrically lighted advertising signs, to be blacked out nightly along America's coastlines under a federal order issued last Saturday, are not the only ones to suffer from present day conditions.

In the last four months more than 62,000 roadside signs have fallen in the path of North Carolina's safety and beautification drive.

Armed with pickaxes and torches, an army recruited by the state highway commission has destroyed two-thirds of the signboards that were outlawed when a new state law went into effect Nov. 1, 1941. The blitzkrieg has sent the boards toppling all the way from the Tennessee border to the Atlantic ocean.

Other Signboards Doomed.

Most of the 30,000 remaining signs are doomed, but, under the law's provisions, those situated on leased land may stand until next November unless the owners fall in with the suggestion that they remove them voluntarily. Several of the leading outdoor advertisers have agreed to take care of the matter this spring.

The ordinance forbids the placing of signs within 50 feet of the center of a state highway, except on places of business. It does not apply to premises within corporate limits.

Civic Group Aroused.

Little has been done about the roadside advertising cluttering approaches to many towns. The contrast between billboardless countryside and billboarded municipal approaches is so striking that civic organizations are being stirred to action. The highway commission is working out a joint program with city governments for the uniform removal of signs.

Last November's ban was imposed as a measure of public safety. Signs closer than 50 feet to the center of the road were held to be traffic hazards, in that they both obstructed the vision and distracted the attention of drivers.

NATCHEZ'S RIVAL GROUPS PUT TOUR DATES TOGETHER

Natchez, Miss., March 3 [Special].—For the first time in the 11 year history of the pilgrimages to the gardens, estates, and antebellum houses of Natchez, the tours sponsored by the rival organizations are being run almost concurrently this year.

The Pilgrimage Garden club began its tours Sunday and will keep them going until April 1. The Natchez Garden club's dates are March 7 to April 7.

Mrs. Balfour Miller, director of the first pilgrimage in 1911, later led a group out of the Natchez Garden club and started the rival society. There has been more or less bitterness ever since.

This spring the members of the two groups have got together to the extent of agreeing to hold their special entertainments on alternate evenings, so that visitors may take in all the tableaux, pageants, and programs of Negro spirituals.

Garden Tour in Florida.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 3 [Special].—Seminole Lodge, home of the late Thomas A. Edison, and the Henry Ford estate will be opened to the public March 12, when the Community Congregational church holds its annual garden tour.

Spring Arrives in Shops with New Fashions

BY REA SEEGER.

You can meet spring more than half way without any longer journey than a shopping trip downtown to see new spring fashions presented in a verdant spring atmosphere. Pots of tulips, trees in flower, birds, and everything in the way of spring setting. . . . It's the most refreshing set in town. Everything on display is new and designed for spring, suits, coats, sports clothes, spectator sports costumes, hats, new dinner and evening gowns, hats, gloves, jewelry, and footgear.

New silhouettes are on parade in the first spring fashion shows. You'll see the newest checked taffetas, the sleek suits of tiny shepherd checks, the contrasts that are new and different, cinnamon brown with pale green, copper with black and white shepherd checked suit, the copper color in the topcoat. You'll see the new filmy black sheers in the short party dresses, the many black sheers trimmed with yards of black lace; dozens of new blouses and shirtwaist blouses in checked ginghams, in transparent sheers, in pique in striped and plaid taffetas in crêpes with either short or long sleeves.

New silhouettes in spring dinner and evening clothes stress the straight and narrow streamline, also the side swept closing and graceful cascades of ruffles either of the crêpe or sheer.

Long gloves of strong or pastel colorings are smart this spring and summer to come. They are worn well above the elbow, sometimes wrinkled right over the sleeves of the dress. Printed dresses with wool jackets or long coats still head the list of the favorite costumes, the brighter the color, the more defiant the color contrast the smarter and more high fashion the model.

Hats are more bewitchingly feminine and flirtatious than ever before. Lace, all kinds of flowers, net, ribbon, embroidery, colored beads and lacy braid all combine to make these provocative headlines.

German Woman's Club to Observe Anniversary

The Independent German American Woman's club, organized in 1913 as a civic group by Mrs. Anna M. Schaedler, will celebrate its anniversary at a birthday luncheon today in the Hotel La Salle. Because of the notable work accomplished for the Red Cross and in the Liberty loan drives during the first World war under the presidency of the founder, the members have returned Mrs. Schaedler to office to direct their war work during the present conflict. She will preside at the anniversary celebration.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is a tenet of good bidding that a good six card suit should be bid twice before a four card suit is mentioned. This is doubly important when the six card suit is a major and the four card, a minor.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 heart	1 spade	2 hearts
3 diamonds	3 hearts	4 clubs	Pass
4 diamonds	Pass	4 spades	Pass
5 diamonds	Pass	6 diamonds [final bid]

Perhaps South was ill advised to take out his partner's four spade bid to five diamonds, but the fact was that North had raised a problem where none really existed. Analyzing the bidding from South's point of view, it will be seen that he had reason to feel that four spades might be a very difficult, if not impossible, contract to fulfill. North's sequence of bids strongly indicated five spades and five clubs. If he had two hearts and one diamond, South's powerful suit probably would be worthless for discarding purposes, since the spade king could not be an eventual entry [after the trumps were removed] and since the opponents might take it upon themselves to remove North's singleton diamond.

But whether South was right or wrong in his decision to go to five diamonds, the point remains that North should not have caused the dilemma. It was misleading and, thus, illogical for him to show the spade suit only once before mentioning his four card minor.

As to the final, and fatal, slam bid, North maintained that he had been influenced by South's take-out of four spades; that, since this was match-point duplicate, in which major suit contracts are highly preferable, he had figured that only a slam would compensate for playing the hand in a minor suit. Philosophically, this thought was sound enough, but North's values simply did not measure up to his ambitions.

Miss Frances Munson to Be Bride in East

BY JUDITH CASS.

AN engagement announcement of interest here concerns Miss Frances Grahame Munson, daughter of Mrs. Hunter Munson of Providence, R. I., and of Curtis B. Munson of Washington, D. C., who will be married to Chester Coburn Darling Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Darling, also of Providence.

Mrs. Curtis Munson is the former Edith Cummings, daughter of Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, who gave a debut tea for Miss Munson in Lake Forest during the 1937-'38 season, when the Munsons were living here. Miss Munson is a graduate of Chatham Hall, in Virginia. Her next younger sister, Miss Marion, was introduced to society here at a similar party two years later. The youngest of the Munson girls, Miss Anne, made a debut in Providence last winter but did not "come out" in Chicago.

"Cobie" Darling is a graduate of St. George's school in Newport and is with the royal Canadian air force. He and Miss Munson will be married on Saturday, March 14, in Christ church, Washington. Mrs. Mark Cummings and her son, Dexter, are going to Washington for the ceremony. Mrs. Dexter Cummings is not going, for she will be traveling south a bit later to take the children to Hobe Sound, Fla., for their spring vacations from school.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Munson are in New York just now, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Munson.

Russell N. Crawford Jr. Is Married in Tennessee.

Marriages in which young men in the armed forces are principals often occur with such breathtaking swiftness and in such odd parts of the country that friends of the families don't hear the news until the excitement is all over. Mr. and Mrs. Russell N. Crawford departed suddenly for the south a few days ago to attend the marriage of their son, Lieut. Russell N. Crawford Jr., and Miss Harriett Hope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lapsley W. Hope of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The wedding took place at 11 o'clock Monday morning in the chapel of an army post near Chattanooga, the Rev. Charles O'Donnell officiating. The bride wore an attractive gown of navy blue sheer material trimmed with white silk faille and an imported white Swiss lace straw hat trimmed with a flag blue veil and French violets. Around her neck was a string of pearls, her wedding gift from Mr. and Mrs. Crawford, and she carried a bouquet of purple orchids.

Breakfast Given by Bride's Parents After Ceremony.

Mr. Crawford was his son's best man. Miss Isobel Wert was her cousin's maid of honor. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hope gave a breakfast for the immediate families. The evening before there was a supper for Mr. and Mrs. Crawford at the fashionable Fairyland club on Lookout mountain. Lieut. Crawford and his bride went south on a short wedding trip and will be at home near his post in Louisiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford will visit their daughter, Mrs. Norman L. Cavedo, the former Suzette Crawford, and her husband in Richmond, Va., and then continue on a little trip thru the south before returning to Chicago.

The Herbert P. Zimmermanns and their daughter, Miss Lee Zimmermann, have just returned from Florida, where they went for the wedding last Saturday of the Zimmermanns' other daughter, Margaret, and Richard Donovan Allen. Mr. Allen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ami L. Allen of St. Charles; the Robert Fauntleroys, and the John Van Nortwicks also went south for the wedding, which took place in the little Episcopal church in Panama City. Mr. Allen and his bride will be at home in Panama City. Her brother, Richard, was unable to attend the wedding as he is stationed in Texas.

Jean Craig Woolhiser's Engagement Announced.

Another interesting announcement comes from Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ladue Woolhiser, who told of the engagement of their daughter, Jean Craig, to Ensign William Merritt Belding at a tea recently. Miss Woolhiser attended Wells college and was graduated last month from Northwestern university. Her fiancé completed the naval reserve training course at Northwestern university after having attended Dartmouth college and receiving his degree from Northwestern university. He is the

Leaving for Trip South After Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. William Rufus Abbott Jr. leaving for a wedding trip south after their marriage yesterday. The former Elinor Whiting Hagey and Mr. Abbott were married in the Astor street apartment of her mother, Mrs. A. Harris Whiting. The bride's dress was an attractive one of navy blue brightened with yellow, with which she wore a black straw hat, also trimmed in yellow. Mr. Abbott and his bride will live in Wilmette.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

War Influence.

War comes to the law offices: an efficient legal stenographer typed a long affidavit, typed it neatly and accurately. But—one letter was wrong. The deceased, she wrote, was "interned" instead of "interred."

Watchwoman.

The watch repair service of a large department store includes among its employés an alert woman. Almost as interesting as her presence in a business handled predominantly by men, is the way she came to be an expert estimator of watch repairs. She began as a stenographer in a watch company, but found she was more interested in the mechanical side of watchmaking. So, she worked from a clerical job into a technical one. Today, she is one of the few women authorities on watches and "what makes them tick."

She owns the first baguette watch to be imported in the United States, a possession of which she is more than a little fond. Most people are fond of their watches, she says. In fact, it is not at all unusual to tell a customer that the repairs will exceed the cost of the watch and have the customer say, "Go ahead. My father gave it to me when I graduated from high school . . . and I'm sort of attached to it."

Most interesting letter accompanying a watch sent to the department for repair was from a foreign born member of a religious order who wrote a formal, but descriptive note of instruction for regulating his watch: "Don't make go forward. Don't make go backward. Make go on time."

Office Economy.

Don't paste label over label: delabel. Please the economy committee in your office and your office manager by using folders over again in a neat way. Cut white blotters into pieces 2 inches by 5 inches and set them on end in a glass less than half filled with water. When they have absorbed the moisture evenly, place one on each labeled tab of your folders which you can pile a dozen high. Place a weight on top and leave for 30 minutes. Give a gentle pull to the edge of each label and it will forsake the tab without resistance.—Condensed from the Filing Bulletin.

Bowling Widows.

A letter from "Two Ex-White Collar Girls" enters a plea on the behalf of wives [and husbands] of office league bowlers. The two ex-white collar girls think bowling is great. They like to bowl, too, but having homes to care for they have little time during the day to bowl. Evenings the alleys are taken over by leagues. Their husbands bowl with their offices which means dinner "out with the gang," and having fun at the bowling alleys. O. K. they say. But, if the wives aren't permitted to bowl, why can't they watch? "Maybe the others in the office won't like it," their husbands say. So—off they go—man-fashion.

The wives are young and attractive. They're interested in their husband's scores. After all, they've been in business themselves and have some idea what it's all about. And what they want to know is: Why don't office leagues ask their bowlers to bring their wives . . . or husbands [as many office girls are married] if only as onlookers?

Zion Previews Its Impressive Passion Play

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Zion, Ill., March 3 [Special].—The reverent tongues of the Oberammergau Passion Players have been stilled by war. But here in this quiet little city, poised between Milwaukee and Chicago, preparations are once more afoot for the starting of the pious spectacle which annually attracts thousands from all parts of the country.

This evening, after two months of careful rehearsing, 300 residents of this religious community left their typewriters and bakeries, their department stores and gas stations to don the traditional garments of the Passion Players for their seventh consecutive year. It was a preview of the play which will be given here in an uncompleted auditorium for 14 performances beginning the afternoon of April 5.

In brocades and silks, which would rival the robes of kings but which have been sewn by the women of the Christian Catholic church over the last seven years, the players strolled around the auditorium chatting incongruously in modern parlance. They spoke of the boys who will not be in the play this year, the boys who are serving in the army and navy.

"Our boys didn't go into the service without experience," explained Elder Jabez Taylor, the gentle-voiced man who originated, wrote, and continues to produce the play.

"Most of the boys acted as soldiers in the play. There was James Green now with the army in Hawaii, Roger Brown in the navy, Dan Green and Stephen LaBelle, both in army, and several others. We miss them but the men and women who enact the main rôles are still with us."

And they were all there this evening, acting their parts with a sincerity that went deeper than mummery. Mary Magdelene, the lithe, pretty Miriam Emanuelson who has played the rôle for three years, dashed from waiting on tables at the Zion dining room to appear calmly graceful on the stage. Ralph R. Pihl, secretary of Zion Industries, Inc., left his desk to ascend the throne of Pilate. James H. Snelling, a traveling salesman for the Zion Baking company, accepted Judas' 30 pieces of silver for his fourth year.

When the Christus walked on the stage a hush fell on the players. "This strange pause has been happening for seven years," Mrs. Sophia Swanstrom, a member of the faculty of the Chicago Conservatory of Music who has directed the play since its beginning, commented. "Our Christus is a dapper young man off stage, but on it he is ageless."

It was difficult to envision the Christus as a "dapper young man" who is Leroy Peacy, 27 years old, a salesman. In the simple garments worn in the rôle he looked as if he stepped from the pages of a family Bible.

As he stepped off the stage a stranger complimented him on his acting. "No greater honor has ever been bestowed on any man than to be given the opportunity to play this part," he declared slowly.

He walked to a seat in the audience and sat down between two women wearing the flowing veils and robes of the women of the Holy Land. One turned up a pert, young face and began to chatter gayly.

"That girl talking to the Christus is our Mary, the sister of Lazarus in the play," Elder Taylor said. "She is Mrs. Verne Lucy, who is very much like her part. The other is indeed a Martha. I know. She happens to be that hard working woman, Mrs. Taylor, my wife."

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Thru the Dark Night.

One by one, the lights that make a fairyland mosaic of Chicago's night skyline are flickering out. Gone is the gleaming nocturnal white of the Wrigley building, a cardboard cutout against the black. Gone is the wide blue swath of the Palmolive beacon cleaving the clouds and mist; gone are the great shafts of light that brought into bold, stern relief the skyscraper at its base; gone with them is the imaginary clock of near north siders, wont to set their watches when the bold relief disappeared for the night at 11 p. m. Gone is the luminous green from the campanile of the Carbide and Carbon building, and gone is the quaint Juliet cap of blue light from the dome of the Pure Oil tower. Nearly all have been doused voluntarily, as they are considered aerial landmarks, but the Juliet cap was dimmed for two reasons: [1] defense; and [2] the fact that neon lights now are almost impossible to replace . . . And so we retrace our steps 167 years to see Sheridan's The Rivals, a rollicking farce of 1775 when gentlemen wore the tiered capes women wear now and the English language was used with far more precision than in 1942 . . . And our scouts begin to write us of things they see by day rather than by night, such as the gray and white cat snugly curled around a pot of pink azaleas in a florist's window at 6 a. m.

Private Cheshire.

From the many tales brought to light at the Chicago public library by the Victory book drive, we offer that of Private Bernard Cheshire of Chanute field. Private Cheshire dropped into the main library one day, a sad and disconsolate soldier. Here he was, the guy who thought up the idea of people giving pianos and radios to boys in camp, and here was his squadron without a thing. Why, they didn't even have books. The camp library had received 2,000 books from the Victory drive, but that library was a mile and a half away from his barracks, and altho Abraham Lincoln could walk five miles for a book, his squadron was pretty tired at the end of the day. Why, the boys were willing to chip in and buy books and pay for a truck to haul them. How about it? The library naturally said, "Nonsense, my lad, we have books for you whenever you can take them. How about Saturday?" "Fine." Saturday, back he came. Not only did he have a truck and fellow squadronites, but he had stopped at the Service Men's center here and picked up some sailors. Then, as library officials sat and mused over it all, the two services defied ancient tradition and together tossed books into the truck and bounced away.

Small, Stray Items of the Week.

Each member of the Blithe Spirit company gives Fred Waters, property man, a dollar a week toward the purchase of a defense bond; they then draw lots to see who gets it. Estelle Winwood won the first bond . . . A newsboy at 63d and Drexel builds a fire in a round tin can these chilly nights, holds his papers over it and shouts, "Come and get it while it's hot off the press!" . . . The Chinese boy crouched in the window of a laundry to arrange the sign, "Free — mending, darning, buttons sewed on." As he jumped out enormous holes gaped in the heel of each sock.

Add Nonsense Stories.

The Englishman was intent on finding out just what the psychiatrist did. "I find out if people are sane or insane," the psychiatrist told him. "Yes," the Englishman persisted, "but how?" "Well, we ask the suspects questions. Here's one. We say, 'Admiral Cook made three trips around the world. He died after one of these voyages. Can you tell me which trip it was?'" The Englishman pondered and pondered. "By Jove!" he cried at last. "That is a deep one, isn't it?"

Guide in Blackout.

And a woman actually did go into a store and ask for neon stockings.

Cheers Acclaim Lhevinne After He Gets Going

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Russian-American pianist, Josef Lhevinne, got better and better as his Orchestra hall piano recital of last evening went along.

The performance of "The Star Spangled Banner" with which he opened possessed a highly dubious value as a morale builder. It was tentative and erratic. Things improved somewhat in the Schumann Toccata, altho the playing had an offhand, top-of-the-keys quality that prevented much of the composer's meaning from coming thru.

The Weber C Major Sonata, interesting because it is so seldom played in its entirety, drew quite an ovation. The reason for this was difficult to understand, for the rondo—the famous "perpetual motion"—was done with such faulty articulation that the ear could not follow it.

In the Chopin group the great Lhevinne of old began showing thru. The A Flat waltz from opus 64 was light and purling, the Nocturne in F sharp major wonderfully songful. In the F Minor Fantasy and parts of the F Sharp Minor Polonaise the pianist seemed a little preoccupied and uninterested, but the middle section of the latter piece had a phenomenally delicate and beautiful texture.

Pleasing performances of Debussy's "Le Soirée dans Grenade" and "Poissons d'Or" led to the stunning "Islamey" fantasy of Balakireff. The encore group included two preludes and two études of Chopin. By this time Lhevinne was in superb form, and cheers were mixed in with the applause.

He tossed off the so-called "Winter Wind" and "Butterfly" études with an intoxicating ease. In the former piece the exquisite tonal balance characteristic of this pianist, which had been absent thru much of the evening, triumphantly reasserted itself.

Miss Frances Munson to Be Bride in East

son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Hurlburt Belding Jr. of Glencoe.

Almost every day before Miss Georgette Hill's and Kenneth F. Burgess Jr.'s wedding on March 14 is reserved for a party for them. Tomorrow Mrs. Walter Cherry Jr. will give a handkerchief shower in the home of her mother, Mrs. Roger K. Ballard, for the Lon C. Hills' daughter and another bride to be, Miss Marie Louise Richards. On Saturday Miss Caroline Sutter will entertain at tea in her home.

Nan and Helen Wieboldt to Give Supper Sunday.

Co-hostesses at supper on Sunday night in the home of the Raymond C. Wieboldts of Evanston will be their daughter, Miss Nan, and her cousin, Miss Helen Wieboldt. The spinster dinner is set for Tuesday night in the home of Miss Natalie De Clerque. Mr. and Mrs. James Fitzmorris are inviting young friends of Miss Hill and Mr. Burgess to a dinner party in their home on Thursday, the 12th. Friday is reserved for a luncheon which Miss Richards and Miss Alice Graff will give in the former's home and for the bridal dinner at the Onwentsia club. Just before the wedding on Saturday the bridegroom's sisters, Miss Joan Burgess and Mrs. James Edward Day, will give a luncheon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Sr.

Miss Marjorie Rile, who is to be Miss Hill's maid of honor, is expected this week-end from her home in Montclair, N. J. Also arriving this week-end to join in the festivities will be Mrs. Day, whose husband won't be able to come from their home in Washington, D. C., until the day before the wedding.

Friends of Orphans Giving Annual Style Show Today.

The Friends of Orphans will give their sixth annual fashion show at 2 o'clock today in the Marine dining room of the Edgewater Beach hotel. For the book review, planned by Mrs. Vilas Johnson, Mrs. James S. Harvey will discuss Struthers Burt's "Along the Street." Mrs. Carl Judsen is chairman of the fashion show. Proceeds from the party will go to the Lake Bluff orphanage, the Lydia Children's home, and the Central Baptist Children's home.

The Key club's choice yesterday of Mrs. Andrew P. Rebori as its best amateur model of 1942 and recipient of a $50 defense bond was an appropriate one, for the former Barbara Willson's husband, Lieut. Rebori, is off in the service flying bombers.

Members of the casts of "Panama Hattie," "The Rivals," and "Blithe Spirit" will be the guests today of the Friends of Drama at a matinée breakfast in the Crystal room of the Palmer House. Dennis King of "Blithe Spirit" will speak on "Drama." May Barron of the Civic Opera company will be the soloist, accompanied by Leo Heim. After the breakfast the group will attend a matinée performance of "Blithe Spirit."

British YWCA Head Tells of Lessons Blackout Teaches

Mrs. Arthur Grenfell.

Mrs. Arthur Grenfell, president of the British YWCA and member of the executive committee of the World YWCA, told the advisory board of the University of Chicago YWCA at luncheon yesterday in International House that blackouts have made England see the need for small recreational groups. "The small groups make the parties more informal and more friendly. We have found that it's possible to dance your way into good citizenship," she said.

Mrs. Grenfell, who is making a tour of Canada for the Mrs. Winston Churchill Fund for British Service Women, arrived in Chicago yesterday and will be the guest of the YWCA during her stay here. Mrs. Edwin S. Mills, a member of the national YWCA committee on interpretation, will give a luncheon for Mrs. Grenfell at the Chicago Athletic club this noon. Mrs. Grenfell will be a guest at a tea which Mrs. Stanley Harris of Winnetka will give in her home this afternoon.

Tomorrow Mrs. Grenfell will speak at a luncheon for YWCA members and friends at the McCormick YWCA. She will discuss further the work of British women and the YWCA in wartime.

Lake Shore Club Party.

Palm trees and artificial moonlight will contribute a southern atmosphere tonight to the Lake Shore club, which is holding the second in its series of five Palm Beach Nights. The club's program includes dinner and an aqua show.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Grant Mitchell.

Hollywood, Cal., March 3—I'm doing this piece about Grant Mitchell partly because this year Grant celebrates the 40th anniversary of his stage debut; but I'm also doing it because I figure I owe it to the guy. Any newspaper man must owe him at least a little something—and here's why:

The summer of 1914 Grant did a favor for his old friends and producers, George M. Cohan and Sam H. Harris. Cohan and Harris had a new play by Roi Cooper Megrue and were going to give it a week's test at Atlantic City. The leading rôle was not Grant's type of thing, but would he help out and walk thru it just so the producers could get an idea? Grant would and did—and wouldn't take any pay for his week's work.

Came fall and a wire from Playwright Megrue. The play was to be produced at the Cohan theater, and would Mitchell take the lead? The man they had for the part wasn't right. Mitchell would and did, altho he thought the rôle was a better fit for John Barrymore or Doug Fairbanks.

It was a comedy about selling soap. Grant decided to do some technical research. Being distantly related to the Colgate family, he went over to New Jersey to the soap works and afterward to dinner at a Colgate house. He told the plot of the play.

"It sounds great," said Sidney Colgate, "but I'm afraid it is going to cost us all a lot of money. It will give our competitors ideas."

The comedy was "It Pays to Advertise." It came at the beginning of the advertising boom. Mitchell's and two other companies toured the country for years, and the play undoubtedly gave impetus to a new kind of big business—a business which helps pay the wages of people like me.

You can't guess Mitchell's age within 10 years. His skin is firm, His eyes are clear, his step is brisk, his mind is swift—and he's 68. But Hollywood pegged him right off the bat when he arrived a dozen years ago as a noted stage star.

"I'd been playing leading men, carrying the love interest, on the stage," he recalls. "It wasn't hard to do. A little extra hair and some makeup and I looked fine—in the theater. But you can't fool a camera that way.

"I came out here to do a picture at Warner's. A little B, but one of the best I was ever in, called 'Man to Man.' They cast me as a man who'd been in prison for 18 years. The first day, they were getting ready to work and somebody hollered, 'Where's the boy?' I got up—and then I noticed nobody was looking at me. They were talking about another actor. I felt foolish, but I pretended I'd got up to dust the seat of my chair and sat down again."

Today, Mitchell is playing Frances Dee's father in Columbia's "Meet the Stewarts" and trying to keep Frances from marrying Bill Holden. Forty years ago next October, at Chicago's Grand Opera house, he was carrying a spear in Richard Mansfield's "Julius Caesar."

Engagements

Mrs. Samuel McNeal Schall of Glenlake avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Margaret Patricia, to Waldo Engelbrecht of St. Louis, Mo., son of Mrs. Ernst Engelbrecht of Bay, Mo. Miss Schall was graduated from Northwestern university. Her fiancé, also a graduate of the university, did postgraduate work at the University of Munich in Germany and at the University of Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Fagin of Argyle street announce the engagement of their daughter, Pearl, to Leo Lipman, son of Mrs. Anna Lipman of South Kildare avenue.

Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. John William Young of East 61st street announce the marriage of their daughter, Lillian Louise, to Ensign Theodore Smith Stritter, U. S. N. R. The wedding took place on Feb. 2 in Pensacola, Fla.

Talk on First Aid.

Mrs. Lucille Brazzolara will give a talk on first aid at a meeting of the Half Century club at 1:30 o'clock today in the Morrison hotel.

[ADVERTISMENT]

Must Your Daughter Risk Happy Marriage on Half-Truths?

Many a mother, reared in days of false modesty, dreads to "tell her daughter." Little wonder so many young wives unknowingly risk happiness by using overstrong solutions of acids for feminine hygiene which can actually burn, scar and harm delicate tissue.

Today such doubts and unhappiness, such risks are needless. Science has given womankind Zonite. So powerful, it kills instantly all germs and bacteria with which it comes in contact. Deodorizes—by actually destroying odors. Protects personal daintiness. Yet! Zonite is non-caustic, non-poisonous, safe for delicate tissues. Over 20,000,000 bottles bought. Get Zonite at your druggist today.

Kidney bean salads may be very good with the right dressing, and they can be completely "blah" if they aren't mixed with something tart. Chopped pickle, a sharp French dressing, or a very vinegary boiled dressing will add character to the salad. A little minced onion and green pepper help out flavor, too. There should be some crunchy contrast to the softness of the beans, as well.

Molasses cookies come crisp or soft. The crispness or softness depends partly upon the recipe, partly upon the storage. Store crisp cookies loosely covered, and place soft ones in a jar or can with a tight fitting lid.

Soft Molasses Cookies.
[About four dozen.]

1 cup margarine or vegetable shortening
⅔ cup sugar
1 cup molasses
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour

Cream shortening and sugar until very light. Add molasses and sour milk. Sift dry ingredients together and add. Mix well. Chill dough. Roll out thinly and cut into rounds. Bake on greased cookie sheet in 375 degree oven. Do not let oven get any hotter, as molasses cookies scorch quite easily.

A veal breast weighing 3½ or 4 pounds, and stuffed for cooking, will take about 2 hours of braising in a 325 degree oven. Have the dealer prepare the meat for stuffing. Use your favorite bread dressing, which should contain some minced onion and dredge the meat with flour before browning it well all around. Then add salt and pepper, and ¼ cup water, cover it, and bake for 2 hours or time it will take to become tender. A little more water may be added from time to time. Or use sour cream as the braising liquid. Veal and sour cream are good flavor complements.

Orange Floating Island.
[Eight servings.]

3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
2 cups scalded milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
Orange sections
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
¼ cup confectioners' sugar

Combine egg yolks, orange rind, salt and sugar. Gradually add hot milk, stirring constantly. Cook over hot water until custard will coat a metal spoon, about 5 minutes. Stir constantly during cooking. Add vanilla and cool quickly. Arrange orange sections in dessert glasses. Cover with the soft custard. Fold confectioners' sugar into stiffly beaten egg whites, a little at a time, and drop by tablespoonfuls into boiling water. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Lift meringues from water and place one on top of each custard. Chill and serve.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE.

Baked bananas with a richly flavored sauce win today's prize of $5. The prize winning dessert was submitted by Mrs. Albro B. Prindle, 49 North Prairie street, Batavia, Ill. Mrs. Prindle also serves the bananas as a delectable accompaniment to roast lamb. You'll approve the comparatively small amount of sugar required by the recipe.

Send your favorite original, economy, or treasured family recipe to the Mary Meade Recipe Contest. Your recipe may win a prize of $5. Write in standard recipe form, giving clear and complete directions.

Baked Bananas.
[Serves six.]

6 bananas cut lengthwise in halves
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
⅓ cup sugar

Place the split bananas in a shallow baking pan. Combine butter, lemon juice, and sugar, and brush the mixture over the bananas. Bake in a hot [400 degrees] oven for about 15 minutes, basting during the baking with the lemon mixture. Remove to serving dishes and serve topped with the currant sauce.

Currant Sauce.

⅓ cup currants, washed
⅔ cup water
3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon rum
Few drops red coloring.

Place currants and water in a small saucepan, cover, and simmer until tender, from 7 to 10 minutes. Combine sugar and cornstarch, and add with butter to the currants. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until the sauce thickens. Add rum and coloring to give an attractive appearance.

Your Handwriting

BY SHIRLEY SPENCER.

The French daredevil, Allo-Diavolo, first World war aviator with five medals, has a very interesting signature which illustrates a point I'd like to make—that one's profession or consuming interest is often reflected in one's writing by symbols. Of course, this signature has been consciously built up, but I've seen just as vivid examples that have been done entirely unconsciously.

First look at the long swinging strokes which are like the two wings of a plane, then the swooping, whirling, loop-the-loop strokes, followed by the terminal tail spin. The showmanship in this signature is deliberate as one might expect from a stunt flyer, auto and bicycle racer and acrobat, but the philosophy, recklessness, and thrilling exhibitionist is all mirrored here. This signature is a life story in itself.

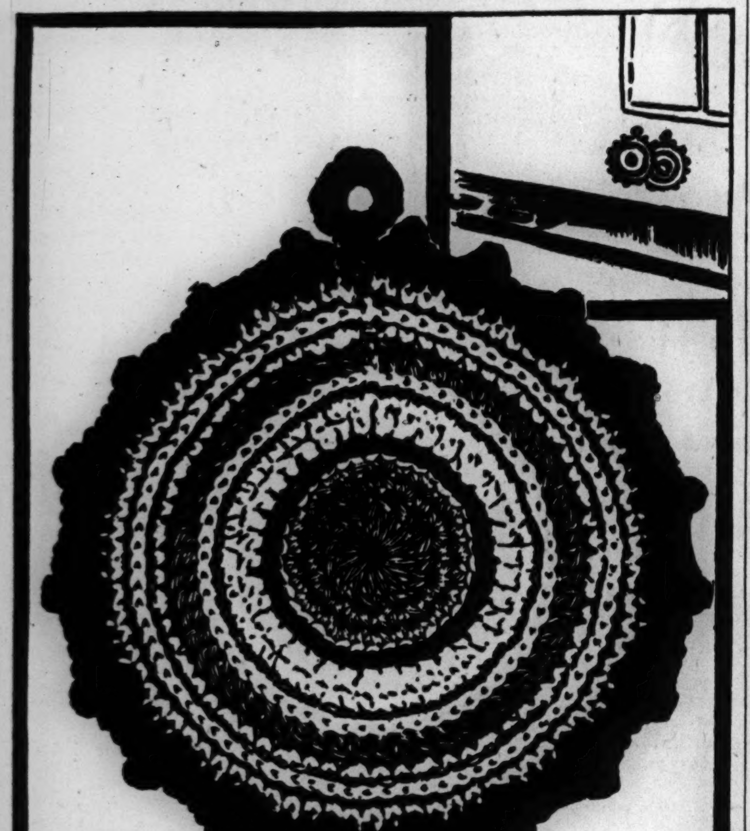
Crocheted Potholders



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

People who like to use a generous handful of potholder when working with hot pans and kettles, will do well to crochet these items which are made from four ply cotton. Two colors will be perfect for any kitchen scheme, the cotton does not shrink, and it is boilproof. Two balls of cotton [125 yards each] will make three potholders.

For instructions in crocheting the cotton potholders, No. 1070, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

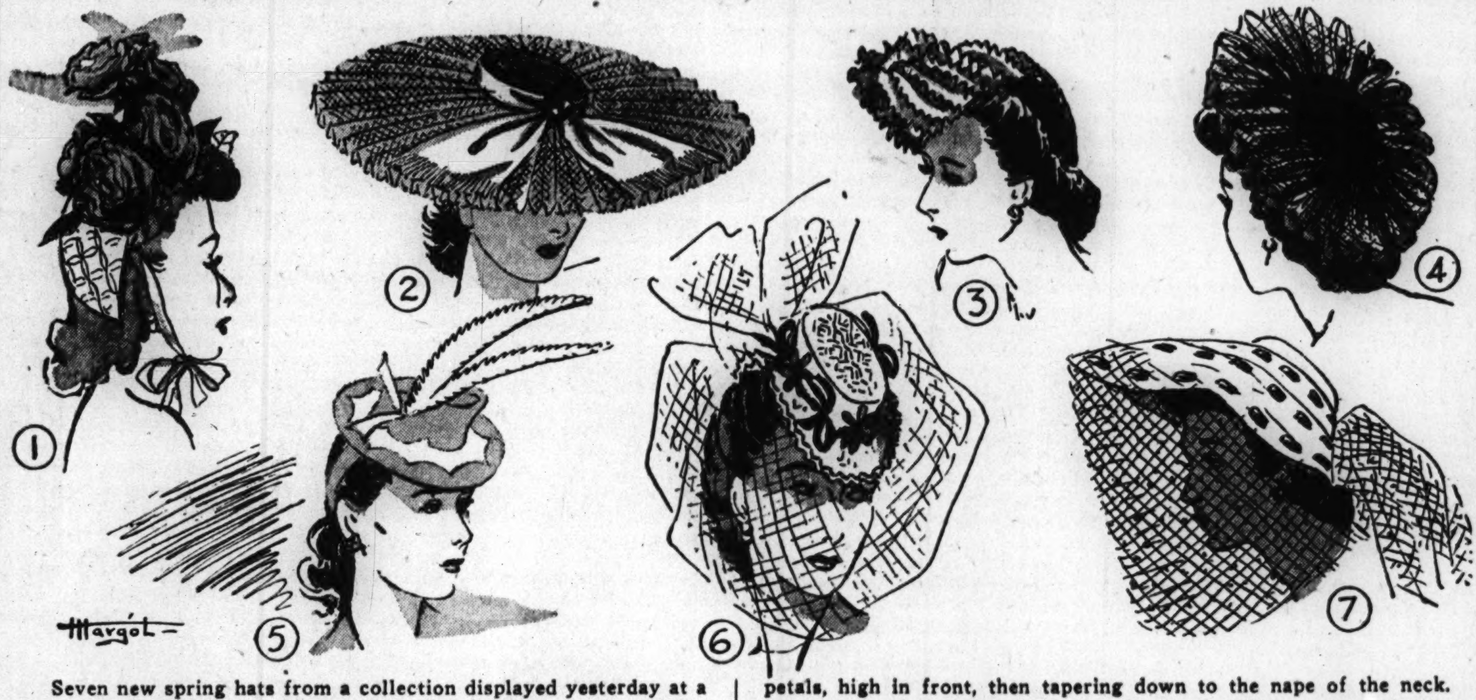
Smart New Hats for Spring from Collection at Fashion Show



Seven new spring hats from a collection displayed yesterday at a hat fashion show and tea sponsored by the Chicago Junior league. The hats illustrate the new delicate fabrics and colors for this season. 1. Flowered bonnet of green straw to be tied under the chin, with nodding American Beauty roses high on top. 2. Cartwheel hat of fluted net attached to a flat low crown, with a wide satin knot tie of flesh pink satin. 3. Tiny coxcomb hat of shaded pale blue petals, high in front, then tapering down to the nape of the neck. 4. Tiny felt skull cap edged with wide loops of folds of colored veilings. 5. Suit hat made of gray flannel, accented with white pique applique and a pair of white pique quills. 6. Burnt sugar colored shiny straw suit hat, trimmed with tiny bows of black velvet ribbon and drifted with a cloud of brown veiling. 7. Smooth white panama scoop brimmed hat, laced with navy blue veiling.

Bonnets Bring in Books for Boys in Army

Two big pushcarts draped in white satin studded with red and blue stars gradually were filled with books at a hat fashion show the Chicago Junior league gave yesterday afternoon at Marshall Field's for the benefit of the Victory Book campaign. Every one who brought a book was eligible to win a new hat and, to the great satisfaction of league members and other guests present, one of the new hats went to Mrs. Gordon Loud, president of the league, and another to Mrs. Theron Miller of Michigan City, Ind., who happened to be in the city for the day.

Dennis King, star of "Blithe Spirit," selected a hat he considered the prettiest among those worn in the audience. "Miss Annabella tells me it's a winter hat," he told his listeners. "Nevertheless, I think it's a darn good looking one," he argued as he called its wearer, Mrs. Robert A. Cavenaugh, to the platform to receive her reward from Annabella—a new spring hat.

Mrs. Robert A. Cavenaugh wearing the hat awarded to her yesterday at fashion show.

Mrs. Cavenaugh, president of the Service club, is noted for her chic clothes. The hat that earned her a new one was a high crowned black felt trimmed with giant curled feathers in brown and bronze shades. The new hat she chose was of yellow straw trimmed with yellow flowers, becoming and smart.

Mrs. Richard Spencer announced that the proceeds of the afternoon would be used to buy nonfiction books for army posts and points of embarkation.

Among the Junior league members who modeled the hats were Mrs. Edgar Stanton Jr., Mrs. Lefens Porter, Mrs. William M. Collins Jr., Miss Priscilla Armstrong, Mrs. De Witt Buchanan Jr., Mrs. Peter Moon, and Mrs. James Heyworth.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

A. D. F. writes: "Why take the teachers away from their most important work of training our youth to register families for rationing? There are thousands of women anxious to help win the war who are capable of doing this job. There are many retired teachers fully capable and willing. Right in my own neighborhood there is a club of approximately 900 intelligent women, many of them willing to aid. There are many such clubs in the city, as well as many willing church women. Why take precious school time when it is not necessary?"

It is necessary, A. D. F., because it is a government order that civilian registration for rationing be conducted in the public elementary school. In Chicago, no doubt, there would be plenty of other capable women available for this task, but Michael F. Mulcahy, rationing administrator of the Chicago metropolitan area for civilian defense, said yesterday that OPA had come to this decision after considering the problems of communities of every size and sort. Mr. Mulcahy said that considering the immensity of the job, which in effect will be a civilian census, school buildings were the only sensible places in which to conduct it, and that, therefore, teachers seemed to be the logical registrars. He estimates that it will be necessary to close the elementary schools for three days only, altho it will take four to handle the registration. One day will be Saturday.

It is believed it will take from 12 to 15 minutes for a registration, so Mr. Mulcahy and Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, figure that four days will be ample time for the 3,500,000 citizens of Chicago to register. After the registration and distribution of sugar rationing cards, there will not need to be another registration when other rationing cards are issued. Local rationing boards [there are only eight here now, but more will be formed when necessary] will handle later rationing problems.

Commercial registration of sugar dealers, etc., will be conducted in high schools but it is not believed now that it will be necessary to close these schools during this activity. Two days will be needed for this work. No dates for the commercial or the civilian registrations have been announced but the former will be held first, probably within two weeks, Mr. Mulcahy said.

Miss Marie Kern, librarian at the Service Men's center, 176 West Washington street, has received several requests for Bibles. There is only one in the library. If you have an extra Bible in your home, won't you give it to the service men.

Chicago women with one year's college training or extensive industrial service may take technical training courses for specific defense employment at the Illinois Institute of Technology. Courses in materials inspection and testing, engineering drafting and industrial chemistry will begin Monday. More than 56 women have called at the school defense training office, 1951 Madison street, for personal interviews this week.

The courses are the first in the country for women financed by federal appropriations, Henry T. Heald, president of the institute, said.

"Industry has been constantly reminded by the government during the last few weeks that they must expect virtually all able-bodied, potential 1A employés to be called to arms," Mr. Heald said, "and they must replace these men with women; industry thus faces a dire shortage of workers. Large scale demands already have been made to us by industry for the women who will be trained in this work."

Representatives of the American Theater Wing in Chicago will launch the sale of their book, "America Goes to War" at 1:30 o'clock Monday in the book section on the third floor at Marshall Field's. Proceeds from the sale will be used for canteens for the men in the armed forces. The book tells about America during the first 60 days after Pearl Harbor. It was placed on sale in New York Monday. Radio, stage and screen stars will sponsor the sale here during the next two months.

Swing music, ballads and light classical selections will make up the variety program to be offered by students from the school of music at Lake Forest college this evening in Fort Sheridan's recruit reception center recreation building. Co-ed soloists include Gertrude Blanchard, Ellen Watson, Lorene Wilke, Doris Ollman, Helen Ferry Stiles, and Ardith Ries. Slim Garn of Glencoe and his band will play, with Joe Dempsey as master of ceremonies.

An exhibit of works by the Army Illustrators of Fort Custer will open tonight at the Art center of the Evanston Public library. The show, consisting entirely of pictures done by men stationed at Fort Custer, is sponsored by the morale department of the army and directed by Sidney W. Seeley. The Drama club of Evanston has arranged for the exhibit, which will run thru March. Miss Betty Hall is in charge of arrangements, with Mrs. William Swift Lord assisting her. The show originally was started by Maj. Harry E. Cooper of Chicago.

We are in receipt of a letter from three airmen of the English RAF stationed in Canada, under the British commonwealth air training plan, who are eager to visit Chicago during a 14 day leave the last two weeks in March. It is necessary for a relative or friend residing in the United States to guarantee funds for an airman from Canada to visit this country. These lads have no relatives or friends here and they are wondering whether any of our readers would be willing to help them visit Chicago.

The letter starts out: "This is going to be a very presumptuous letter," so the boys know they are asking a great favor. The writer continues: "We know we should never forgive ourselves if we let pass any opportunity we might have of making actual contact with the United States and its people. We three have similar interests, mainly of the arts."

Any one wishing to write to the boys may get their names thru this department.

The Housewife

Those who like their cup of tea piping hot will want to invest in an attractive teapot that is placed on a small stand over a squatty candle. This candle in its little container is enough, when lighted, to keep the tea at an even high temperature. The whole outfit is made of pottery, is nicely shaped, and comes in white, in rose, or in green and costs no more than the more usual types of china teapot.

Red Cross Asks $50,000 a Day to Go Over Top

Contributions amounting to $50,000 a day are needed to bring the Chicago Red Cross war relief budget campaign to its goal of $3,750,000 within the week, James B. Forgan, general chairman, said yesterday.

Executives and employés of the Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday oversubscribed the $50,000 with a gift of $57,450, bringing the drive total to date to $3,540,890. Other donations yesterday brought the day's receipts to $68,784.

Another of the 58 groups in the industrial division of the drive yesterday surpassed the goal assigned to it, Mr. Forgan announced. Twenty-three of the groups have now reached 100 per cent of their quotas or more. The latest addition to the gold star ranks is the electrical group headed by Fred T. Whiting which, with contributions turned in during the day, had a total of $144,201 against a $130,000 goal.

Employé gifts, exclusive of those from their companies, received yesterday were $6,609 from the Herald-American; $1,239 from the Appleton Electric company, $1,168 from the estate of Marshall Field, $951 from the F. W. Woolworth company, $881 from the International Register company, and $801 from the Lake Shore club.

Company gifts reported were $1,759 from the Chicago Mill and Lumber company, $1,298 from the Diamond Wire and Cable company, $1,250 from the Clearing Machine corporation, $1,000 from the North American Car corporation, $880 from E. J. Brach & Sons, $600 from the central division of General Mills, Inc., and $500 each from the National Cylinder Gas company, the Storkline Furniture company, and the Superior Packing company.

The Finnish unit of the American Red Cross will hold a dance Saturday evening in the Lincoln auditorium, 4219 Lincoln avenue, according to an announcement yesterday from P. A. Randall, an official of the unit. Entertainment will be provided by the Sibelious Male chorus. Refreshments will be served.

Sally Requests Furniture for Needy Family

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

The wan, pinched look so often noticeable on the faces of youngsters in very poor families is not caused wholly by malnutrition. Many such children are simply weary and worn from lack of proper rest. I have known many instances in which four or five members of one family were crowded into one bed, either because sleeping facilities were insufficient or cramped living quarters could not accommodate more furniture of any kind.

A case worker on the south side of the city has requested aid for a family in such circumstances. Mrs. X and her five children have been living in one room in miserable quarters. Deserted by her husband, this mother has tried to care for the children, but cannot earn enough to provide even the bare necessities. Four children have been sleeping in one bed, and clinic doctors strongly recommend better sleeping conditions for them.

The family now has been moved into a three room basement apartment, but furniture is badly needed. They have almost nothing and can use two double beds [complete], table, chairs, dishes, curtains, or almost any other items readers may care to give. The mother will be most grateful, and the family will be able to enjoy a semblance of decent living.

The worker will arrange transportation of any items offered, altho those from the south side can be moved at the least expense.

Thru the Looking Glass

One way to prepare for the annual spring chore of whipping your skin back into shape after a hard winter is to start early on your creaming program and to take advantage of the sales that pop up around this time of year.

Frantic efforts at rehabilitation can't possibly be as effective as a leisurely, consistent preventative program, you know. If you start now to oil your skin generously—and daily—you can have the laugh on all your sisters who will be wailing and weeping about the necessity of a spring beauty campaign when that season actually arrives.

One of the bargains of the moment is a superlatively good cream that serves no other purpose than softening. It's one of those gorgeously rich affairs, a little yellowish in tinge and extremely gooey. It smells oily and is oily, and it just about accomplishes miracles in transforming dry, flaky skin into a surface that is soft and dewy.

When used at night it should be left on while you sleep; if used for a little oiling treatment when you can steal a few minutes of privacy during the day use an astringent or a toning lotion afterward.

HACK HITS HOMER AND TRIPLE IN CUBS' CAMP OPENER

M'CULLOUGH'S SIDE WINS, 17-9; SCORES 10 IN 3D

Erickson Steps On Ball, Sprains Ankle.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Stan Hack.

Avalon, Cal., March 3.—Clyde McCullough's Nightowls this afternoon swamped Bob Scheffing's Grumpies in the opening game of the Cubs' intra-club series, played for a purse of $31. The score was 17 to 9.

Altho the cash element added much earnestness to the match, the play was not always up to the class that had been predicted for a series with dough on the line. The teams, employing established Cub pitchers, will play again tomorrow, probably for $30. The extra buck today was thrown into the pool by Manager Jim Wilson for the privilege of catching his pride and joy, Wimpy Quinn. The boss may not catch tomorrow. Players on the opposing squads contribute $1 each, the pot going to the winner.

Hack Leads Hitters.

Stan Hack, grandpappy of the troupe, led both teams in hitting, with a homer, a triple, a single, and two walks. His only failure was a strikeout when Eddie Hanyzewski, the South Bend muscle boy, was pitching.

Leslie Fleming, late of the Hollywood Twinks, the Boston Red Sox, and the Louisville Colonels, was the victim of the first of several unhappy experiences and the only one knocked out.

Emil Kush and Russ Meers were the starting pitchers, and at the end of their two inning stints the Sheffings were ahead, 3 to 2. After Kush had held the McCulloughs hitless and runless in the first half of the opening inning, the Scheffings tallied twice in their half on a leadoff double by Harry Lowrey, a walk, an error by Meers and Ed Waitkus' single.

A two base error by Bob Sturgeon on Lou Novikoff's bouncer, singles by Babe Dahlgren and Marv Felderman, and a long fly by Len Merullo gave the McCulloughs a 2 to 2 tie in their second, which was broken in the Scheffing half on a two base error by Merullo and a double by Lou Stringer.

Ten Runs in One Inning.

The McCulloughs really climbed on Fleming in the third inning. Hack started it with a homer over the right field screen. Sy Block flied out but Barney Olsen tripled. Then followed singles by Bill Nicholson, Novikoff, Dahlgren, and Felderman and passes to Merullo and Phil Cavarretta. The net of all this performance by Fleming was one out, five runs, and loaded bases. Quinn then went in and walked Hack and continued the parade of runs, which reached a total of 10 for the inning before Novikoff flied out.

Starting clean and with Wilson catching, Quinn was much better in the fourth. He retired the McCulloughs in order. In the fifth, tho, the manager's speedster protége was frisked for three runs.

Before the game, Paul Erickson, the big pitcher, suffered his second injury of the spring season. To his broken nose was added a sprained ankle, the mishap resulting when he stepped on a baseball while running for a fly ball.

Contrast.

"Production first, full speed ahead!"
Should be, and is, our battle cry.
But still we read of strife and strikes
With all the dread that such imply,
While union leaders talk big things—
So long as overtime gets by;
And others prate of "Labor's gains,"
Ignoring yet, the men who die!

A pittance goes to men who fight
In air, on land, or on the sea,
Who face the last great risk to keep
Their country strong in time to be.
By night and day MacArthur's men,
In sweat and blood toil ceaselessly,
Altho they know the pay for them
May full well be—Eternity!

The Family High Chair.

That sturdy old high chair made of hardwood.
Four children have used it, as four children should.
The tray is all battered, the rungs have come loose;
I have glued them and nailed them, like old Mother Goose.
Each child has an image when I look at that chair,
Some with their curly locks, some with straight hair,
Eyes of dark brown, also eyes of light blue,
Smiles for good measure, love that was true.
Ideals built so high from a fond mother's heart
As she feeds "little cherub," so soon they depart.
The high chair is put in the attic with care
I guess only mother knows it is there.
Now they are married with high chairs of their own—
No one has a "cherub" they are willing to loan.
So life passes on like a tale that is told;
Mother is left all alone to grow old.
The chair and the children seem a drama or dream,
But each page of their history recalled a bright gleam.
For only the good things remain in the mind
Of all the dear treasures that mother may find,
She lives in the days of her love past and gone,
Life takes on new pleasure, so sweet is her song.
For mothers are paid in the wages so blest,
For living and loving and building a nest.

Playing billiards in the CYO center sharpens the eye, but even so Harry admits he's far from being a Willie Hoppe. But it takes his mind off the boxing routine—for a short spell, at least.

Here, tho, Harry's back at the main business at hand. He gives the heavy bag a solid, business-like right hand smash which bodes no good for his 160 pound foes. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

Tribune Bowling School Hangs Up SRO Sign—15,000 Attend

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

(Picture on page 25.)

Bowlers and would-be bowlers—another 15,000 of them according to the center's own estimate—again packed Ted Lyons' recreation yesterday to see The Chicago Tribune Free Bowling school in operation. They came not only from South Shore, but also from Hyde Park and Beverly, in fact the entire south and southwest side, to get the benefit of Andy Varipapa's teaching and to watch Andy and his tiny assistant, 6 year old Twinkle Watts, bowl exhibition matches and trick shots.

Varipapa Works Hard.

There were repeaters from Monday's opening day throng of 15,000, to be sure, because Andy had won many new friends with his manner of instruction and little Twinkle's firing a 10½ pound ball down the lanes in truly perfect bowling form had proved a smash hit. But mostly the crowd was new, filling the center in the afternoon and, after thinning out around 6 o'clock, packing it again in the evening.

Andy repeated his lecture of Monday, pointing out among other fundamentals, the desirability of a bowler's sliding at the end of his approach rather than coming to an abrupt stop. The slide permits him to complete his delivery more naturally and therefore more effectively, he pointed out. And when he had finished his lecture he worked with the individual bowlers, spending hours on the approaches in demonstrating his technique.

That his teaching had caught on was demonstrated last night when, rather than simply giving his trick shot exhibition and bowling a match with Twinkle, he went back to work as a teacher in answer to the bowlers' requests. In short, the day's program carried two lessons rather than the usual one, and is to be repeated today, the last of the three days at the 71st street center.

Twinkle Rolls a 179.

Of course, Andy and Twinkle bowled their game after he had finished his afternoon lecture, and, of course, Andy won. He fired 197, while Twinkle was rolling 131. But that game wasn't Twinkle's only effort, for she shot three more games against Chicago high school All-Stars and improved with each game.

She found alley No. 32 difficult in her first game with Harvey Wayne, Tilden Tech star, and got only 125. But Harvey was having his troubles also in rolling 132. In the next game Twinkle got 168 to Harvey's 192, then finished with 179 to defeat Shirley Francis of South Shore High, who rolled 123.

Tomorrow the school will move to the north side, appearing at the Congress Arcade, 2047 Milwaukee avenue, afternoon and evening. Friday, Saturday, and Monday they will be at Lawrence bowl, 1820 Lawrence avenue.

CLOSE BATTLES FORESEEN IN EIGHT WEIGHTS

Graves and Lemmon Show Mettle.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Jack Graves of Minneapolis and Tommy Lemmon of Milwaukee are two of the boys who have demonstrated that Golden Gloves competition is tougher than ever this season.

In the recent Tournament of Champions, both of these youngsters defeated former title holders. Now they stand ready for the last big drive to their goal—1942 Golden Gloves championships. Together with 30 other fighters, they'll make their bids in the Stadium Friday evening when semi-finals and finals are fought.

In cities scattered thruout the vast Golden Gloves territory, the 32 survivors from the original starting field of many thousands, will go thru concluding workouts today in preparation for the decisive battle. They'll begin trooping back to Chicago tomorrow and by Friday morning the field will be complete, ready for weighing and physical examinations at noon in the CYO gymnasium.

Ticket Sale Booms.

Realizing that this will be their last chance to see Golden Gloves fighters in action this season, Chicago boxing fans yesterday kept the ticket counters busy in the Tribune Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower lobby. Tho the $3.30 tickets and 55 cent tickets are already sold out, seats remain available at intermediate prices of $2.20, $1.65, and $1.10.

The spectators who jam the Stadium Friday night are assured of a sensational show, judging from the performances of the fighters in the recent Tournament of Champions. The field is now cut down to four boys in each of the eight weight classes.

Tho the above mentioned Graves and Lemmon might be considered standouts in their divisions on the basis of beating former titleholders, each will face strong competition before he can claim a Golden Glove. In Graves' bantamweight class is Tommy Burns of Fort Wayne, brother of one of last year's Intercity champions, Bob Burns. Also there are Charley Riley of St. Louis and Andy Duncan of Peoria.

Graves Shows His Skill.

Graves has indicated he can take the best that's sent against him. If he wins the championship Friday night, he'll have to meet and conquer two of the three above mentioned rivals. But just look what he did in one evening in the Tournament of Champions last week. On Wednesday night he took on two boys who were generally considered the standouts of the bantamweight field—Chuck Hunter of Cleveland and Harold Dade of Chicago—and he beat them both. Dade was twice a champion in the 112 pound class and since moving up to the bantamweight division he has won recognition as one of the best amateurs of that weight in the country.

But Graves went right ahead and actually had the Chicagoan on the floor twice—something that had happened only once before in Harold's career. Tho Harold was up each time without a count, the incidents were dramatic testimonials to Graves' hitting power.

Graves, who is 19 years old, lives in Austin, Minn., and is a section hand on a railroad. He is the sole survivor of the Minneapolis team which made so surprisingly strong a showing by sending all eight of its fighters unbeaten thru the first two nights of the Tournament of Champions.

Lemmon Has Work Ahead.

Lemmon, who boxes in the 135 pound class, drew the concentrated attention of Golden Gloves fans when he beat Tommy Campbell, defending champion in that division, in a third round bout last Wednesday night.

Lemmon will have very tough going in his bid for a championship, for the survivors at this weight include Morris Corona of Fort Worth, Julius Menendez of St. Louis, and Bert Williams of Sioux Falls, S. D. Corona went to the welterweight semi-finals last year, where he was beaten by

Holdouts Pull New Plays on Tiger Bosses

Lakeland, Fla., March 3 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers, currently engaged in their bitterest holdout battle on record, today admitted ingenuity on the part of some of the dissenters, but the club is standing firm in its take-it-or-leave-it mandate.

General Manager Jack Zeller disclosed today that one of the bargaining ball players has a personal manager, while another's correspondence is attended to by an attorney. There are nine unsigned players.

Zeller Cites the War.

"The trouble is," declared Zeller, "that these players do not seem to realize the country is at war."

Zeller, who has full authority in Detroit's baseball affairs while Club Owner Walter O. Briggs devotes his attentions to war industries, said a lighter pay roll was made necessary by the prospect of a decline in baseball revenue because of the war.

Here They Are.

With practice sessions in the second week, the Tigers have as holdouts Pitchers Buck Newsom, Paul [Dizzy] Trout, Johnny Gorsica, and Luther [Bud] Thomas, Catcher Billy Sullivan, First Baseman Rudy York and Outfielders Barney McCosky, Rip Radcliff and Roger Cramer.

The latest to sign is Dick Wakefield, former University of Michigan star who agreed to terms reported to be $600 a month if he plays with Beaumont of the Texas league and half that figure if he goes back to Winston-Salem of the Piedmont league, where he batted .300 last year.

4,200 Unsold Seats!

You still have time to get good tickets to the 15th annual Golden Gloves tournament Friday night in Chicago Stadium.

The best 32 of an original field of 20,000 from 23 states will fight it out for amateur boxing's greatest prize.

You can be among the 21,000 who will enjoy the thrills when Young America puts up its fists!

Tickets may be obtained in the Tribune's Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street, from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m., and Tribune Tower lobby from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Prices:

Mail orders also will be accepted. Make checks payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and address Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

2 INJURED HAWK PLAYERS READY TO PLAY AGAIN

Cooper, Mosienko Offer to Face Americans.

It must have been the smoke and the fog that caused Manager Paul Thompson of the Blackhawks to be so gloomy Monday as he viewed the Hawks' casualty list of four, count 'em, four. Joe Cooper had a broken rib.

Willie Mosienko was down with a wrenched ankle, and Cully Dahlstrom and Doug Bentley were nursing injured knees. All in all, it wasn't a happy prospect and Thompson was resigned to going into tomorrow night's game against the Americans in New York with only 12 players.

Two Casualties Return.

So the sun came out yesterday, and Thompson suddenly began to feel fine. He'll be feeling even better as the team heads east this afternoon. And he unwittingly arranged it all himself. He had planned no workouts before the New York game, but ordered one yesterday, and found two of the injured gents hollering for duty.

The volunteers, both of whom were slated to be left home, are Cooper and Mosienko. The latter, who was a sensation after his promotion from the Hawks' Kansas City farm, has missed six games as a result of the ankle ailment, but yesterday asserted he wants to play in tomorrow night's game, and Thompson was only too happy to agree with him. Cooper's fractured rib turned up during last Saturday's game in Toronto, and it looked as tho he wouldn't be available until Sunday's return game with the Americans in the Stadium, but Joseph demanded that he be taken east, too.

Plan Special Harness.

If he's still of the same mind this morning, club physicians plan to construct a special harness for him and send him along as player No. 14. This will leave only Dahlstrom and Doug Bentley behind, and will give Thompson a full complement of players—a goalie, three forward lines and four defense men.

The National Hockey league standings, as released yesterday, show Bill Thoms not only as the Hawks' leading scorer, but also as one of the league's top men. Bryan Hextall of the Rangers leads with 50 points, followed by his teammates, Lynn Patrick and Phil Watson, each with 47; Don Grosso of Detroit with 44, and Thoms and Sid Abel next with 42 each. Bill's last two goals were made in a 10 second stretch Sunday night against Toronto.

TAM O' SHANTER TOURNEYS ARE SET BACK WEEK

Dates for the $15,000 Tam o' Shanter Open and All-American amateur golf tournaments, to be held simultaneously at the Tam o' Shanter Country club, have been moved back one week, it was announced yesterday by George S. May, Tam o' Shanter president.

The new dates, which were set at a week-end conference with officials of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, are July 20 to 26, inclusive. The week will open with qualifying rounds in the All-American amateur on Monday and Tuesday, July 20 and 21. Match play in the amateur event will start on Wednesday, July 22, and conclude with the finals on Saturday, July 25. The Open will start on Thursday, July 23, and will wind up on Sunday, July 26.

The change, May said, was requested by PGA officials who believed that the new dates would fit better into the association's country-wide tournament schedule.

EIGHT QUINTETS OPEN CYO'S 12TH MEET TONIGHT

The opening round of the 12th annual CYO basketball tournament will start at 7 o'clock tonight in St. Mel High school gymnasium. Winners of eight divisional senior championships will clash in the eliminations for the Bishop Sheil championship trophy.

Featured on the four game card tonight will be the St. Cornelius-St. Leonard [Berwyn] game at 9 p. m. St. Cornelius seniors, winners in the St. Tarcissus division, hold the season scoring record for a single game, 91 points. In four seasons they have scored 41 consecutive victories. They finished this campaign undefeated in seven league games. St. Gabriel and Five Holy Martyrs will open tonight's program.

The tournament will continue tomorrow and Sunday and March 10, 12, and 15, with the championship finals in all divisions, prep, junior, and senior, in Loyola university gymnasium, March 22.

Besides the Bishop Sheil trophy and individual medals the senior champion will go to Newark, N. J., to compete in a quadrangular meet featuring teams from New York, Brooklyn, Newark, and Chicago. Junior and senior champions will be awarded a trip to Cleveland for the annual CYO intercity clash. Games tonight:

Seniors: St. Gabriel vs. Five Holy Martyrs, 7 p. m.; St. Barbara vs. St. Anselm, 8 p. m.; St. Cornelius vs. St. Leonard [Berwyn], 9 p. m.; St. Peter [Skokie] vs. St. Odilo No. 1, 10 p. m.

The first upset in the championship playoffs of the Chicago Public High School league occurred yesterday when Crane Tech, fourth place west section senior representative, turned back Lane Tech, previously undefeated north section title holder, 34 to 27, on the Schurz floor.

Kelvyn Park, which has been a dark horse in west section competition, remained in the running by eliminating another north section qualifier, Senn, 31 to 26, at Lane Tech.

Du Sable Is Beaten.

In the other senior contest Morgan Park, fourth place south section team, nosed out Du Sable, central section champion, 26 to 25.

Tilden of the central section, one of the teams which finished its preliminary schedule undefeated, had an easy time trimming Hirsch of the south section, 42 to 22, at Englewood. In the other junior game Von Steuben of the north zone halted an Austin rally to win, 32 to 30.

Open Private School Basket Meet Today

Harvard school and Francis Parker will open the 1942 Private School league basketball tournament this afternoon in Harvard gymnasium, 57th street and Ellis avenue. The meet will continue until Saturday night, when the championship will be decided.

Two other games are on the opening schedule. University High will oppose Luther institute and North Park academy will meet Chicago Latin. Three other first round games will be played tomorrow.

St. Rita High school, Concordia High school of Fort Wayne, Ind., Culver Military academy, and Park school of Indianapolis have been seeded in the Midwest Prep conference's invitational tournament which opens tomorrow afternoon in Morgan Park Military academy gymnasium.

Eight other schools have entered teams in this meet of two flights, championship and consolation. Finals in both flights will be played Saturday night.

Glenwood Manual Training High school of Glenwood, and Concordia will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the opening game. Onarga Military academy and St. Rita will face each other in the second game at 4 o'clock.

ILLINI QUINTET WANTS TO PLAY AT NEW ORLEANS

Campaign, Ill., March 3 [Special].—Whether the University of Illinois basketball team will compete in the National Collegiate Athletic association tournament in New Orleans March 20 and 21 was not known tonight. Doug Mills, coach and athletic director, said any announcement of an invitation to the Illini presumably would be announced by the N. C. A. A. committee. Illinois players voted informally to participate in the tournament if permitted.

More than 1,000 students today welcomed the basketball team home from Iowa City where the Big Ten champions played last night.

Samuelson's Big 3 Bowlers Shoot Tonight

Johnny Gaspar, Herb Gumz, and Clare Foster, who have 197.35, 197.28 and 196.60 averages, respectively, in the Samuelson Major Bowling league, will be on the firing line tonight when the league shoots at Samuelson's Arcade.

Gaspar's team, the Budweisers, will be matched with the leading Fritzi Scheffs, whose lineup includes Foster. Gumz is a member of the Wallace Coals, who are two games off the pace and are to meet the cellar team, the Mee & Rammes. Waggoners oppose the Goldammer Kids and Universal Musics meet the Michelobs in other matches.

The Classic league bowls at Gateway recreation, 6432 North avenue, tonight, starting its matches at 9 o'clock. Schlitz, which has a three game lead, meets Ambrosia; Pabst is paired with National Billiards, Blatz meets Koenig Brau, and Monarch Beer opposes Washington Shirts.

Tie for South End Lead.

Chicago Recreation, which has been climbing steadily, moved into a first place tie with the International Sausages in the South End Traveling league by winning two games from the Bruck-Strachans, while the Internationals were dropping two to the Meister Braus. The Internationals had led the league for 26 weeks.

ABC Opens Its 73 Day Event in Columbus

Columbus, O., March 3 [Special].—With Gov. John W. Bricker tossing out and getting a nine run count on the first ball, the 42d annual American Bowling Congress tournament was launched here tonight. Teams from Illinois, Ohio, New York, Kentucky, Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania, and Texas shared in the opening ceremonies.

Colorful and patriotic ceremonies featured the formal opening in the flag draped coliseum at the fair grounds as Gov. Bricker and civic leaders, assisted by congress officials, opened the 73 day bowling classic. Then the bowlers got down to business, with I. T. C. five of Elmyra, O., winning top prize of $100 for high team on the first squad by shooting 2,752. Da-Lite Bleach of Mount Prospect, Ill., was second.

Entry Tourney's Third Largest.

The five man entry of 5,742 teams is the third largest in ABC history but the current tourney set three new all-time records in number of double and single entries as well as general prize money.

New records include 11,848 sets of doubles while 23,778 bowlers have entered in the individual event. Total entry fees reached the record figure of $380,895.

Detroit helped to establish a new all-time out of town entry with 426 teams from the motor city area, while 356 teams entered from Chicago and suburbs. Chicagoland bowlers have paid $26,545 in entry fees and are again expected to win the major portion of the prize money.

Andy Shoots on March 20.

Andy Varipapa, Chicago Tribune free bowling school instructor who rates fourth over a 10 year span in ABC averages—being topped only by National Champion Ned Day, who defended his title at the Coliseum in December in the Tribune All-Star tourney; Walter Ward of Cleveland, and Johnny Crimmins of Detroit, who is a challenger for Day's title—is scheduled to compete in the five man event on Friday, March 20, and will roll doubles and singles events Saturday, March 21, pairing with Junie McMahon of Lodi, N. J.

Chicago's Vogel Brothers, who lifted the ABC five man event title last year at St. Paul are scheduled March 29.

Marquette Coach's Son Is Injured in Practice

Milwaukee, Wis., March 3 [Special].—The first casualty suffered by the Marquette university basketball team this season occurred in practice today when Bill Chandler Jr., reserve forward and son of the Hilltop coach, received a bad cut over the eye. The wound required stitching, but it is believed young Chandler will be ready to play against Notre Dame in the Milwaukee auditorium Saturday night.

Lemmon is one of the four survivors which Milwaukee has in the tournament after members of this team put up a remarkable showing in last week's bouts. Milwaukee had only four representatives left at the end of the first two nights of the Tournament of Champions, but these four still were standing at the conclusion of the still more rigorous tests of the third and concluding night.

Chicago's two representatives, Hubert Hood, a heavyweight, and Harry Stephens, a middleweight, did a bit more sparring yesterday in the CYO gymnasium under the close supervision of Trainer Nick Fitzpatrick.

BIGGER, BETTER PITCHING STAFF IS DYKES' DREAM

Sox Boss Plans to Have 10 Hurlers on Roster.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 3.—The White Sox pitching staff was just about the swankiest in either major last season, but, instead of letting it go as it was, Manager Jimmy Dykes aims to make that particular department bigger as well as better.

Instead of the customary nine hurlers [when they can be uncovered] Dykes now declares he will retain 10, and that all of them will be sufficiently skilled to handle big league assignments.

Not Much Pruning Needed.

To carry that many pitchers along with three catchers he'll have to limit his infield department to seven and his outfield to five after the May 15 deadline. It's simple arithmetic except that Dykes has only three fly chasers of proved ability. No one knows where the two others are coming from, but the south side miracle man is seldom baffled for long.

With Walter Navie in the navy and Stan [Lefty] Goletz supposedly in the army, the present pitching crop numbers only 11 candidates, so, obviously, not much pruning will be necessary. Bill Dietrich, John Humphries, Thornton Lee, Ted Lyons, John Rigney, and Eddie Smith are certain to continue as the backbone of the staff.

Orval Grove who won 16 with Shreveport last season, Joe Haynes, the Washington alumnus and Lee Ross, one of the many Athletic graduates with the Sox, are being groomed for relief rôles. That leaves Pete Appleton and Ed Weiland to fight it out.

Parallels Humphries' Case.

Billing Haynes for a relief job doesn't necessarily mean he will not be promoted eventually. He first must show he has fully recovered from an elbow ailment. He hurt the arm throwing a curve to a Sox batter during the 1940 season, after which waivers were requested. The Sox claimed him on a conditional basis prior to the 1941 campaign and at the deadline decided to forward a check in payment to the Washington club. He now insists the arm is O. K.

Haynes' case almost parallels that of Humphries. The latter's arm was in poor shape due to inconsiderate handling at Cleveland, but Dykes took him a year ago, and the late Dr. Ad Schacht, club trainer, worked on him a good part of the summer.

Late in the season Humphries was a phenomenon and is counted on to continue to star this year. Humphries has not reported yet, but he has been training in New Orleans and no one is worried about his condition.

Haynes also was one of Dr. Schacht's patients last season and credits him with the removal of pain from his elbow.

Billy Knickerbocker showed up today, the first of the squad for which a March 5 reporting date was set. The ex-Yankee, as usual, has been playing golf all winter, and is in good shape.

Strong Army Five Enters Title Tourney

The United States army ordnance training center, a service quintet from Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., boasts four of the outstanding players competing in the fourth annual world's championship basketball tournament which gets under way Saturday night in the International amphitheater, 42d and Halsted streets. Sixteen of the best teams in the United States, including the last three champions, Detroit Eagles, New York Rens, and Harlem Globe Trotters, will participate.

Four Ex-College Stars.

In Corporals Moe Becker and Mark Haller, and Privates Marty Passaglia and Louie Romano, the ordnance training center team has four players who were selected or received All-American mention while playing college ball in the east and on the Pacific coast.

Haller, 6 foot 2 inch, 180 pound center, won All-American honors at Syracuse university; Becker did likewise at Duquesne; Passaglia was one of Santa Clara's greatest, and Ramano was selected on Chuck Taylor's All-American team despite the fact he attended little Glendale Teachers college in West Virginia.

Passaglia Chicago Boy.

Becker and Passaglia, the latter a Chicago boy, are 6 feet 1 inch in height, and Ramano is the midget of the team at 5 feet 8 inches.

The service quintet has won 16 and lost two and scored 773 points in 18 games—an average of 43 points per contest.

They make their first tournament appearance opening night with Fort Wayne whose lineup includes Bobby McDermott, Paul Birch, and Herman Schaefer.

Baba Tackles Conley in Wrestling Feature

Ali Baba, former heavyweight wrestling champion, will meet Jack Conley in the windup bout of a mat card this evening in Rainbo Fronton, 4836 North Clark street. Other matches will bring together the Swedish Angel and Seeli Samara, Jack [Bad Boy] Brown and Walter Palmer, Otto Schnabel and Charles [Gorilla] Grubmyer, and George Schnabel and King Clayton.

CDGA Club Presidents Tee Off on War's Sport Problems

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Presidents of member clubs of the Chicago District Golf association last night traded in whatever rose colored glasses they may have been affecting for the coming season, and substituted magnifying specs. Thirty-six representatives of the CDGA's 65 member clubs of the association gathered in the La Salle hotel for a meeting aimed at discussing problems arising from the war situation, and the doings were so successful that encores are expected to be held regularly thruout the year.

The gents whose normal responsibilities as heads of the various clubs have been trebled this year indicated that they are not going to sit back and hope for their problems to solve themselves, but are teeing off with rolled sleeves. The meeting, called by President Thomas G. McMahon, was largely of a confidential nature, but the interchange of opinions in this open forum augurs well for their attitude toward what may well prove to be the most difficult season they ever have faced.

Cheered by Golf Ball News.

All were unanimous on the point that the worries of membership, clubhouse and course maintenance costs, and transportation must be attacked from brass tacks business angle. They all left, also, with the cheering news that the golf ball supply, including all sources, is approximately 55 per cent of last year's consumption, and that this percentage should be sustained thru Aug. 1, granting that the consumer will exercise a maximum of conservation in playing. This happy note was sounded by L. B. Icely, president of a national sporting goods firm, who gave his audience one of the first clear pictures of the ball problem.

Mr. Icely pointed out that one of the most detrimental action in connection with golf ball supply was the spread of propaganda and subsequent hysteria among golfers immediately following the announcement of a rubber priority. This led to a national rush to hoard balls by large purchases of existing supplies.

He suggested that the foresighted hoarders should be made to divide with their fellow members, particularly if they play only occasionally themselves. The present figure of approximately 55 per cent includes from 25 to 30 per cent of last year's consumption, all of it now on the manufacturers' shelves. The remainder includes those bought before the tax of last Oct. 1; those now held by retailers and professionals; the hoarders' supply bought after Pearl Harbor, balls bought as Christmas gifts, and those pellets left over from last season in thousands of lockers and golf and traveling bags. There also have been salvaged about 2,000,000 dozen of what the industry terms "cuts," balls that have been slightly damaged, but which can be recovered.

Rubber Is the Headache.

Rubber, Mr. Icely said, is the manufacturers' headache, since it is 85 per cent of the ball. All ball makers have had their research staffs working overtime seeking a substitute, but a practical one for commercial purposes has not been found, because no sample has the adhesive quality required for the balata cover. He indicated the possibility of a return to the old gutty ball. As for the present supply, he stressed the responsibility of every golfer in the land to exact as much use out of a single ball as he once distributed among three for an 18 hole round.

Each president last night was supplied with a 57 point questionnaire aimed at breaking down the financial problems of all clubs, so that the CDGA can tabulate them and provide all member clubs with an average on operating costs, income percentages, etc.

DE PAUL CLOSES SEASON AGAINST BRADLEY TONIGHT

De Paul's basketball team will conclude its season tonight against Bradley Tech in Peoria. The Blue Demons have won 11 of 23 games. De Paul team will leave for Peoria this morning at 11 o'clock. De Paul will start Tony Kelly, sophomore, who scored 15 points in De Paul's Saturday night, 50 to 37 conquest of Bradley, and Capt. Bob Wozny at forwards; Frank Wiscons at center, and Cliff Lind and Dick Starzyk at guards.

CHICAGO ROLLER DERBY TEAM WINS OPENER, 14 TO 12

Capt. Wes Aronson's finishing sprint gave the Chicago Roller Derby team two points and a 14 to 12 victory over the California team last night in the opening game of their match for first place in the National Roller Derby league. The Chicago-California match will run 26 consecutive evenings in the Coliseum. A crowd of 6,000 attended.

Says Williams Asked FDR for Change to 3-A

St. Paul, Minn., March 3 (AP).—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder, requested the appeal to President Roosevelt which resulted in his draft classification being changed from 1A to 3A last week, Col. J. E. Nelson, Minnesota selective service director, revealed today.

Col. Nelson's statement contradicted reports that Williams did not request the appeal, but merely accepted his changed status. State selective service men emphasized that Williams necessarily had to request Presidential appeal board consideration prior to his draft deferment.

Williams was classified 1-A when his case first came before his Minneapolis draft board. At Williams' request the 1-A classification was appealed to the local appeal board, which after consideration of the circumstances, voted unanimously, 5 to 0, to continue his 1-A classification.

After the appeal board refused the request, Williams' attorney conferred with Col. Nelson who told him that the matter would not be sent to the President unless Williams himself asked it.

Williams' status was changed on grounds that his mother was dependent upon him for support.

SPECHT TO HEAD FIELD OF STARS IN LEGION ICE SHOW

Bobby Specht, American amateur figure skating champion, will head a field of stars which will be in action Saturday night in the second annual charity ice frolics and sports show of the Past Commanders' club of the American Legion. It will be held in the arena.

Frank Crespi Signs; Last Card Holdout

St. Louis, Mo., March 3 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals' last holdout worry disappeared tonight with announcement by Branch Rickey, vice president of the team, that Frank Crespi, stellar second baseman, had signed a contract.

Crespi, slated to head the Cardinal batting order, will not depart immediately for the club's training quarters at St. Petersburg, Fla., however, as he is undergoing treatment for a sinus condition which Dr. Robert F. Hyland, team physician, said would require a couple more days.

PHILS, DODGERS FEUD.

HAVANA, Cuba, March 3 (AP).—There's never a dull moment in the spring training camp of the Brooklyn Dodgers, especially when President Larry MacPhail is about.

MacPhail, never at a loss for words, today declared he had canceled three spring training games with the Philadelphia Phils because the club's 60 year old rookie manager, Hans Lobert, had called him a bush leaguer.

However, it is believed that the refusal of the Phils to let Brooklyn share their training site at Miami Beach for two days next week precipitated the argument and caused the actual cancellation.

Originally, the Brooklyn team was to return to Florida by boat on March 11, the day before the first game with the Dodgers. Because of war conditions the palyers will go to the mainland by plane on March 9.

MacPhail said that when he first learned of the switch in plans he asked the Phil boss for permission to use the Miami Beach park for two days to avoid the trip to Daytona Beach and back for the contest.

The request was refused and in the exchange of comments Lobert was quoted as saying "MacPhail may be president of the league champions, but he is just a bush leaguer to me."

JOE DUGO SEEKS 2D VICTORY OVER JOHNNY LEVATINO

Joe Dugo, 1941 Catholic Youth organization welterweight champion, will meet Johnny Levatino of the West Suburban club in a five round bout heading an amateur show tonight in Cicero stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue. It will be their second meeting. Dugo won a close decision in the north sectional tryouts in Loyola university gymnasium five weeks ago. There will be seven supporting matches, one between heavyweight wrestlers.

JOE DAVIS IS IMPROVING.

The condition of Joe G. Davis, secretary of the Chicago District Golf association, who has been seriously ill for the last two weeks, was reported to be improved yesterday.

YANKEE INFIELD PRACTICES WITH ONLY 2 PLAYERS

Rizzuto Sole Regular to Take Part in Drill.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 3 (AP).—The New York Yankee holdout stage has reached such a point that today Manager Joe McCarthy held an infield drill—with only two players.

Balls were batted to Shortstop Phil Rizzuto who tossed them to a first baseman. Neither Second Baseman Joe Gordon nor Third Baseman Red Rolfe have signed contracts to become eligible for the drills.

Other holdouts are Outfielder Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller, Pitcher Red Ruffing and Catcher Bill Dickey.

Of the six, Gordon is the only one showing the slightest inclination toward coming to terms.

LOMBARDI JOINS BRAVES.

Sanford, Fla., March 3 (AP).—With the arrival today of the vanguard of the Boston Braves, every Major league baseball team was in its training camp.

Ernie Lombardi, the veteran catcher obtained a month ago from the Cincinnati Reds, who the Braves are counting on to boost their stock considerably, was on hand to greet his new teammates. President Bob Quinn hasn't announced yet when practice formally gets underway, but every one expects the limbering up exercises to begin within a day or so.

MANY BROWNS ABSENT.

De Land, Fla., March 3 (AP).—Six regular pitchers and both catchers on the St. Louis Browns' roster have failed to report for spring training. Pitchers Elden Auker and Johnny Niggeling are in camp unsigned and neither has donned a uniform.

Bob Muncrief again was the only regular hurler on hand today and his zeal drew praise from Manager Luke Sewell, who said the right hander was the best young pitcher in the American league at the end of last season. Muncrief won 13 and lost 9.

THREE GIANTS SIGN.

Miami, Fla., March 3 (AP).—Three New York Giant holdouts, Pitcher Bob Carpenter, Catcher Ray Blaemire, and Infielder Mickey Witek, straightened things out with General Manager Bill Terry today and signed their 1942 contracts.

The capitulation of the trio left Shortstop Bill Jurges as the club's only holdout. Jurges still is in New York, operating his bowling alley.

Terry also announced that Pitcher Clydell [Slick] Castleman had asked for and had been granted his unconditional release. Castleman won 20 games in 1934 and 15 the next season but a back injury cut short his baseball career.

NEW SECURITIES OF 3 COMPANIES OFFERED TODAY

Big Utility's Bonds, Stock Top List.

Securities of three large corporations—Pennsylvania Electric company, Monsanto Chemical company, and Schenley Distillers corporation—are being offered publicly this morning.

An underwriting syndicate headed by Mellon Securities corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa., is offering $32,500,000 of Pennsylvania Electric first mortgage 3¾ per cent bonds due 1972 priced at 103½ per cent and accrued interest, and 34,000 shares of new cumulative preferred stock priced at $103.75 a share and dividends accrued from March 1. The preferred stock, series A, carries a 5.10 per cent annual dividend rate and has a par value of $100 a share.

Pennsylvania Electric will use the proceeds from the sale of the new issues to retire existing long term debt and a bank loan in connection with a corporate simplification program. The rest will be used for expansion purposes.

Will Absorb Subsidiaries.

Under the program, the company explained, the following subsidiaries and affiliates will be absorbed by the system: Erie Lighting company, Clarion River Power company, Solar Electric company, and Youghiogheny Hydro-Electric corporation.

Offering of 35,000 shares of cumulative $4 dividend preferred stock of Monsanto Chemical company will be made by Smith, Barney & Co. at a share and accrued dividends. Because dividends will accrue from the date of issue while dividends on the already outstanding 75,000 shares of the series accrue from Dec. 1, the new issue will have a separate market until the ex-dividend date for the June 1 dividend, it was explained.

Proceeds will be used for expansion, additions, replacements, improvements and development of new processes. Last year the company spent 8½ million dollars on improvements and plant extensions.

Offer Schenley Loan.

An underwriting group of 48 securities firms headed by Mellon Securities will depart from the usual distributing methods in offering 15 million dollars of Schenley Distillers corporation 4 per cent sinking fund debentures maturing in 1952.

The syndicate announced that subscriptions to the issue will be accepted today from members of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., on a "first come, first served" basis. Customarily, distribution is made thru a selected selling group. The dealers' concession is 1½ per cent. The debentures are offered at par and accrued interest. Schenley will use the proceeds augmented by bank loans to refund outstanding obligations of the company.

Salomon Brothers and Hutzler, Dick & Merle-Smith, and Stroud & Co., Inc., were high bidders with a tender of 100.009 for a 2½ per cent interest rate on a Southern Pacific railroad issue of $5,660,000 equipment trust certificates.

Extended Purchase Offer.

The Central States Power and Light corporation, a subsidiary of the Ogden corporation, reported it had obtained an extension to March 31 from the Securities and Exchange commission on its offer to buy up to $5,210,000 of its 5½ per cent first mortgage and first lien bonds of the 1953 series at par value and accrued interest.

Emanuel & Co. and Lehman Brothers offered over the counter a block of 93,769 shares of American Airlines, Inc., common stock from the holdings of Aviation corporation. The price was $39.50 a share less $1.35 commission.

CHICAGO RESERVE BANK PROMOTES TWO EXECUTIVES

Promotion of Charles B. Dunn and Alfred T. Sihler to vice presidencies in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago was announced yesterday by Clifford S. Young, president.

Dunn, general counsel to the bank since January, 1934, will continue as counsel. He began practicing law in Wichita, Kas., in 1920, and was associated with a Chicago law firm from 1926 to 1934.

Sihler had been an assistant vice president since March, 1926. He is in charge of the fiscal agency department of the bank which handles all matters pertaining to treasury financing and servicing of the obligations of the government and government agencies in the 7th reserve district. Before joining the reserve bank in 1933 Sihler was in the bond department of the Harris Trust and Saving bank, the Union Trust company, and later the First National bank, after Union Trust was absorbed by First National.

Hogs Soar 25c; Average Tops $13 in Chicago

Yesterday's 10 to 25 cent advance in the market for hogs carried the average price above the $13 line for the first time since June, 1926. The average, up 15 cents at $13.10 a hundred pounds, stood second highest for March since 1920. This price compared with $12.55 a month ago, when lend-lease buyers first warned packers and farmers that pork was too high.

Farmers held offerings on the market below the requirements of the trade again. The Chicago run, at 20,500 including directs to packers, compared with 23,918 a week earlier. The action in the market was the liveliest in recent weeks as buyers scrambled for the limited supply.

Top Paid for Fall Pigs.

The $13.35 top was paid for sorted 200 to 240 pound fall pigs, while prime 300 pound butchers reached $13.30 and 337 pounders, $13.20, new peaks for the season on these weights. The price gap between the new crop of 1941 fall pigs and the old sows also narrowed. Buyers gave as high as $12.75 for 350 pound sows, $12.60 for 400 pounders, and $12.40 for sows weighing 500 pounds.

Despite the many warnings by lend-lease buyers that pork was too high for them to buy for shipment to England, domestic demand for all cuts continued lively. Butcher shop owners gave $27.50 for top light loins and bought the heaviest loins offered by packers at $24.50.

Other Meat Animals Up.

Live costs of most other meat animals also advanced. Gains of 15 to 25 cents were general in cattle, with the $15 top paid for steers standing highest of the year, and equal to the best sale since February last year.

MIDWEST PLANT STARTS OUTPUT OF NEWEST TANK

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—A new midwestern plant has come into mass production of M-4 medium tanks, the War Production board disclosed today. It withheld the name and location of the plant.

The M-4, which will supersede the familiar M-3, is cast and welded instead of riveted construction, for greater strength and safety; it has a lower silhouette, and carries its major weapon, a 75 mm. cannon, mounted in a revolving turret instead of the hull.

Production Director William H. Harrison said the M-4 was "forerunner of thousands of similar design that will be buil tthis year." Other plants now making M-3s shortly will convert to M-4s.

The army has announced changed emphasis in its armored divisions, exactly reversing the previous 2 to 1 preponderance of light tanks over mediums which now prevail.

FEBRUARY GASOLINE TAXES SET RECORD; SHARP DIP EXPECTED

Springfield, Ill., March 3 (AP).—What may one of the last bountiful collections of motor fuel tax in Illinois until after the war—a record February total of $3,630,879—was reported today by Finance Director George B. McKibbin as unmistakable signs of a slump in highway traffic developed thruout the state.

The apparent sharp reduction in highway traffic which has been developing for two weeks or more did not affect the February collections, which reflected wholesale sales made during January.

February's collections were $140,931 higher than those of February, 1941. McKibbin said that in view of the auto and tire rationing a slump in gasoline tax collections may be expected in the future.

Interviews with gas station attendants in several sections of the state brought estimates, based upon their own sales reductions, that traffic had decreased from 25 to 60 per cent in their localities.

February War Spending Sets Monthly Peak

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—War spending reached a new peak of $2,201,081,089 in February. The treasury, announcing this figure today, said that altho the month had three fewer days, its spending total was 100 million more than January's. The amount was nearly four times that of February last year.

February costs brought war spending for the first eight months of the fiscal year to $12,516,021,882. The government will have to spend nearly that much more in the remaining four months of the year to meet President Roosevelt's budget estimate of $23,996,525,400.

Including other governmental costs, total treasury expenditures last month were $2,629,839,201, bringing the eight month overall total to $16,813,666,775. Revenues in this period were only about a third of expenditures, and the eight months' deficit soared to the record figure of $11,312,132,576.

Early returns on 1941 income taxes, however, were favorable. February income tax collections, amounting to $282,505,926, were more than double the $104,408,150 taken in February of last year. The big income tax collection will be made this month and is expected to reach approximately $2,750,000,000.

The federal debt at the end of January was at a new high of $62,380,505,166, an increase of approximately $2,370,000,000 in the last month.

February war costs included: Army, $1,098,850,599; navy, $530,611,138; lend-lease, $431,682,663; maritime commission, $60,892,352.

Put Argentine Butter on Sale Here 1st Time

Seven carloads, approximately a quarter million pounds, of Argentine butter arrived in Chicago for resale yesterday. Dairy men said it was the first butter from Argentina that ever reached this area.

The butter was consigned to Frank Collyer, a broker in dairy products, who described it as light, medium yellow in color and much like the sweet cream butter of this country.

Collyer said the butterfat content appeared to be higher than the domestic product. In the first car he inspected, he said the butterfat content tested 83 per cent compared with 80 per cent usually found in United States butter. He said the salt content was approximately 2 per cent against 3 per cent or more in domestic.

Offered at Domestic Prices.

The butter, according to Collyer, will grade 90 to 91 score. He is offering it for sale at around 33½ cents a pound. Butter of the same grade from Illinois, Iowa, and Wisconsin sold at the same price in Chicago yesterday.

Wholesale prices of domestic butter held unchanged as the Dairy Products Marketing association spent another $300,000 to support the market at present levels. It purchased 982,032 pounds in Chicago and 75,285 in New York.

Butter advanced 1-10 cent a pound in futures transactions on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, the March contracts finishing at 32.95 cents.

Egg Futures Weaken.

Wholesale egg prices were unchanged but egg futures declined .30 to .35 cent a dozen. October contracts closed at 31.45 cents. The lend-lease buyers continued to support the egg market with the purchase of nearly 77,000 dozens in New York.

Other lend-lease purchases announced yesterday included 24,000 pounds of chocolate; 57,470 cases of canned potatoes; 28,000 pounds of biscuits, and 80,000 pounds of table salt.

OIL WAR COUNCIL URGES EASING OF ANTI-TRUST LAWS

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—The economics committee of the petroleum industry war council declared today that "some more definite relaxation of the anti-trust laws" appeared necessary to facilitate coördination of the industry to meet war needs.

"The present practice of obtaining clearance letters from the attorney general," the committee said, "appears both cumbersome and inadequate to facilitate what needs to be done" for war purposes.

Leon Henderson, price administrator, told the oil men that all possible study was being given to price adjustments in view of industry dislocations due to transportation problems and adjustments to a war footing.

PROPOSE BASIC CORPORATE TAX RATE OF 55 PCT.

'Excess Profit' Levy Would Be Boosted.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—The basic tax rate on corporation profits would be increased from 31 to 55 per cent under the program submitted to congress today by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau. Higher rates on the "excess profits" of corporations were also included in the treasury's recommendations.

The increase in the basic tax of corporations would be made thru changes in the present surtaxes. Corporations with net income of more than $25,000 a year now pay a normal tax of 24 per cent and a surtax of 7 per cent, a combined effective rate of 31 per cent. The treasury program proposes that the 7 per cent surtax rate be increased to 31 per cent and the present normal tax rate be retained. This would result in an effective basic rate of 55 per cent.

Special Relief Proposed.

Special relief from the 31 per cent surtax would be given to corporations whose net incomes fall below the average for the years 1936-'39. They would be given a credit 10 per cent of the difference between average net income in the base period and the current tax year. This credit, however, could not exceed 20 per cent of surtax net income and would be granted only to corporations with net income of more than $25,000.

The present surtax rate of 6 per cent which is paid by corporations with net income of $25,000 or less a year would be raised to 16 per cent under the program. Normal rates for corporations in this bracket would not be changed.

Tax rates on excess profits, which now range from 35 to 60 per cent, would be increased in all brackets. The rate on the first $20,000 of excess profits would be 50 per cent and would progress to a maximum of 75 per cent on excess profits above $500,000 under the recommendations made to congress.

Could Take Up to 87 Per Cent.

The combined effect of the normal tax, surtax, and excess profits tax would, in some instances, produce an overall rate as high as 87 per cent on that portion of earnings in the top excess profits bracket, treasury officials said.

To avoid destroying the incentive to increase production that might result from such a high rate, the treasury included in its recommendations a scheme under which all taxes collected from corporations in excess of 80 per cent of earnings be credited to the taxpayer and be returned after the war. The plan is similar to one used in England.

Other changes affecting corporations as suggested by the treasury included the repeal of the capital stock tax and its alternate excess profits tax [separate from the wartime excess profits tax].

Advises End of "Guessing."

Secretary Morgenthau said that the repeal of these taxes would mean the loss of 300 millions in revenue, but that the tax is determined largely by the accuracy of guesses about future earnings. In a period like the present, he said, it is advisable to eliminate the need for guessing about future earnings.

No change was recommended by the treasury in the basic method of computing excess profits taxes. Corporations would be permitted the choice of the two methods provided in the present law. Earlier the administration had indicated it would insist on the adoption of a straight "invested capital" formula for determining excess profits, eliminating the present alternate "average earnings" method.

All New Installations of Dial Phones Are Banned by WPB

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—Further installations of dial telephone exchanges and extension phones in private homes were forbidden by the War Production board today unless such work is "essential for public health and safety."

Acting to save large amounts of critical materials by strictly limiting future engineering practices of telephone companies, the board also forbade replacement of existing wall and desk type phones with hand sets, except when an instrument is beyond repair, and ordered party lines installed wherever such lines would conserve scarce materials.

No further replactments or additions to existing plants for service improvements or plant relocations may be made under the order, which is effective immediately.

Provides Rayon Supply.

The board announced that rayon producers would be ordered to make available 1,800,000 pounds of viscose rayon to worsted manufacturers in March and April, enabling them to expand the blending of wool and rayon in manufacture of yarns and clothing fabrics.

This month the allocation to each worsted company will be made on the basis of an amount of rayon equal to one-half of 1 per cent of the total wool processed by it during the first half of 1941; the April allocation will be 1 per cent and officials said that allotments for May and June would be at least equal to the April figure. The blending order was a direct result of drastic curtailments in supplies of new wool available for civilian production.

Simultaneously the WPB granted higher preference ratings on deliveries of maintenance and repair parts for textile mills, in a move to speed up war work. Huge army-navy contracts have put the industry on a three shift basis and demands for repair parts have doubled in the last 20 months, WPB said.

Services to Get Refrigerators.

The board issued orders permitting the army, navy, and maritime commission to obtain new mechanical refrigerators without first obtaining specific permission from WPB. On Feb. 10 the board ordered stocks of refrigerators frozen, subject to government distribution.

Zinc producers were ordered to set aside an amount equal to 50 per cent of their December, 1941, high grade and special high grade zinc production and 40 per cent of all other grades in the March zinc pool. Supplies in this pool are subject to government distribution.

The Office of Price administration said that price ceilings on plumbing fixtures and cast iron boilers and radiators probably would be established within the next month. Officials reported that cost on some of the items affected had advanced as much as 15 per cent recently.

CURBS ANTICIPATED.

A spokesman for the Illinois Bell Telephone company indicated yesterday that the restrictions imposed by the War Production board had been carried out voluntarily by the company for the last year. Officers declined further comment pending receipt of the order, but they called attention to the materials conservation program outlined in the company's 1941 annual report. The report showed changes in installations had been kept to a minimum, used materials reconditioned when possible, and a long range dial phone system postponed indefinitely.

Corporation Tax Rates

Washington, D. C., March 3.—How new excess profits tax rates proposed by the treasury today compare with those now in effect is shown in the following table:

RATES APPLICABLE TO ADJUSTED EXCESS PROFITS NET INCOME.

	Present law. Pct.	Proposed law. Pct.
First $20,000	35	50
$20,000 to $50,000	40	55
$50,000 to $100,000	45	60
$100,000 to $250,000	50	65
$250,000 to $500,000	55	70
Over $500,000	60	75

The treasury program makes no change in the present method of determining excess profits. Corporations would have the option of using the present invested capital method or the average earnings formula.

The proposed surtax rates on corporation income and existing rates are as follows:

	Present law. Pct.	Proposed law. Pct.
[1] CORPORATIONS WITH NET INCOME OF NOT MORE THAN $25,000.
First $25,000	6	16
[2] CORPORATIONS WITH NET INCOME OVER $25,000.
First $25,000	6	31
Over $25,000	7	31

Note—Relief provision: Corporations with current year surtax net income less than the average surtax net income for the base period years 1936-1939 are allowed a tax credit of 10 per cent of the difference, but not to exceed 20 per cent of surtax net income. This provision applies only to corporations with net income over $25,000.]

The existing 15 to 19 per cent normal tax rates applying to corporations with net income of $25,000 or less would be retained under the treasury's recommendations. The flat 24 per cent normal rate for corporations with net income of more than $25,000 would also be retained.

WLB Hearing on 'Little Steel' Dispute Starts

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—A special panel of the War Labor board began an investigation on the "Little Steel" wage and union security dispute today and a board official predicted that it would be two or three weeks before the panel could report its findings to the full board.

The investigating panel is composed of Arthur S. Meyer, chairman; Cyrus Ching and Richard T. Frankensteen. Meyer is chairman of the New York state board of mediation, Ching is vice president of the United States Rubber company, and Frankensteen is director of aircraft organization of the CIO United Automobile Workers.

The only issues before the panel are the demands of the CIO Steel Workers Organizing committee for a union shop and a general wage increase of $1 a day.

The companies involved are the Bethlehem Steel corporation, Republic Steel corporation, Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, and the Inland Steel company. The companies employ 182,000 workers.

END ARMAMENT WORK BIDS TO SPEED SUPPLIES

Expected to Assist Small Plants.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 3.—In a sweeping reorganization of contract awarding procedure, Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, ordered tonight that all future military supply contracts be placed quickly by negotiation rather than by competitive bidding, and primary emphasis be placed on speedy delivery.

He also directed that small business be given special aid by directing that "contracts for standard and semi-standard articles relatively simple to make shall be placed with smaller concerns, so that the facilities of the larger, more fully equipped firms may remain available for production of more difficult and complicated items." The production program will gain all around thru this practice, he said.

[Nelson is scheduled to testify today before the senate banking and currency committee on a bill that would add to the WPB a representative of small business.]

Efficient Use of Tools.

Subject to the considerations for negotiating contracts, speedy delivery of war materials, and broader placing of contracts, Nelson ruled that contracts are to be placed with companies which need the smallest quantities of new machinery and equipment. This is designed to use most efficiently existing machine tools.

"In my opinion," said Nelson, "compliance with the terms of this directive will result in speedier and more efficient war procurement and in maximum utilization of the productive capacity of the nation. The placing of contracts will be immensely speeded, and we shall be able to bring into war production many factories which have not hitherto been used."

Simultaneously, the Office of Price Administration revamped its organization to facilitate enforcement of commodity rationing, rent control, and other war controls. Price Administrator Leon Henderson established six main divisions within the OPA and the head of each division was delegated full authority to handle specific problems coming before those divisions. These heads will be responsible to Henderson.

Divisions and Their Heads.

The divisions and their heads are: Rationing, John E. Hamm, deputy price administrator who is raised to rank of senior deputy administrator and second to Henderson; rent, Paul A. Porter, former executive assistant to the defense commissioner in charge of agriculture and now Washington counsel for the Columbia Broadcasting system; food and apparel, Howard Tolley, loaned from his post as chief of the bureau of agricultural economics; industrial material, Donald Wallace, former assistant director of price division; general products, Herbert F. Taggart who will also continue as head of the division of accounting, analysis, and review; and fuel, no appointment yet.

J. K. Galbraith, until now assistant administrator, was named chief deputy administrator and will assist Henderson on labor, shipping, transportation, and taxation matters. John S. Keir, executive vice president of the Dennison Manufacturing company, was appointed "acting administrative deputy administrator."

STOCKS TAKE TAX NEWS IN STRIDE WITH FAIR RALLY

'Bellwethers' Add Gains of Point or More.

New York, March 3 (AP).—The bad news was out on the huge treasury tax program today and the stock market followed precedent by putting on a selective rally.

Bellwethers such as American Telephone, United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, du Pont, Eastman Kodak, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, International Harvester, and United Aircraft ended with gains of 1 to around 2 points.

The list was slightly mixed at the start. It got a foothold on recovery after midday when those who were short of a number of high priced issues began to bid for them and found it difficult to bring out stock.

Gains the Rule at Close.

Small gains were the rule for the majority of the relatively active movers at the close altho many issues failed to get ahead. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .3 of a point at 37, best upturn since Feb. 14. Dealings, slow most of the time, picked up at the last and transfers totaled 409,120 shares compared with 325,305 yesterday.

Next to the long awaited tax proposals of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, the average 6 per cent freight rate boost granted the railways after Monday's close was one of the principal subjects discussed in boardrooms. The increase was about in line with expectations but under that asked by the roads.

The administrative tax schedule was termed "drastic" by brokers, but it was not overlooked that congress might make a lot of alterations in the revenue bill before its passage.

Among stocks Santa Fe posted a new high for the year while Standard Brands dipped to a record low.

CHICAGO TRADING FALLS.

Volume of trading fell to 16,000 shares on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, with price changes limited mostly to fractional amounts. Of the 94 issues traded, 42 advanced, 29 declined, and 23 closed at Monday's final levels. Commonwealth Edison, the most active stock on the list, closed unchanged at 20⅝ on a turnover of 950 shares. General Motors was ⅛ point higher at 34⅜, and Swift appreciated ¼ to 24¼. Stocks were without trend in the half hour the exchange remained open after the final bell in New York.

BANKERS TRUST CUTS DIVIDEND AS TAXES MOUNT

Directors of the Bankers Trust company, New York, yesterday ordered a quarterly dividend on common stock of 35 cents. Previous quarterly payments of 50 cents have been made since 1935. The reduced rate was attributed to an increasing tax burden.

Noblitt-Sparks Industries, Inc., Columbus, Ind., manufacturer of automobile parts and accessories, announced a 50 cent dividend on common stock. In 1941 three payments of 25 cents each and one of $1.25 were made on the issue.

Commodities

Strength in grain was reflected in the cotton futures market yesterday as prices closed 45 to 55 cents a bale higher. The possibility of revision of the government cotton selling program in view of reports that the Commodity Credit corporation would suspend offerings of wheat after March 14 also helped stimulate demand, brokers said.

Wool top futures were strong, closing prices registering gains of .9 to 1.0 cent a pound. Grease wool was .2 cent a pound lower to .5 cent higher. Cocoa was mixed, .01 cent lower to .01 higher. Coffee and cottonseed oil were unchanged.

EXPECT CANNED FOODS PRICES TO REMAIN HIGH

Wholesale Ceilings Set for Sixty Days.

For the next 60 days Chicagoans probably will continue to pay higher prices for canned foods than they have at any time since 1929, food industry spokesmen said yesterday on the basis of newly established temporary price ceilings on 11 varieties of canned fruit and 15 varieties of canned vegetables.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson clamped wholesale price ceilings on these items Monday after canned foods had advanced about 20 per cent at wholesale in the last six months to the highest levels in a decade. The ceilings are the top prices charged during the five days, Feb. 23 to Feb. 27.

Apply to Wholesale Prices.

While the ceilings apply only to wholesale prices, men in the industry said they would continue to be reflected in what the housewife pays. THE TRIBUNE yesterday printed the approximate price wholesalers would have to pay for the canned foods. Today it lists the approximate prices the retail grocer may have to pay as long as the ceilings are in effect.

The price schedule was prepared by the Independent Grocers' Alliance of America. It covers "standard" grade foods only. Fruit prices apply to products of California packing companies. The prices are for stores in the Chicago area, and represent the approximate amount the store owner will have to pay for the canned food he sells.

Prices Per Dozen Cans.

The price list follows:

	Per doz.
Pork and beans, No. 2 can	$1.15
Green beans, No. 2 can, cut	1.35
Corn, No. 2 can	1.20
Peas, No. 2 can	1.45

Ceiling prices are in effect on apples, apple sauce, apricots, cherries, fruit cocktail, fruit salad, peaches, pears, pineapples, plums, asparagus, beans, beets, carrots, corn, peas, pumpkin, sauerkraut, spinach, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, tomato catsup, and tomato juice.

Dog Food Producer Solves Problem of Can Scarcity

Ottumwa, Ia., March 3 (AP).—John Morrell & Co., which claims to be the largest American packer of dog food, announced today it had solved the packaging problem and soon will produce its prepared dog ration in dehydrated form. Canning halted here last week under the war production ban on canning of dog food to save metal. The new food will require addition of water.

Wheat Futures Rise on Report Federal Selling May Be Halted

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Wheat staged a rapid advance on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, gaining as much as 2 cents a bushel on Washington reports that the Commodity Credit corporation would suspend sale of government owned wheat for general milling purposes after March 14. Other grains rose in sympathy.

Buying subsided shortly after the opening and the market gave up some of its gains. At the finish, wheat prices were up ⅞ to a cent a bushel with May contracts at $1.29⅝. Corn was ¾ to ⅞ cent higher, oats up ¼ to ⅜ cent; rye, ¼ to ½ cent higher, and soy beans up ⅛ to ⅝ cent. Lard advanced 2½ to 5 cents per hundredweight.

Priced Here at $1.32.

For the last two months the credit corporation has offered the government owned bread grain to the mills. These sales have tended to prevent open market quotations from rising above the offering levels. Until the 14th the wheat is available at 17 cents a bushel over the government's loan rate in the area in which the wheat is stored. In Chicago the grain is offered at approximately $1.32 a bushel.

The selling price has been consistently below parity. Traders said that, since this has been a major point of controversy between the congressional farm bloc and the administration, they interpreted the move as an attempt to adjust the dispute.

After the shorts completed their initial rush to cover, trading activity diminished to the levels that have prevailed for the last several weeks. The volume of grain business transacted on the exchange is near the lowest levels it has ever reached.

"Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard's statement that the department of agriculture does not quite understand what the Office of Price Administration is doing could be expanded to cover a lot of other territory and is just what the grain trade has been cognizant of for a long time," Thomson & McKinnon, grain commission house, stated in its morning grain review.

"This has been the major factor in curtailing outside trading interest, due to the practical impossibility of trying to unravel the reasons behind, or guess the next Washington move, many of which, according to surface information, have no sound background," the review said.

WOULD ABOLISH MART.

Winnipeg, March 3 [Special].—A Canadian government spokesman said today that the Winnipeg Grain exchange was "holding up" the plan of the government to increase the minimum price of the 1942 wheat crop from 70 cents, the 1941 minimum, to 80 or 90 cents. He said western members of parliament would seek to abolish the exchange, and insist the government take over the wheat business for the duration of the war.

ORDER TO RATION ALL GASOLINE IS EXPECTED SOON

New York, March 3 (AP).—Oil men said today that fuel oil supplies on the eastern seaboard have been reduced so sharply by tanker shortages and torpedoings that gasoline rationing, even on a national scale, may be necessary within a few days. Members of the industry said gasoline rationing might be needed to allow tankers and tank cars to concentrate on building up supplies of fuel oil in the east coast area from Georgia to Maine.

Eastern home owners already have been rationed by companies supplying them with fuel oil, with each purchaser allowed no re-fills until his furnace tank is four-fifths empty and none given more than 75 per cent of capacity.

Reports by the petroleum Institute of America show the rate at which the home fuel oil supplies in the eastern area dwindled from Jan. 31 until Feb. 21, the latest date at which figures are available. The report showed the stocks, in barrels, as follows: Jan. 31, 13,400,000; Feb. 7, 12,756,000; Feb. 10, 10,328,000; Feb. 21, 9,053,000.

American Exports in Year Exceed 5 Billion Dollars

Washington, D. C., March 3 (AP).—The commerce department announced today that United States merchandise exports, including lend-lease shipments, totaled $5,145,786,000 last year, and were the highest since 1929. Imports amounted to $3,345,058,000 and were the highest in history.

People and Events

Jack Tompkins has been appointed Chicago district traffic manager of American Air-lines, Inc., it was announced yesterday. Since joining the air line in 1939, Tompkins has been agency manager in Detroit and assistant to the manager of the foreign department.

Jack Tompkins.

William S. Ford.

William S. Ford, president of the management engineering firm of William S. Ford, Inc., Milwaukee, has been elected vice president of the Trundle Engineering company. He will be in charge of the latter's Chicago offices and operations in the Chicago area.

D. Edwin Gamble, vice president and general manager of the Bork and Beck division of the Borg-Warner corporation, Chicago, has joined the staff of the ordnance branch of the WPB production division.

Maurice H. Karker, president of the Jewel Tea company, and Elmer T. Stevens, president of Charles A. Stevens & Co., will discuss retailing in wartime economy at the Economic Club of Chicago luncheon forum, Saturday in the Chicago club.

Clifford V. Harrow, for the last year division freight agent for the Erie railroad at Rochester, N. Y., has been appointed assistant general freight agent for the road at Chicago.

PER CAPITA USE OF DAIRY ITEMS LOWER FOR 1941

Per capita consumption of dairy products declined in 1941 as lend-lease buying boosted prices, a report from the agricultural marketing service disclosed yesterday. The service said department of agriculture statisticians estimated that the average American ate 16.6 pounds of butter last year, compared with 17.1 pounds in 1940. Most all dairy products sold at the highest prices in more than a decade.

But while the consumption of butter was dropping, the use of oleomargarine went up. The department said the per capita consumption reached 2.7 pounds against 2.4 in 1940. Cheese consumption declined from 6 pounds per person in 1940 to 5.7 pounds last year.

With milk prices rising sharply, the consumers turned to a larger use of evaporated milk. The department estimates the per capita consumption at 18.46 pounds in 1941 compared with 17.57 pounds in 1940.

CHICAGO'S BUILDERS, BANKERS STUDY WAR PROBLEMS TOMORROW

Building industry problems during wartime and after will attract more than one thousand representatives of construction, real estate, architectural and mortgage banking firms at the annual building conference tomorrow night in the Palmer house, Paul D. Angell, secretary of the Chicago Building congress, announced yesterday.

Sullivan W. Jones, chief of the housing construction section of the War Production board, will discuss building in wartime, Angell said. Frank W. Herring, chief of the building construction section of the National Resources Planning board, will suggest postwar readjustments in the industry to provide employment and slum reclamation.

The conference is conducted by the building congress which represents all phases of the Chicago area construction industry.

AMERICAN CHICLE HEAD PREDICTS SLUMP IN SALES

Sugar Restrictions Will Curtail Output.

Sales of American Chicle company probably will drop 10 or 15 per cent below the all-time high of 1941 because of sugar curtailments, Thomas H. Blodgett, president and chairman, told stockholders yesterday at the annual meeting in Long Island City, N. Y.

Blodgett said sales last year exceeded 20 million dollars. He said the company has a year's supply of sugar, which is rationed on the basis of 80 per cent of 1941 consumption.

Tells Loss Thru War.

Describing the effect of the war in the South Pacific, he said that American Chicle's 60 thousand dollar investment in Sarawak, on the Island of Borneo, was a complete loss.

He said the company has for a few years been experimenting in Brazil's Amazon jungles on a substitute for perishable gum which came from Borneo and the Federated Malay States. Research in the wild rubber area of Brazil has developed an acceptable substitute. However, shipping and other problems still have to be surmounted.

Blodgett described how the company has adjusted to the government's conservation of sugar. He said production of less popular products has been reduced, samples cut sharply and sales in certain areas restricted. A large part of the company's export business has been transferred to Latin American plants and a new factory has been opened in Venezuela. There is no control over sugar use in Latin America.

Subs Cut Chile Imports.

Submarine activity in the Atlantic has halted chicle shipments by boats from Mexico, P. L. Becker, vice president, said. He added that if the danger continues, chicle will be shipped by rail.

Stockholders of the Air-Way Electric Appliance corporation approved a capital reorganization plan under which present common and preferred stocks are replaced by 400,000 shares of $3 par common stock.

The board of directors of the Purity Bakeries corporation was reëlected by stockholders at the annual meeting in Chicago.

Stockholders of Noblitt-Sparks Industries at their annual meeting elected to the board of directors Dr. Frank H. Sparks, president of Wabash college and a co-founder of the company.

Rug Firm Turns to War.

How a carpet and rug company is being converted to war work was revealed at the annual meeting of the Bigelow-Sanford Carpet company. John A. Sweetser, president, told the stockholders that two machine shops are working 168 hours a week on machines and parts carrying high priority ratings. Other facilities of the company are being devoted to the manufacture of new types of wartime rugs and carpets.

Stockholders of the International Cellucotton Products company at the annual meeting in Chicago reëlected the incumbent directors and named Roy B. Cassingham, sales manager of the company, to the board to replace Morton Hague, a vice president, who resigned last year.

ALLOT BILLION IN YEAR TO LIFT STEEL OUTPUT

New York, March 3 (AP).—The American Iron and Steel institute said today $1,100,000,000 in private and government funds was spent in 1941 or allotted for expenditure this year to increase steel output for war needs.

Steel companies last year spent 295 millions for new equipment and construction and this year plan further expenditure of 260 million for the same purposes.

Investment in new steel plants and equipment from 1935 thru 1941 totaled $2,207,000,000. Total capacity in 1929 was about 71,500,000 tons, but by last year the industry was able to produce 83,000,000 tons a year, or 97 per cent of capacity.

Carnegie Steel Executive Named Head of WPB Unit

Orrin H. Baker, an executive in the sales department of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's Chicago offices, yesterday was appointed head of the rail unit of the iron and steel branch of the War Production board. A. S. Hoff of Chicago, formerly with the Inland Steel company, was made an assistant to the head of the plate and shape unit.

RAILROADS PUSH WORK ON FREIGHT RATE INCREASES

Expect Effective Date to Be March 18.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Freight experts for the western traffic executives' committee were busy yesterday working out the details for putting the rate increases granted by the Interstate Commerce commission into effect as soon as possible. J. C. Farmar, chairman of the committee, said he hopes to announce the effective date today. It is expected to be about March 18.

Most of the Chicago railroads, which are known as granger roads because they serve the farm districts, said they were particularly disappointed because they are allowed to increase rates on most agricultural products only 3 per cent. The commission granted the roads authority to increase rates on most other commodities by 6 per cent.

Largest Revenue Source.

The western roads are reported to derive approimately one-third of their revenues from agricultural shipments—the largest single source of their revenues. On the other hand the eastern roads which haul vast amounts of manufactured articles get the benefit to a larger degree of the 6 per cent increases.

In addition to grains and live stock, the western roads move huge quantities of meats and dairy and poultry products, all of which come under the 3 per cent boost. Citrus fruits, including the oranges of the west and the south, come under the 3 per cent classification.

Executives of leading western roads said they do not expect that the increases granted will come anywhere near offsetting the cost of higher wages and materials.

Cross Country Roads Gain.

However, the transcontinental roads which are moving considerable amounts of materials used in the war effort will probably come out somewhat better than the purely granger roads, it was said. Among the transcontinental lines sharing in the war business are the Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, and Union Pacific. Because of the shifting of freight from the oceans to the rail carriers wherever possible these roads are in a position to increase revenues.

One executive said the only cheering possibilities he could see in the 3 per cent increases are:

1. The increase is so small that it is unlikely there will be any objections from shippers to cause expensive hearings.

2. The sharp increase in volume of shipments may produce revenues which may offset to some extent the limited amount of the rate increases.

Expected to Add 203 Million.

The freight rate increases authorized by the ICC are estimated to produce about 203 million dollars annually in additional revenues and the 10 per cent increase in passenger fares, authorized recently, is expected to produce about 46 millions annually. It is estimated that the wage increases granted late last year will cost the roads 300 to 325 million dollars a year.

The Dow Jones news agency estimated yesterday what the freight rate increases will produce and what the wage increase costs will be for a number of roads, including the following Chicago roads:

	Cost of wage increases.	Est. inc. in freight rev.
Burlington	$ 6,800,000	$4,744,000
Illinois Central	8,200,000	6,024,000
Milwaukee	8,300,000	5,862,000
North Western	7,100,000	4,316,000
Rock Island	5,500,000	3,954,000
Santa Fe	12,600,000	9,256,000

Passenger revenue increases were not taken into consideration in these figures.

ANALYSIS SHOWS HOW TAXES BITE INTO EARNINGS

Outrun Rise of Industrial Output in 1941.

Altho industrial production has risen to alltime high levels, corporate earnings have lagged in the upward trend, an analysis of 1941 annual reports revealed yesterday. Taxes are the main factor in retarding the gain in net income, it was indicated.

Cost of labor and raw materials rose with the expanding production—a normal experience—but the sharp rise in income and excess profits taxes far outdistanced any benefits from economies from spreading overhead over a larger output. Some adverse influence later in 1941 came from priorities and price restrictions.

Castle Tax Up Nine-Fold.

A random selection of 10 companies which recently reported their 1941 earnings demonstrates the heavy toll taken by higher corporate taxes. The A. M. Castle company, a large Chicago steel jobber, reported that 1941 provision for federal income and excess profits totaled $1,717,000, almost 10 times the $182,095 set aside for 1940.

Another Chicago corporation, the Quaker Oats company, reserved $2,084,559 for income taxes, against $1,289,975 in 1940. The world's largest utility system—the American Telephone and Telegraph company and subsidiaries—had total taxes of $288,493,000 for 1941, a 44 per cent increase from $200,214,000 for 1940.

A comparison of tax provisions of the 10 companies in 1941 and 1940 follows:

	1941.	1940.
American Can	$ 25,473,472	$ 11,916,359
Am Tel and Tel..	288,493,000	200,214,000
Butler Brothers	1,700,000	269,000
A M Castle & Co	1,717,000	182,095
Caterpillar Tractor	9,190,726	4,286,788
Commonwealth Ed	39,738,877	31,404,055
Libbey-Owens-F Gl	8,150,000	5,125,000
Nat Distil'rs Prdts	3,238,848	2,226,750
Pure Oil	7,745,180	3,788,191
Quaker Oats	2,084,559	1,289,975

Average Gain 21½ Per Cent.

A study by the research department of Standard & Poor's corporation of 410 companies reporting on a calendar year basis disclosed that their 1941 net earnings rose an average of 21.5 per cent compared with 1940 income. This percentage gain would have been about twice as large if corporate taxes had not been increased in 1941.

In the face of higher taxes, corporations generally reported higher net profits, the analysis disclosed. However, there were some major exceptions: [1] utilities, which were caught between higher taxes, fixed rates, and limited room for expansion; [2] some consumer goods industries, which could not raise prices or expand sales sufficiently, and [3] the precious metal group, which was squeezed between fixed prices for gold and silver and rising costs and taxes.

Aircrafts Show Best Gain.

Of the 410 companies' reports studied, aircraft makers showed a 618.4 per cent gain in earnings after taxes, shipping and shipbuilders, 212.7 per cent; leather and shoes, 218.7 per cent, railroads, 135 per cent; oil companies, 84 per cent and meats and dairy, 69.2 per cent.

In contrast, steel companies net income in 1941 gained only 11 per cent, electrical products 23.3 per cent, retail stores 0.8 per cent, and tires and rubber 20.7 per cent. On the reverse side, gold and silver company earnings declined 26.1 per cent, electric and gas utilities, 6.9 per cent, tobacco companies, 11 per cent, brewing and distilling, 12.7 per cent, and baking and milling, 6.5 per cent.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Trees Moved at Farm.

March 3, 1942.

The annual winter tree moving program at the farm was finished last week with the transplanting of three large elms. Each winter old or diseased trees are marked for removal and young, healthy specimens are selected to take their place. As a result of this plan the trees that decorate the farm homes and act as windbreaks are all prime specimens.

In a long avenue of elms near one of the farm homes there were three trees that suffered badly from wilt last summer. The gardener marked them for destruction. To succeed them he selected two large elms about 13 inches in diameter and one about 8 inches in diameter.

Before the ground froze this winter the gardener dug a trench around each tree to be transplanted. The trenches were 18 feet in diameter and about two feet deep.

Loosened by Tractors.

The trenches were extended under the large roots to loosen the trees. Last week, the tractor was put to work bending the trees first one way then another. As the trees were bent dirt was shoveled underneath to force them to rise. When they were high enough, they were removed from their holes and carted to the new locations.

The big balls of dirt that surrounded the roots were not wrapped, as they were frozen solid. After the trees were reset they were watered heavily and firmly packed.

The diseased elms were burned to make way for the new trees. In the spring the gardener will spray the trunks of the transplanted trees with a waxy substance to prevent any extreme loss of moisture. The trees had been sprayed with the same solution last fall.

Pruned Dead Branches.

The gardener has started pruning the trees in the arboretum in anticipation of spring. Old, dead branches were clipped off of trees and shrubs to make way for the new cane and to shape the plants.

There seems to be plenty of moisture in the soil to help spring planting get a good start in spite of the relatively small amount of snow during the winter. Heavy rains last fall gave the subsoil a chance to replenish its supply and there has been enough moisture this winter to keep the ground well watered.

The wheat field came thru the winter in good condition and very little of the stand suffered from heaving. Constant cold weather this winter kept freezing and thawing down to a minimum and as a result the wheat and alfalfa have done well.

BIG COMPANIES EARN MORE THO TAX BILLS RISE

White Motor's Net Profit Is New Record.

Increased earnings, despite much higher taxes, were shown in the annual reports of a number of corporations issuing statements to stockholders yesterday. Many of the corporations are engaged directly in the armament program.

White Motor company of Cleveland, which is turning out trucks and other equipment for the armed forces, had the largest earnings on record. The 1941 profits were $2,753,915, equal to $4.40 a share, against $1,952,728, or $3.12 a share, in 1940.

The advance was achieved despite a federal income and excess profits tax bill which rose from $758,237 to $4,355,993. The company announced its current volume of unfilled orders is more than twice last year's sales.

Another's Profit Sets Record.

Another company turning out arms materials, Bridgeport Brass company of Bridgeport, Conn., also announced its largest earnings on record. Last year's profits were $1,932,150, compared with $1,258,776 in 1940, equal to $2.03 and $1.33 a share in the respective years. For federal income and excess profits taxes the company set aside $4,805,000, against $1,216,459 the year before.

North American Aviation, Inc., warplane manufacturer at Inglewood, Cal., issued a report for the December quarter showing net profit of $2,738,543, compared with $2,362,798 in the last three months of 1940. The earnings were equal to 80 and 69 cents a share. The company provided $5,042,C00 for federal taxes and charged $450,000 of the quarter's earnings to its contingency reserve.

Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., Chicago wholesaler or hardware and related products, reporting for the first time since its fiscal year was changed to end on Jan. 31, announced net earnings of $736,793 for the 13 months ended with January. The company earned $603,133 in the calendar year 1940. The earnings were equivalent to $3.68 and $3.01 a share in the respective periods.

Sales Reach High Level.

C. J. Whipple, president, told stockholders, "In spite of being closed seven weeks by a strike of warehouse employés, sales were substantially larger than in 1940 and, except for some of the years in the early '20s, when prices were on a much higher level, were the largest in our history. Our inventory is the largest in history at this time of the year and is largely confined to merchandise purchased before price advances."

Simmons company, mattress and furniture manufacturing firm, announced in a preliminary report issued at New York that 1941 consolidated net income was $3,511,112, against $2,702,298 in 1940, equal to $3.03 and $2.33 a share in the respective years.

Hazel-Atlas Glass company, major producer of containers, reported from Wheeling, W. Va., that earnings for the year ended Dec. 27 increased to $2,881,521, equal to $6.63 a share, from $2,597,815, or $5.98 a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

Harbison-Walker Refractories company of Pittsburgh, a major producer of fire brick, announced 1941 net profit of $2,608,813, equivalent to $1.81 a share, against $2,513,935, or $1.71 a share, in 1940. Federal taxes increased from $1,192,803 to $3,860,866.

Kalamazoo Stove and Furnace company reported 1941 net profit of $482,160, equal to $1.60 a share, compared with the preceding year's $588,104, or $1.96 a share.

PROFIT DOUBLED BY N. Y. CENTRAL AS COSTS MOUNT

Revenue Gains Offset Tax and Wage Boosts.

Despite a tax boost of almost 30 per cent and an increase in operating expenses of almost 19 per cent in 1941, the New York Central Railroad company more than doubled its net income, a preliminary report by F. E. Williamson, president, disclosed yesterday.

Net income for 1941 totaled $26,245,562, the largest in 11 years, and compared with $11,265,084 in 1940. Williamson attributed the sharp gain in profits "in the main to the abnormally high level of governmental expenditure and the consequent expansion of industrial and commercial activity thruout the country."

Revenues Up 20.8 Per Cent.

Railway operating revenues rose 20.8 per cent to $447,789,655 from $370,545,875. Freight revenues were $336,878,403 against $270,274,028 and passenger revenues, $66,609,863 against $59,322,145. Movement of forest products and industrial goods recorded the best gains, ranging from 32.65 per cent to 44.56 per cent.

Partially offsetting this improvement in revenues was an 18.93 per cent increase in railway operating expenses to $331,438,111 from $278,674,980 in 1940. Williamson said the heavier expenses resulted from the larger volume of business, an expanded maintenace program, higher wages, and higher material and supplies costs.

Tax accruals in 1941, the report said, rose 29.7 per cent to $43,411,829 compared with $33,476,019 in 1940. In addition, payments under the federal railroad retirement and unemployment insurance acts totaled $12,729,288 against $10,792,062.

New Equipment Added.

Williamson commented that expenditure of $25,800,000 for new equipment and facilities in 1941 will enable the railroad more effectively to meet the heavy traffic demands placed upon it by the war program.

He listed the following equipment added in 1941: Ten high speed steam locomotives for fast freight, 36 oil electric switching locomotives for yard service, 2,324 freight cars with a total capacity of 133,048 tons, and 98 modern passenger train cars.

Williamson estimated that wage increases effective last Sept. 1 will raise the company's pay roll costs each year [based on 1941 pay roll] $31,497,600, or 15.1 per cent. The increase will consist of $27,268,400 in wage increases, $2,500,000 for vacations with pay, and $1,729,200 in additional pay roll taxes.

Kroger Grocery's 4 Week Sales Rise 28 Per Cent

Cincinnati, O., March 3 (AP).—Kroger Grocery and Baking company announced today that sales in the four weeks ended Feb. 21 were $26,812,768, an increase of 28 per cent over a year ago.

CERTAIN-TEED DEBENTURES.

What data do you have on Certain-teed Products debenture 5½s? What is this issue's lien position? What is the record of fixed charge coverage?—G. C.

Answer: Certain-teed Products corporation 5½ per cent sinking fund debentures, due in 1948, are outstanding in the amount of $8,300,000 and constitute the company's only funded debt. The issue is a direct, unsecured obligation. While these debentures are outstanding no lien may be placed upon any property or assets unless the 5½s are equally secured. The 5½s, traded on the New York Stock exchange, are callable upon 30 days' notice at decreasing premiums.

Interest charges were not covered from 1928 thru 1934 but have been met in recent years. Charges were covered an average of 0.46 times for the 10 years thru 1940. In 1939 and 1940 interest requirements were met 2.07 and 2.26 times and for the nine months thru September, 1941, 4.30 times compared with 1.89 in the same 1940 period. Net income more than doubled in the 1941 quarters, continuing the company's earnings growth in the four preceding years.

Certain-teed is a large manufacturer of building materials. Principal products include wallboard, plasters and asphalt roofing.

GAMBLING LOSSES.

I understand that gambling losses are not deductible but that gambling gains are taxable in full as income. This doesn't seem quite right to me. I should think that at least some allowance should be made for losses.—W. J. G.

Answer: Income tax laws do make an allowance for gambling losses. They may be used to offset gambling gains during the year, altho a net loss may not be deducted from other income. Net gambling gains are taxable in full.

ASSESSMENT INSURANCE.

What is meant by assessment insurance?—B. W.

Answer: Assessment insurance is a type of insurance contract under which the policyholder, after paying stipulated premiums, is liable for assessments when needed to pay claims and expenses.

CHANGE OF METHOD.

Is it necessary to notify the income tax authorities if I change from the accrual to the cash method of reporting my income?—R. B.

Answer: If you wish to change your accounting method, you must first obtain the consent of the commissioner of internal revenue. An application must be filed within 90 days after the beginning of the taxable year to be covered by the return.

TIRE DEALERS PRESS CONGRESS TO SAVE SMALL BUSINESSES

Washington, D. C., March 3.—The growing pressure on congress to protect small businesses from deaths due to priorities and rationing found its outlet today in a hearing before the senate small business committee attended by representatives of the National Association of Independent Tire Dealers. There are 60,000 of these dealers with 300,000 employés.

William Hickey, president of the dealers' association, testified that he and other members were being wiped out by the restrictions on tire sales. Yet, he said, motorists need services from these dealers now more than ever to continue the life of the rubber on their automobiles.

Other members proposed that tires made of reclaimed rubber be used to keep passenger automobiles running and the dealers in business. They suggested that recapped tires which would use only two ounces of pure rubber as a binder for the reclaimed rubber might be a partial answer to the plight of consumers and dealers.

Robert Dean of Louisville, Ky., reported that such a tire would provide 5,000 miles of wear at low speeds.

NEW ENGINE UNIT OF CATERPILLAR TRACTOR FORMED

Peoria, Ill., March 3 [Special].—Formation of the Caterpillar Military Engine company as a new subsidiary of the Caterpillar Tractor company to handle military assignments was revealed yesterday by an announcement in Washington, D. C., that the new company has received a war department contract.

The subsidiary's management is headed by President B. C. Heacock, chairman of the parent company's executive committee. He is also a member of the advisory board of the Chicago ordnance district. Other parent company officials are officers or directors of the subsidiary.

The company will supervise construction of and will operate a plant at Decatur, Ill., costing approximately 5 million dollars.

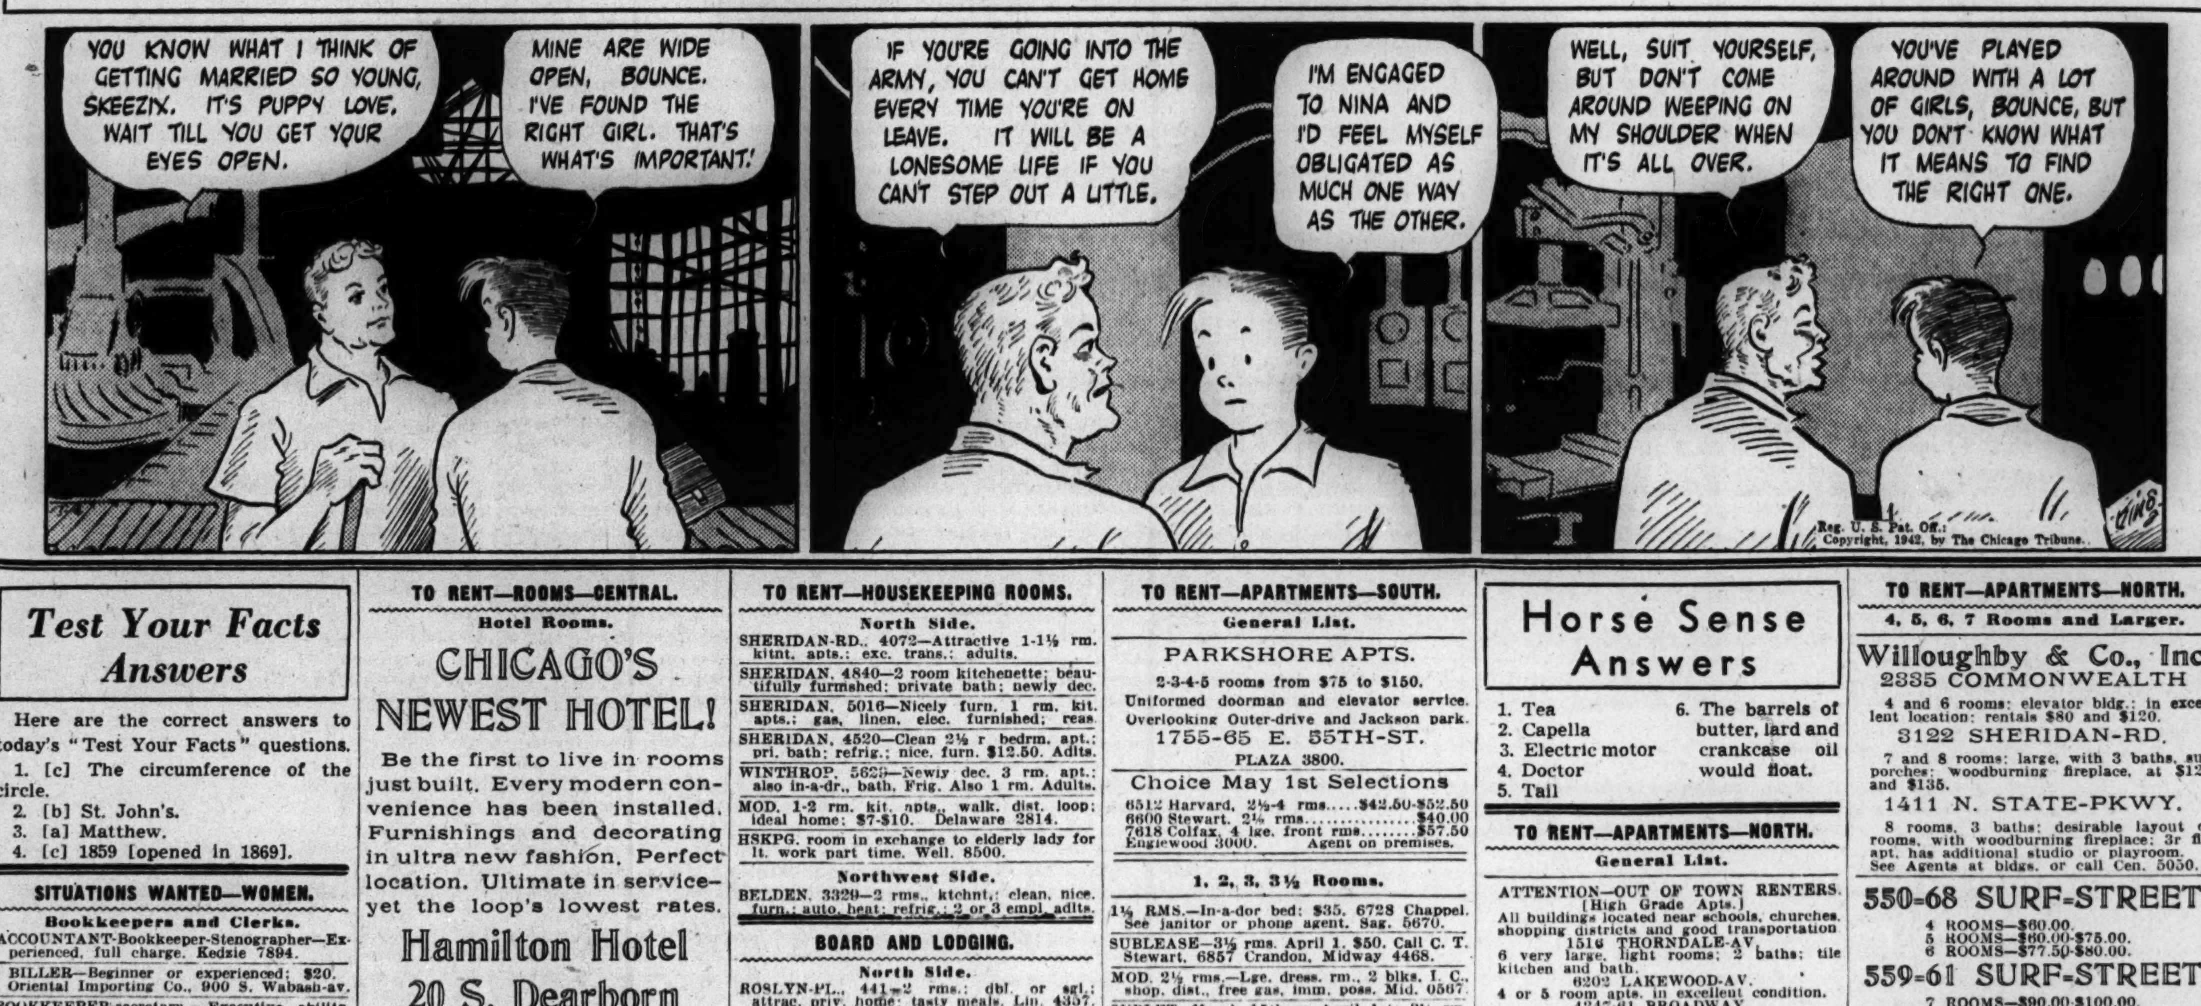
GASOLINE ALLEY—ALL OUT FOR NINA



YOU KNOW WHAT I THINK OF GETTING MARRIED SO YOUNG, SKEEZIX. IT'S PUPPY LOVE. WAIT TILL YOU GET YOUR EYES OPEN.
MINE ARE WIDE OPEN, BOUNCE. I'VE FOUND THE RIGHT GIRL. THAT'S WHAT'S IMPORTANT!
IF YOU'RE GOING INTO THE ARMY, YOU CAN'T GET HOME EVERY TIME YOU'RE ON LEAVE. IT WILL BE A LONESOME LIFE IF YOU CAN'T STEP OUT A LITTLE.
I'M ENGAGED TO NINA AND I'D FEEL MYSELF OBLIGATED AS MUCH ONE WAY AS THE OTHER.
WELL, SUIT YOURSELF, BUT DON'T COME AROUND WEEPING ON MY SHOULDER WHEN IT'S ALL OVER.
YOU'VE PLAYED AROUND WITH A LOT OF GIRLS, BOUNCE, BUT YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT IT MEANS TO FIND THE RIGHT ONE.
King

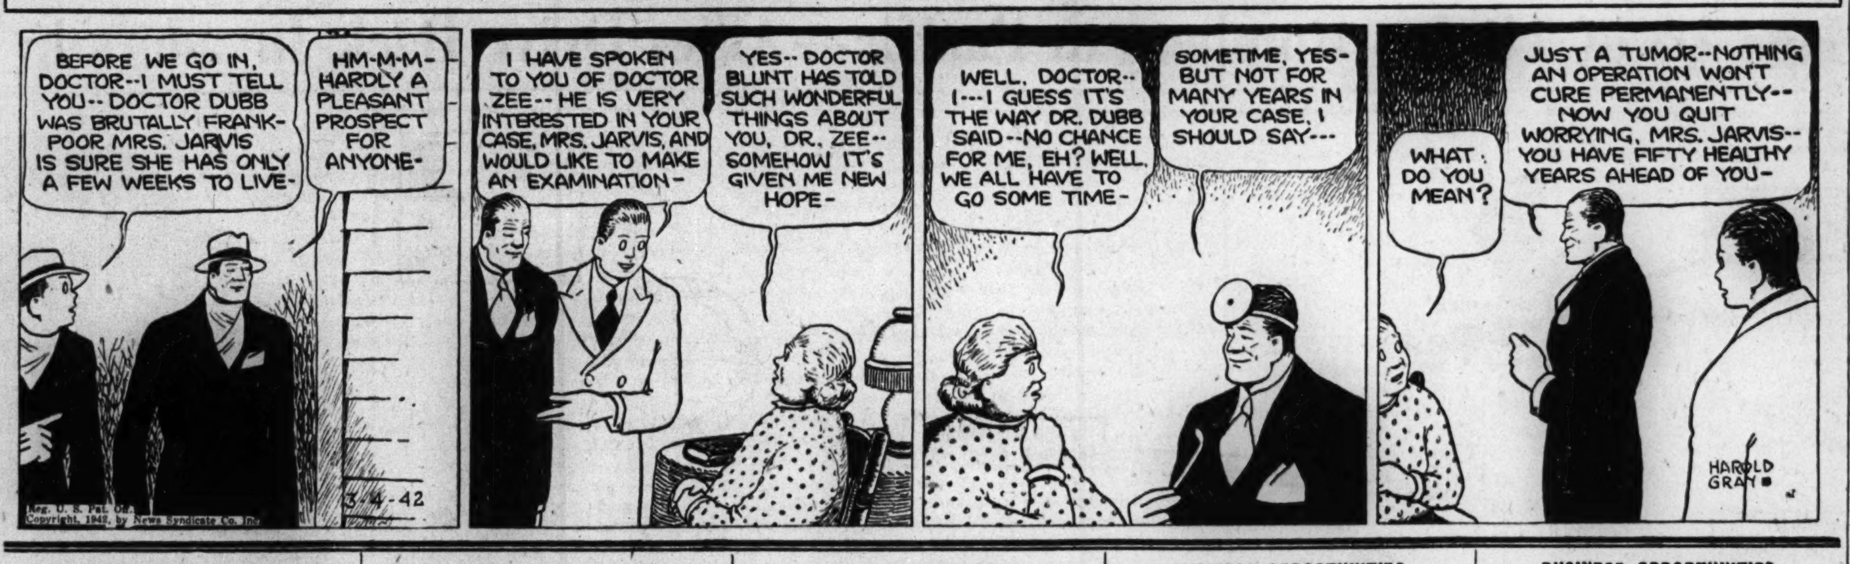
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Good Word



BEFORE WE GO IN, DOCTOR--I MUST TELL YOU-- DOCTOR DUBB WAS BRUTALLY FRANK-POOR MRS. JARVIS IS SURE SHE HAS ONLY A FEW WEEKS TO LIVE-
HM-M-M- HARDLY A PLEASANT PROSPECT FOR ANYONE-
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. Copyright, 1942, by News Syndicate Co. Inc.
3-4-42
I HAVE SPOKEN TO YOU OF DOCTOR ZEE-- HE IS VERY INTERESTED IN YOUR CASE, MRS. JARVIS, AND WOULD LIKE TO MAKE AN EXAMINATION-
YES-- DOCTOR BLUNT HAS TOLD SUCH WONDERFUL THINGS ABOUT YOU, DR. ZEE-- SOMEHOW IT'S GIVEN ME NEW HOPE-
WELL, DOCTOR-- I---I GUESS IT'S THE WAY DR. DUBB SAID--NO CHANCE FOR ME, EH? WELL, WE ALL HAVE TO GO SOME TIME-
SOMETIME, YES- BUT NOT FOR MANY YEARS IN YOUR CASE, I SHOULD SAY--- WHAT DO YOU MEAN?
JUST A TUMOR--NOTHING AN OPERATION WON'T CURE PERMANENTLY-- NOW YOU QUIT WORRYING, MRS. JARVIS-- YOU HAVE FIFTY HEALTHY YEARS AHEAD OF YOU-
